NEW YORK FACES RAIL STRIKE

BRIBES, THREATS WIN VOTES FOR COURT PACKING

Lynch Bill Used as Trading Stock.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—With public hearings concluded and committee consideration begun, President Roosevelt's undertaking to pack the Supreme court with six New Dealers now enters upon a new stage in which manipulation and "horse trading" will be a conspicuous, perhaps a decisive factor.

James A. Farley.

Already as the result of the judicious distribution of patronage, promises of other rewards and threats of visiting political vengeance upon recalcitrant Democratic senators, James A. Farley, postmaster general, chief patronage dispenser and chairman of the Democratic national committee, is proclaiming enough votes in hand to pass the court packing bill.

Lynch Bill Splits Party.

Also looming large in the play of considerations affecting the fate of the measure is the Gavagan anti-lynching bill which has been passed by the house and is pending in the senate. On both of these measures the Democratic party is split wide open.

The anti-lynching bill is a patently political bill. Hitherto the Republicans have been the perennial sponsors, the Democrats the inveterate opponents of federal anti-lynching legislation which the Democrats invariably succeeded in defeating. Since, however, the colored voters definitly deserted the Republican party and supported Mr. Roosevelt in 1936, the Democratic leaders have embraced anti-lynching legislation as a means of rewarding them for past support and gaining their future loyalty.

In order to squeeze every drop of political capital out of the move the Democratic leaders brought about the defeat in the house of the anti-lynching bill offered by the sole colored member and a Democrat, Arthur W. Mitchell of Illinois, and put through the measure sponsored by Joseph A. Gavagan, Democratic representative of Harlem, New York City's populous colored quarter.

See Political Court.

Opposition to the court packing bill in the south has been fanned by the reflection that the court, if the President succeeds in packing it, will be a political court that will uphold the constitutionality of the administrations political measures, such as that providing for federal intervention in lynchings.

The southerners intend to filibuster against passage of the anti-lynching bill, if necessary and the prospect is that both this measure and the court packing bill will be hanging fire in the senate at the same time.

Leaders of the opposition to the court bill are confident that the anti-lynching bill, as a symbol of the whole trend of New Deal theory toward aggrandizement of federal power at the expense of state sovereignty, has made votes for their cause, because of the consideration that a court packed with New Dealers will be the knell of state rights.

Plan Vote Trading.

On the other hand, supporters of the President in his campaign to pack the court, who are preponderantly favorable to the anti-lynching bill, calculate that some profitable vote trading can be done with the opponents of both measures in the south.

Farley's confidence is founded on the spade work the administration has done to manipulate a majority of the senate for the President's bill by the customary means. Some instances have come to light.

Dieterich Is Rewarded.

Take the case of Senator William H. Dieterich [D., Ill.]; for more than a year there had been two vacancies

HOPE TO AVERT TIEUP DEPENDS ON ROOSEVELT

Parley on Demands of 25,000 Fails.

New York, April 25.—[Special.]—Last minute efforts to bring about arbitration in the dispute between the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, freight handlers, express and station employés and major railway systems in this district were made tonight with the intervention of the national mediation board in Washington.

As the last of three conferences broke up it became evident that personal intervention by President Roosevelt may be the only hope of averting the threatened walkout of 25,000 rail clerks, freight, express, and baggage handlers, ticket sellers, and gatemen at noon tomorrow.

Such an eventuality is, of course, fraught with dire results in New York City. It virtually would bring a halt to all trafic in and out of the city's two great midtown terminals, the Grand Central and the Pennsylvania, would work great inconvenience on all passengers, and react seriously into many other lines of business and employment in Manhattan.

Thousands of Commuters.

Aside from the regular heavy rail trafic from outside the metropolitan area, in and out of the two big terminals, pour many thousands of commuters each day. The rail lines they serve tap the thickly populated areas of Weschester county, nearby Connecticut and Long Island. With a shutdown of ticket selling, baggage handling and other services the great majority of these thousands would face the prospect of being marooned in Manhattan or the alternative of staying at home, away from their jobs and business.

This evening's final arbitration effort followed a day of futile conferences of representatives of the brotherhood and railroads with Otto S. Beyers, member of the board, which functions under the railway mediation act, and is designed to avert strikes only as a last resort. Eventual failure to bring about arbitration would throw the conflict directly into the hands of President Roosevelt.

Truce Ends at Noon Today.

Although the 48 hour truce agreed upon by the disputants will expire at noon tomorrow, there was some well founded belief that the strike would not ensue even if arbitration is not agreed upon, since the President is expected to intervene under the law before any walkout becomes effective.

Intervention of the mediation board came in the form of a telegram from George A. Cook, secretary of the board, in Washington. It was addressed to the brotherhood and spokesmen for the railways urging that the controversy be thrown into arbitration.

Today's conferences here revolved around this very idea but the conferees were unable to agree on arbitration because of the conflict between the brotherhood and the International Longshoremen's association, both of which claim jurisdiction over outside freight handlers, with each threatening to strike unless their jurisdictional claim is recognized in any agreement.

Disrupt Service on 8 Roads.

And even this step, which technically would delay a walkout for a month, it was pointed out, may fail if union calls its men out unofficially instead of voting formally to strike. This would result in the curtailment of New York's food supply, block the movement of freight by rail and disrupt train schedules on eight railroads.

In addition to demanding undisputed jurisdiction over all the employés whom it claims to represent, the brotherhood is asking for a 20 cents an hour increase for all employés, a closed shop, two weeks' vacation for freight handlers with pay, a full day's pay for part of any day's work, and elimination of contract labor.

After Mr. Cook's telegram was received tonight, L. B. Snedden, vice president of the brotherhood, which like the longshoremen is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, said he was getting in touch with his organization's negotiating committee for an early conference tomorrow morning to frame a reply to the telegram.

It was hoped apparently that

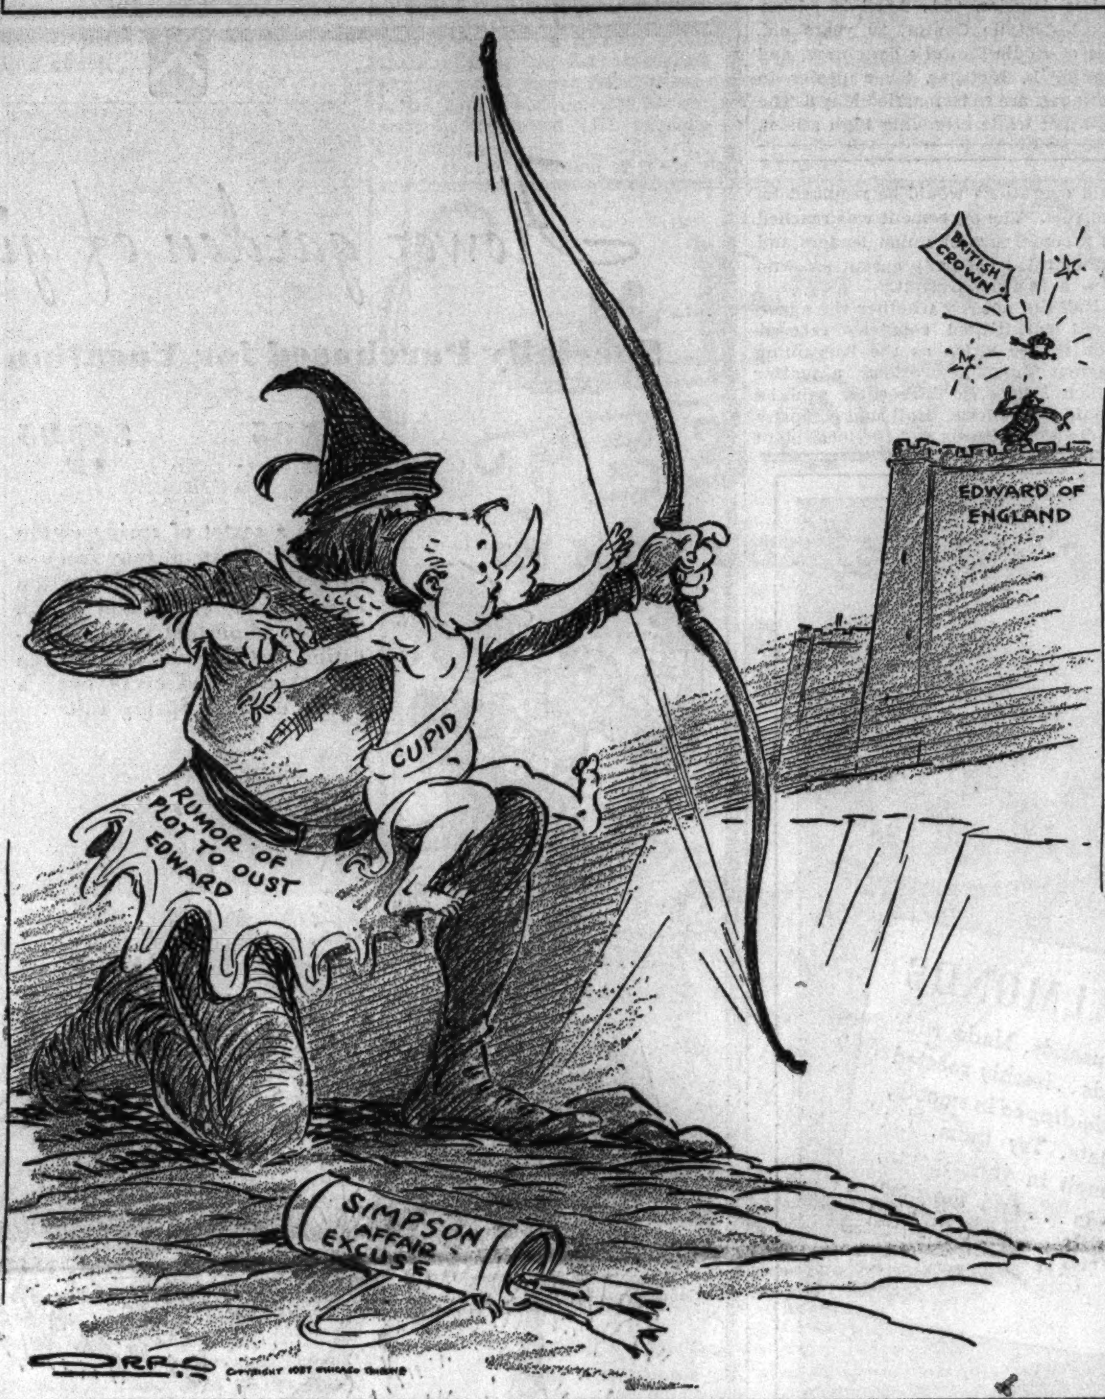
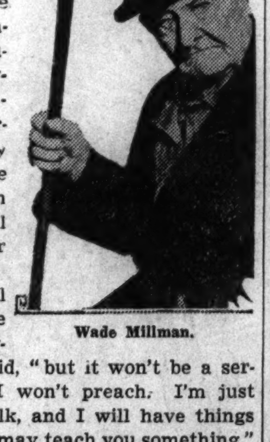
EXPLAINING THE MOST MIRACULOUS SHOT IN HISTORY



Hires His Own 6 Pallbearers at $5 Apiece

Danville, Ind., April 25.—(AP)—Wade Millman, farmer, 88, who says his fun in life has been "making money," announced today he would conduct his funeral services Sunday afternoon, May 16, at the Canaan rural church near here.



Wade Millman.

"I'll preach the sermon myself," he said, "but it won't be a sermon, and I won't preach. I'm just going to talk, and I will have things to say that may teach you something."

Millman's casket, built from an oak tree on his farm, is ready. Charles Monnett, woodworker at Coatesville, put the finishing touches to it last week. The boards are one and three-fourths inches in thickness.

"I don't want any preacher or singing at my funeral," the old farmer explained, "so I decided I would take care of the thing myself and get it over with.

Selects Stone for Grave.

"I have selected six pallbearers and paid each one of them $5. I want them to put me in this coffin, and I don't want an undertaker. Then I want them to place me in a farm wagon and haul me down there where I have a stone erected at my grave.

"I imported that stone from Switzerland and it's a dandy."

Just before he posed for a picture at his tombstone he lent a neighbor $1,600 on a mortgage.

Wife Balks at Casket.

Mrs. Millman, who is 78, has refused to let her husband keep the casket in their farm home. So it's being stored in Monnett's shop. The couple was married eleven years ago.

"I couldn't cook, and I couldn't make the beds," was the way Millman, up to that time a bachelor, explained it. "Mrs. Ida Leathers owed me $600 and every one said she was a fine woman and a good cook. I talked it over with her and we were married."

RENTS AN OAK PARK GARAGE; UP POP TWO HUNGRY ALLIGATORS

The Oak Park police have information for the man who rented Mrs. Ethel Aldrich's garage yesterday morning. But they don't know his name. And when last seen he was traveling rapidly.

Mrs. Aldrich lives at 808 North Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park. A month ago she bought a house at 801 North Humphrey avenue in the village. William Freiderichs, son of the woman who sold the house, asked if he might live for a few days in his automobile trailer beside the garage at the rear. The new owner consented.

Mr. Freiderichs said he had two alligators and a dog living with him, but Mrs. Aldrich said that would be all right, too.

Yesterday, she rented the garage to a stranger. She noticed that the car and trailer were gone. But when the renter opened the door to put his car inside, he found himself looking into the mouths of two hungry alligators. He left, hurridly. Now the police are trying to find a home for the alligators so Mrs. Aldrich's garage renter will return.

First New Deal Distilled Rum to Reach N. Y. Today

New York, April 25.—[Special.]—The liner Emilia will arrive tomorrow with the initial shipment of rum distilled by the United States government at St. Croix, Virgin Islands. The rum will be sold under the trade name of "Government House." It was distilled by the Virgin Islands company, of which Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, is chairman of the board. The government started the distillation of rum in the spring of 1934 as a $2,500,000 work relief project on a 5,000 acre government owned plot in St. Croix. At present about 500,000 gallons are on hand, not all properly aged.

Quints, All Boys, Are Born to Chinese Peasant Woman

PEIPING, April 25.—(AP)—Chinese newspapers here reported today that a peasant woman at Luanhsien has given birth to quintuplets, all normal boys and all living, after a normal pregnancy. Because the parents are extremely poor the village elder has promised to help care for the babies. Luanhsien is 100 miles northeast of Tientsin.

Save the Cat, but It's Hard on the House

Nip is a Persian cat that until yesterday had lived an uneventful, albeit a pleasant, life with the Martin E. Kleins at 842 North Cuyler avenue, Oak Park.

They missed her about noon. Soon afterward faint meows began to materialize from the dining room wall. Investigating, they found that Nip had climbed into a hole in the basement ceiling, evidently to look for a nice fat mouse.

Calls Fire Department.

Mrs. Klein called the fire department, and in no time at all Lieut. John Manau and his cat-in-the-wall rescue squad arrived. The firemen called, "Kitty, kitty!" and shouted explicit directions up the hole in the ceiling about getting back down.

Nip did her best to explain her predicament, but the firemen didn't understand the cat language very well, and anyway she was too excited to speak plainly.

The firemen finally said the only thing they knew to do was cut a hole right through the wall and pull Nip out. They didn't think it would add anything to the appearance of the home, but Nip had to be saved somehow.

Take Care for Nip's Tail.

So they got out their axes and chopped out a piece of the wall, being careful not to chop off Nip's tail at the same time. There was Nip, sandwiched between the inner and outer walls, and looking none too pleased about it, being upside down.

The firemen lifted her out and gave her to Mrs. Klein.

Mrs. Klein is now in the market for a carpenter, a plasterer, and a painter.

Stepin Fetchit Injured When Automobile Crashes

New York, April 24.—(AP)—Stepin Fetchit, colored film comedian, was in Harlem hospital today, as the result of an automobile accident in which he received a possible skull fracture. Doctors said his condition was fair. Stepin Fetchit, in private life Lincoln Perry, 40, lost control of his automobile when a tire blew out. It crashed into an elevated railway pillar on Eighth avenue in Harlem.

Ten Clocks That Strike as One–at Three

Ten clocks ticked off the minutes in a north side apartment yesterday, softly and in perfect unison.

But one ticked in Orchestra hall, where Vincenzo Celli, who rose from amateur performer at Hull house to ballet master of Milan's La Scala opera, was to dance with his classical Italian ballet company at 3:30 p. m.

At 3:40 the audience was becoming restless. At 4 it was clamoring for the program to begin. At 4:10 Manager Ralph G. McCallister stepped before the curtain to say that the pianist, Herbert Horn, couldn't be found. Money would be refunded at the box office, he said.

Or, said Celli, the performance would go on without music if the audience wished, although ballets without accompaniment, he conceded, might be something of an innovation after all these centuries.

The Audience Cheers.

Game as Celli and his dancers, and admiring his courage in the bargain, the audience cheered him and told him to bring out his dancers.

Without a note of music Celli presented his first three ballets. In the five minute intermission that followed he knew his missing pianist must show up. But he didn't.

Celli came back to dance again with Eloise Moore and Don Masterson.

Gratefully he recalled that the next intermission was 15 minutes. This couldn't go on forever.

A Sight for Weary Eyes.

But Celli, Gretchen Havemann, and Muriel Grey took the stage at the end of the second intermission. In his blue harlequin costume Celli was perched upon a plumed ladder when he looked into the wings and saw——

His missing pianist, Mr. Horn.

"Just a minute, folks. He's here," said Celli. "We're going to have music."

The pianist sat down and played, while the audience applauded.

When the program was ended the pianist told Celli his story.

The Clocks Are Set.

He's a newcomer to Chicago from Sacramento, Cal., and so unaccustomed to Chicago's daylight saving time, which went into effect again yesterday. He went to the home of friends on the north side for lunch, and warned them that he mustn't be a minute late for his program.

They assured him he wouldn't, for they had just reset every one of their ten clocks. They had reset their clocks for daylight saving time, all right——

Set them back instead of forward, which made them two hours slow.

FIRES AS YOUTH REFUSES TO END 5 YEAR AFFAIR

Wife Sees Killing; 3 Children in House.

Mild mannered Samuel Willeford, who, police say, had for five years permitted a friendship to flourish between his wife and a younger man, called a showdown yesterday in his home at 2724 West 38th street. In the midst of the discussion Willeford drew a revolver and killed his rival, Charles Truchan, before the eyes of Mrs. Willeford.

Willeford had summoned them both to his home yesterday, and begged them to give up their romance. Mrs. Willeford, an attractive brunette of 27, refused. So did Truchan, 21 years old, of 3219 West 37th street.

While the three Willeford children molded lead soldiers in the kitchen of their home their father fired four bullets into his young rival's body, inflicting wounds from which he died a few minutes later in the Bridewell hospital.

Admits Romance Readily.

All of the Willefords were taken to the Brighton Park police station where Mrs. Willeford readily admitted the romance to Irwin B. Clorfene, assistant state's attorney, and Capt. Frank Demski. She and her husband then told the details of the killing, which Willeford, who is 32 years old, later reënacted in their home.

The wife, Mrs. Floris Willeford, said that young Truchan began coming to their home five years ago, when he was in high school. He would mind the children while the Willefords went to movies.

Later, she said, the boy began taking her out with her husband's permission. When young Truchan grew up and got a job working days in a steel plant where her husband was then working nights the visits continued. One night two years ago, she said, she asked her husband to take her to the wedding of some friends.

"Let Charlie take you," she said he replied.

Serious Affair Begins.

That, she said, was the beginning of a serious romance which she confessed to her husband a year later.

Her young admirer continued to call, but in recent months he had kept out of her husband's way, she said.

At Easter time she left her husband and the children: Samuel Jr., 11; Jack, 9, and Floris, 8. She went to live at 2318 West Jackson boulevard. Her husband did not know where she was, but last week he wrote her a letter, general delivery, asking her to come over yesterday to talk things over.

She telephoned him yesterday, and he told her to bring Truchan along.

They Talk Quietly.

Yesterday afternoon she went to her husband's home alone. They talked quietly for an hour. Then Truchan came.

They discussed the divorce suit Mrs. Willeford had filed April 17. Willeford implored them both to break off their romance. He spoke of the children.

Mrs. Willeford, sitting beside him on the davenport, shook her head. Young Truchan, seated in an armchair, replied:

"No. We love each other. We can't do that."

Victim Turns to Flee.

In an instant Willeford reached for a .32 caliber revolver he kept beneath a cushion. Mrs. Willeford sprang up and seized his arm. Her youthful admirer turned to flee from the room. But he fell with four bullets in his back as he gasped:

"Sam! Don't!"

Little Jack Willeford came running in as Truchan fell. Then Jack's sister, Floris, entered.

Willeford said calmly to his wife: "Call the police."

She fled with the children. Neighbors called the police.

Friend of Youth's Family.

As they lifted Truchan into an ambulance, Mrs. Willeford said:

"Take him to a good hospital. Give him the best of care."

While Willeford was being questioned, his victim's step-father, Frank

Potempa, came into the station. He had been attending a war veterans' meeting and was still wearing his infantryman's uniform.

"Willeford was a good friend of my family," he said, "but I'd like to get my hands on him now."

KILLS THREE AND SELF

Portsmouth, O., April 25.—(AP)—John Owens, 22 years old and a bartender, shot and killed his wife and two members of her family today, then ended his own life with poison, Sherif Earl Brandel said.

"Papa shot mamma and grandma," Janet May, 3 year old daughter of the Owenses, told police.

Benjamin B. White, 54, father of Mrs. Owens, suffered critical wounds in the shotgun fusillade which killed his daughter, Sarah White Owens, 23; his wife, Mrs. Catherine White, 54, and a son of the Whites, Chester White, 20. Harry Hughes, 17 a neighbor, received minor injuries.

Found in Girl's Room.

Owens' body was found several hours after the shooting in the room of a girl who asked a taxicab driver to notify officers of Owens' whereabouts, and then disappeared.

Janet Marie, the 3 year old daughter of the Owenses, was not harmed. The child was crying at the White home when police arrived there. The bodies of her mother and grandmother were in the kitchen and that of her uncle was in a bedroom.

Beside Owens' body police found a note addressed to Miss Thelma Kirker, 24, a waitress, in whose room he died.

The note said:

"Was here at 5 till 10 this morning. Be sure mother gets the baby. Tell them all good luck. I love you. P. S.—If you think it don't take nerve, just try it."

No Signs of Trouble.

Sherif Brandel and Coroner J. D. Rose said neighbors and relatives told them they had seen no previous indication of a domestic rift in the Owens family.

The officer said investigation disclosed that Owens had been drinking Saturday night.

About 9:30 a. m. he returned home and shot his wife and her mother in the head while they were at breakfast. The father-in-law, who had been working in the yard, rushed into the house, then ran for help. Owens followed him through a neighboring yard and shot him in the back.

CIRCUS CROWD THRILLED AS TWO TIGERS BATTLE

A capacity crowd at the Coles Brothers circus in the Chicago Stadium was treated to an unscheduled variation in the climactic animal act yesterday afternoon.

Clyde Beatty, the animal trainer, concluded his act, in which he works 28 lions and 12 tigers in the same cage, and began to herd the tigers out through a chute. Rajah and Arki, jungle born tigers between whom bad blood exists, chose this moment to settle their feud.

While the spectators watched spellbound, Beatty held off the restless lions and attendants subdued the fighting tigers with poles, streams of water, and blank pistol shots. Rajah, one of the largest tigers in captivity, came off second best. Arki, almost unscathed, strutted while veterinarians patched his sullen foe.

RAILROAD TIEUP PERILS N. Y. AS PARLEY FAILS

Hope to Avert Strike Now Depends on Roosevelt.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's association, also will agree to arbitrate the dispute with the brotherhood and that the railways would accept any agreement that may be reached on this aspect of the situation.

Earlier today J. B. Walber, vice president of the New York Central and chief spokesman for the railroads, expressed himself as very pessimistic about the prospects of arbitration. He blamed the severity of the conflict between the brotherhood and the I. L. A., as the reason.

Ford Plant Reopens Today.

Richmond, Cal., April 25.—(AP)—Union and company officials today announced an agreement to reopen tomorrow the Ford Motor assembly plant, tied up by a short sitdown strike Friday.

Ed Hall, vice president of the United Automobile Workers, who flew here from Detroit, said the company agreed not to discriminate against any man for union affiliation or union activity and that it would recognize seniority rights.

Clarence Bullwinkle, plant superintendent, confirmed the agreement and said operations would be resumed tomorrow. The agreement was reached in a conference of union leaders and unidentified company executives who flew here from Detroit.

Hall did not say whether the agreement constituted company recognition of the union as the bargaining agency for plant workers, a matter which Henry Ford recently said he would not concede. Hall said company and shop stewards and the local plant management would negotiate on grievances between employer and employé. He also announced settlement of a dispute which had caused union leaders to threaten a strike at the Oakland Fisher Body plant, a unit of General Motors.

The union had planned a strike in protest against the discharge of Fred Whobrey from the Fisher plant for asserted union activities. Hall said Whobrey would be reinstated.

Federation Takes Charge.

Stockton, Cal., April 25.—(AP)—The state federation of labor took charge today of Stockton's still ominous cannery strike situation and announced organization of a new union to replace both the striking Agricultural Workers' union and the more conservative group organized under the banner of the Modesto Cannery Workers' union.

Peace Overtures Made.

Lewiston, Me., April 25.—(AP)—Peace overtures by federal mediators held out the prospect today of further negotiations toward settlement of the Lewiston-Auburn general shoe strike.

The industrial warfare, involving 6,400 workers and nineteen factories, went into its thirty-first day with a background of more than 100 arrests.

Natalie Cantor and Joseph Louis Metzger, at county clerk's office in Los Angeles to obtain marriage license.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 25.—[Special.]—Natalie Cantor, 20 years old, one of Eddie Cantor's daughters, and Joseph L. Metzger, 22, a dealer in antiques, are to be married May 6. The two met while attending high school.

STENCH BOMB IS TOSSED IN HOME; STRIKE BLAMED

Strike labor violence flared up late last night after a period of comparative quiet. Hoodlums tossed two stench bombs into the second floor home of Russell West, 3345 North Keating avenue, a foreman for the W. F. Hall Printing company, where a strike is in progress. The fumes drove his family out. Twenty minutes later two windows were smashed in the home of Arthur Embeam, 1521 Montana street, a foreman for the Stewart Die Casting company, also hit by a strike. It was the second window breaking in his home.

Meanwhile, police attempting to put a stop to the recent series of bombings, supposedly growing out of trouble in the painters' union, increased the bomb squad to forty experienced men. The squad is in command of Sergt. Andrew Aitken.

Police guarded buildings at 326 South Wells street, 844 West Adams street, and at the northeast corner of Randolph and Dearborn streets, where Landis Award contractors are completing painting jobs.

Police Hunt North Side 'L' Newsdealer; Lost 16 Days

Police were searching yesterday for Vito De Leonardis, 44 years old, news dealer for 25 years at the Morse avenue station of the north side "L" lines, who has been missing since April 9. De Leonardis left his home at 6644 Newgard avenue to buy a package of cigarets and never returned. His relatives said he has been ill recently. De Leonardis has a wife, Teresa, and three children, Angelina, Martin, and Ruth.

DATE OF WEDDING LEFT IN WALLY'S HANDS TO DECIDE

Edward Ready to Travel Quickly and Light.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. WOLFGANG, Austria, April 25.—It's up to Mrs. Wallis Simpson, American fiancée of the duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of England, to decide when and where their wedding will take place, it was learned today.

Edward has kept everything in such order that he could, if he chose, start at a moment's notice when the date and place of the ceremony are decided. He has very little luggage with him in his self-chosen exile in rainy St. Wolfgang. He has made no purchases that would increase the amount of his luggage.

Will Avoid Coronation Date.

In the duke's villa his spokesman emphatically denied a rumor Edward is hastening plans for the marriage because of differences with his family. The spokesman was equally categorical in denying a report that the British royal family had asked the duke to postpone the wedding until June.

Members of his suite are of the opinion that the ceremony will not be performed on May 12, the day on which Edward's brother and successor to the throne, George VI., will be crowned.

[There have been rumors that Edward was angry and might set the wedding date to coincide with the coronation.]

Sir Walford Selby, British minister to Austria who motored here yesterday on his way back to Vienna from London, left St. Wolfgang at noon today.

Loneliness Evident.

Although the duke looks as well as even the authors of books on "How to Keep Fit at Forty" would want their men to look, his exile and the lonely life he leads here are telling on him. He stays up almost until dawn talking to members of his suite and must resort to strenuous physical exercise to become weary enough to sleep.

He played only two rounds of golf today. Edward and his equerry motored to Ischl and played despite the sogginess of the ground and occasional showers.

SHOUT TO GET HORSES USED TO CORONATION DIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 25.—One hundred thousand persons today cheered a second Sunday morning rehearsal of the coronation procession. A noisy show was ordered by Scotland Yard officials in order to accustom the horses to the din which will prevail during the coronation parade May 12.

The make-believe procession began at 6 a. m. Obeying instructions broadcast from police cars, the crowd cheered, shouted, whistled, and waved handkerchiefs and flags as the steeds pranced by. The noise increased as the ancient gilded state coach in which King George VI. will ride to Westminster abbey trundled past. It was drawn by eight Windsor gray horses.

Bands, which were silent until after 7 a. m. at last Sunday's rehearsal, blared lustily. Two police airplanes flew overhead, the roar of their motors adding to the pandemonium.

RESERVE OFFICER KILLED.

St. Paul, Minn., April 25.—(AP)—Second Lieutenant William Murphy, 22 years old, of Fargo, N. D., reservist at Fort Snellinig, was killed and three other persons were injured today when his automobile and a street car collided.

Time Marches Back

Herbert Horn, pianist for ballet which appeared at Orchestra hall yesterday, was staying with friends who turned their clocks (10 of them) back instead of up yesterday when daylight saving time went into effect.

When Horn failed to arrive the show was delayed, but Vincenzo Celli (above), who danced in harlequin costume, finally decided his cast needed no music. So for almost an hour the dancers tripped about the stage. Horn arrived to play for the last half of the program.

Pay 50 Cents Each to View Wallis Simpson's Old Home

Baltimore, Md., April 25.—(AP)—More than 100 persons paid 50 cents each today to inspect a kitchen stove once used to cook meals for Mrs. Wallis Simpson and to view other articles in an old house at 212 East Biddle street where the fiancée of former King Edward of England lived in her youth. Among articles directly connected with the woman for whom the king gave up his throne remaining in the house are a dining room stove and a picture of Mrs. Simpson's mother which hangs in the third floor front room. This room is said to have been Mrs. Simpson's bedroom. Other decorations of the house were collected, the custodians said, "following much research."

CENSOR CUTS OUT NEWS OF EDWARD IN NEW ZEALAND

"Walked Out on His Job," Citizens Feel.

BY QUENTIN POPE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, April 25.—The duke of Windsor may go down in history as the first king of Great Britain to leave his throne for an American, but his ex-subjects in this part of the world are not going to be reminded of it.

The People's Complaint.

Slowly the official view that the whole business was "very regrettable" has permeated Australia and New Zealand, and in both countries there is now careful censorship of anything that might recall those dramatic days when the British empire waited for Edward VIII. to make up his mind.

The typical objection of those plain citizens who condemn the course taken by Edward is not that he wanted to marry a woman who had been divorced, or one without title, or one whom they might not have welcomed as queen. It is simply that he "walked out on his job."

There is a wealth of revelation in this simple phrase which shows just how far the king of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales, and of the British dominions beyond the seas has been deflated.

For this reason the censorship which has been imposed in the southern Pacific is far from being merely an official veto. That was revealed plainly recently when a film showing Edward skiing in Austria, which had somehow got by the censor, was hurriedly withdrawn from Australian theaters.

Few Know New Monarch.

Edward was immensely popular, he was known everywhere; when he visited these parts years ago.

Against this, George VI. is little known as a personality, though his wife has won great affection, and it is going to take a lot of quiet work to reëstablish the figure of the king in the eyes of his dominion people.

Toward this goal the effort is already being made and it is for this reason that Edward is banished from thoughts here. There is no discussion of him, no reference to his reign. The daily reports from Austria have been kept down to a few lines. The question of his future is not held worth examination. What pictures of him there used to be about have vanished.

Water Heater Bursts; Woman Killed by Fumes

Miss Catherine McGrath, 58 years old, who lived alone in her apartment at 3341 South Ashland avenue, was killed by gas fumes yesterday. The coil of a water heater burst as she was tending it, scalding her. As she staggered to a couch, water from the broken pipe extinguished the gas flame, filling the place with fumes. A fire department rescue squad tried vainly to revive her.

BRIBES, THREATS WIN VOTES FOR COURT PACKING

Anti-Lynch Bill Is Used as Trading Stock

in the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals both of which Illinois was entitled to fill. Senator Dieterich had been working assiduously for a year or more to get the administration to promote District Judge J. Earle Major to the Circuit court and appoint his good friend J. Leroy Adair to succeed Judge Major in the district court. But he couldn't get anywhere at all and the senator virtually dropped the fight.

Then came the President's move to pack the Supreme court. Senator Dieterich was surprised—pleasantly so. He found himself undecided on the issue raised—profitably so, as it turned out. He recorded himself as noncommittal. He would not make up his mind till he had heard all the arguments pro and con. At the same time he revived his campaign for the appointment of his friends to the federal court.

Dieterich then found himself even more pleasantly surprised. Attorney General Homer Cummings evinced a deep interest in the qualifications of Senator Dieterich's friends, Major and Adair, for preferment. Presently Mr. Roosevelt sent the nominations of Major and Adair to the senate for the appointments Senator Dieterich desired.

Senator Is Convinced.

Senator Dieterich then found himself being convinced by the arguments for the President's court packing bill. He became the chief cross-examiner of opponents of the bills appearing before the judiciary committee. The senate then confirmed the Dieterich appointments and the senator was recorded as a safe vote for the bill.

Senator Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.] was another who was assailed by serious qualms when the President proposed to pack the Supreme court. The administration set out to court him. There was a new judgeship which had been created by the last congress. It never had been filled. The President appointed a man recommended by Senator Truman. Thereafter, though, of course, it was only a coincidence, Senator Truman was found strongly supporting the court packing bill.

Plums Win Votes.

Then there were Senators Elmer Thomas and Josh Lee, Oklahoma Democrats, who were noncommittal on the bill for a time. But the administration gave them a couple of plums. Senator Lee got a judiciary appointment for a friend, the youngest man ever appointed to the federal bench. And as a concession to both senators, Mr. Roosevelt elevated District Judge Williams, 68 years old, to the Circuit court on the promise he gave to retire at 70. Thereafter both senators were recorded for the court packing bill.

ABLE TO WHISPER 'NO FOOD' AFTER FAST OF 47 DAYS

Stooping Oak, Tenn., April 25.—(AP)—Too weak to speak above a whisper, Jackson Whitlow declared today, "No undertaker is going to get me—the Lord is saving me for a purpose."

Jackson Whitlow.

This was the forty-seventh day Whitlow says he has gone without food since announcing a call from the Lord to fast, and he weighs only 100 pounds. He asserted he would not eat until the Lord speaks again. Dr. R. E. Standifer, Dunlap, Tenn., physician who is a distant cousin of the 45 year old Cumberland mountaineer, said he had only a few days to live.

Mrs. Anne Blaylock of Dunlap, who taught Whitlow at school thirty years ago, asked:

"Jackson, if I fixed you something good, wouldn't you eat it?"

"No'm," was the laconic answer.

SAFEGUARD YOUR SAVINGS, YOUR FAMILY'S FUTURE WITH AMERICAN AUTO INSURANCE

ACCIDENTS that happen in a second can be costly tragedies . . . mean years of worry and privation for you and your family. A lifetime's savings can be swept away in settlements of liability and damage claims, medical and hospital bills, lawyers' fees. And all so needlessly! Insuring with American Auto, oldest and largest insurers of automobiles exclusively, will give you protection against accident's financial disaster at moderate cost.

As much as 25% lower premiums

The careful driver—the motorist whose car is used largely for private and family purposes—should not have to share the cost of insuring reckless and irresponsible drivers. For more than twenty-five years American Auto has made a practice of favoring those drivers who may be considered preferred risks. It therefore has fewer claims to pay, and is able to operate with greater economy. These savings are passed on to policyholders in the form of lower premium rates.

Before you buy or renew any automobile insurance, call your nearest American Auto Agent or Broker for full information about the important advantages he has to offer you.

SLAIN BOOKIE'S SWEETHEART IS HELD FOR INQUIRY

Police Blame Affair of Heart for Assassination.

Police yesterday were investigating the love affairs of Oscar Klinger, gambler and former pugilist, for a possible solution of his murder in his poolroom at 2459 Armitage avenue on Friday night.

Miss Marcia Thompson, 26 years old, 1850 Humboldt boulevard, an attractive waitress, was arrested in her home as she was packing in preparation for an out of town trip. She admitted to the police that she had been Klinger's sweetheart. She said she had quit her job as waitress in the Oslo café on North avenue near California avenue in order to go to the aid of her ailing mother in Warsaw, Ind.

Three Friends Held.

She and three friends who visited her frequently while her home was under surveillance were taken to the police showup and then held at the Racine avenue station for further questioning. The others are James Ryan, 34 years old, 1946 Humboldt boulevard; Pearl Pauley, 937 Leland avenue, a dice girl in a café, and Miss Eleanor Pattick, 18 years old, 1844 North Francisco avenue, an unemployed waitress. At first Miss Pauley had said she was Ryan's wife.

Search was also begun for a blonde night club entertainer known only as "Honey Lee," who was Miss Thompson's predecessor in Klinger's extramarital affections, according to the police. Miss Thompson said that "Honey Lee" had become angry because Klinger's attentions to her ceased a year ago.

Capt. Charles Pawlowski of the Shakespeare avenue station, near the close of yesterday's investigation, voiced the emphatic belief that Klinger's murder, although apparently the work of hired assassins, was motivated by a woman's love, jealousy, or revenge.

Handy with His Fists.

"Klinger was handy with his fists," Capt. Pawlowski said, "and we have learned that he fought others over their attentions to Miss Thompson. We were also told that Klinger recently had taken steps to break off the affair with the girl."

Miss Thompson denied knowledge of Klinger's waning ardor or that it would arouse her jealousy. She also denied that she had quarreled with Klinger's wife, Barbara, or that they had threatened each other.

Nevertheless, Capt. Pawlowski ordered that Mrs. Klinger be brought to the station this morning to confront her rival for her husband's attentions.

Find Diplomat's Daughter Fatally Shot Near Vienna

VIENNA, April 25.—(AP)—Ingrid Wiengreen, tall, brunette daugher of Gustave Wiengreen, Paraguayan minister to Austria, died early today after being found with a bullet wound in the head near Neunkirchen, 38 miles southwest of here. Police investigated theories that the shooting was the result of a political intrigue or of her interest in the supernatural. She was 29 years old. A gendarme discovered her.

POTOMAC RIVER FLOOD FORCES 50 FAMILIES TO FLEE

Leonardtown, Md., April 25.—(AP)—Rising waters of the Potomac river, lashed by winds of gale force, caused fifty families to evacuate their homes on lower St. George's Island in a driving rain tonight and flee to higher ground. The island is situated near the mouth of the Potomac, which empties into Chesapeake bay. An alarm went out to Residents of the lower section to gather their belongings and go to the Methodist church at the upper end of the three mile long island.

Cumberland, Md., Periled.

Cumberland, Md., April 25.—(AP)—The Potomac river and Wills creek, fed by a twenty-four hour rain, threatened to flood this city tonight. The creek is rising a foot an hour. A radio station warned all property owners of the immediate danger. National Guardsmen are mobilizing in the event rescue work is needed.

Baby of Seven Weeks Suffocates in Her Crib

Arlene Beyer, 7 weeks old, 417 North 7th avenue, Maywood, was suffocated in her crib yesterday. She was found, with the blankets accidentally wrapped around her head, by her mother, Mrs. Sophie Beyer, 19 years old. Dr. C. M. Weinberg, 518 South 5th avenue, Maywood, was summoned, but could not revive the infant.

SOUTH DAKOTA DIGGING OUT OF RECORD SNOW

Sioux Falls, S. D., April 25.—(AP)—Tractor snowplows and wire company linemen today began efforts to restore disrupted highway and wire communication over eastern South Dakota in the wake of the worst spring snowstorm in years.

Driven by a fifty mile an hour wind, the storm roared over the eastern half of the state early Saturday to spread into Minnesota and Iowa. Snowfall ceased late today, but a high wind continued to pile drifts in country areas.

Wrecked and tangled communication systems hampered efforts to learn the exact extent of the storm. Meager reports indicated only the eastern half of the state was affected.

Pierre reported a dust storm in that area. Some reports described the dust clouds as rivaling those of 1933 and 1934.

GETS OUT AFTER CARS BUMP; THIRD AUTO KILLS HIM

Three Policemen Hurt in Squad Car Crash.

A trivial automobile accident led to the death last night of Alfred Tettenborn, 31 years old, 1823 North Austin avenue, an electric company employé. His car was bumped by that of William Struth, 37, of 3649 Fullerton avenue, at La Grange [Mannheim] road and Grand avenue, in Franklin Park. Both men parked their machines, Tettenborn in Grand avenue and Struth in La Grange road.

Tettenborn alighted and crossed the highways on foot to talk over adjustments with Struth. The matter was settled and Tettenborn started back for his car. As he did so he was struck and killed by a northbound automobile driven by Homer C. Carme, 20 years old, 1105 College avenue, Wheaton, a student at Wheaton college. Carme was held by Morton Grove county highway police.

Another Fatality Victim.

Peter Kekel, 42 years old, 5023 South Seeley avenue, was killed last night at Western avenue and 53d street by a car driven by Roman Kedzuf, 22, of 4807 South Hoyne avenue. Kedzuf drove the victim to the Southtown hospital in the vain hope that he might still be living and then surrendered to New City police, who ordered him to attend the inquest.

Mrs. Martha Sorn, 40 years old, 3042 Osceola avenue, was killed late last night by a hit-and-run car in front of 7441 Belmont avenue. The machine, which was dark brown and might have been a cab, according to witnesses, sped east in Belmont after striking her. She was the wife of Felix Sorn and the mother of three children.

Three Policemen Hurt.

Three Warren avenue policemen were slightly hurt and three citizens were shaken in a collision of a squad car and another automobile at Harrison street and Francisco avenue last night. The policemen were Peter Garramone, driver, cut on the lip, and Joseph Sildo and John Hartigan who suffered bruises. Those in the other car were Charles Simon, 26 years old, 5480 Cornell avenue, an accountant; Mrs. Laura Simon, 56, his mother, and Miss Mildred Cohen, 23, of 5409 Greenwood avenue. Simon was charged with reckless driving.

Two persons were injured last night when their automobile hurtled over a curb and into a tree at Lake Shore drive and Division street. They were Miss Katie Wells, 59 years old, 1832 Dodge street, Evanston, and Matthew Campbell, 55, 1225 Michigan avenue, Evanston. They were household employés of Charles H. Dennis, retired editor, of the Michigan avenue address in Evanston. At Henrotin hospital it was found Miss Wells had incurred a skull fracture and Campbell spinal and rib injuries.

Carl Johnson, 34 years old, 425 Charles street, Sycamore, Ill., was held in the Kane county jail at Geneva last night as the hit and run motorist who ran down two young Chicago cyclists on highway 64 west of St. Charles Saturday night. One of the cyclists was killed, the other injured. Johnson said he did not believe he had struck the youths.

The youth fatally injured was John Eberhardt, 18 years old, 1911 Keystone avenue. His companion, who is in the Sycamore hospital, was Andrew Hansen, 17 years old, 4037 Armitage avenue.

Accuse Produce Broker.

Herbert Collyer, 43 years old, 229 9th street, Wilmette, a produce broker, was charged with speeding and driving while intoxicated by the Evanston police yesterday after a trafic crash in the suburb. He was released in $1,025 bonds for a hearing on Wednesday.

Collyer's car crashed into another driven by Arthur J. Davis, 56 years old, 114 Kedzie street, Evanston, at Austin street and Ridge avenue in the suburb.

By 4 p. m. yesterday 342 persons had been killed in Cook county motor vehicle accidents since Jan. 1, the coroner's office reported. Chicago was charged with 270 of the deaths and 6,191 injuries during the same period.

13 B'NAI B'RITH CHAPTERS URGE SUPERHIGHWAYS

Construction of an elevated highway to cut down the automobile massacre in Chicago and outlying districts was urged yesterday at a meeting of 150 delegates of thirteen chapters of Aleph Zadak Aleph, junior organization of B'nai B'rith, at the Steuben club. "Every civic agency should aid in the move for an elevated highway," said Sidney Lavine, Illinois director of the junior group. "Our program of safety education will reach its fulfillment only when we make possible the use of elevated routes for through trafic."

7 Children Lose Mothers When Car Crash Kills Four

Detroit, Mich., April 25.—(AP)—Four persons were killed and seven children were left motherless here today when two automobiles collided. The dead were: Sydney Anthony, 37, and his wife. They have four children. Leonard R. Graessle, 39, and Mrs. Harriet Sisco, 32, divorcee and mother of three.

Painter Falls to Death in Marshall Field Building

Albert Kahn, 40 years old, 1535 South Ridgeway avenue, was injured fatally yesterday when he fell 15 feet to the pavement of the truck passage in the Marshall Field & Co. building. Ran 2 Record-Smashing 440 Yd. Dashes in One Day!

STARTING FAST. Ray Ellinwood, of the University of Chicago, clipped .3 second off the indoor 440-yard dash record in his first collegiate track meet—ran the distance in 49 seconds flat. And, 20 minutes later, duplicated the feat as anchor man on the relay team.

TURNS ON THE POWER. He's off to a lightning-quick start—one of the major factors in his record-smashing victories. Ray's healthy nerves and instantly-tapped energy enable him to jump into the lead at the crack of the gun.

ARM AND LEG DRIVE. Ray unleashes almost explosive power in the first few strides. And he keeps up this tremendous output of energy right on to the finish.

ENERGY TO SPARE. Imagine breaking the world's record twice in the same day! Especially over the gruelling 440-yard distance. That takes stamina and endurance of a high order.

NO LET-DOWN on this job. Operating a gigantic steam-hammer can take it out of a man. Charlie Kimball (left) knows that. "Camels are my smoking pal," he says. "They give me a welcome 'lift' in energy when I need it most. Camels set me up and set me right!"

EVERY HOUR'S A BUSY ONE for attractive Claire Huntington (right), public stenographer. "Yes, it's a strain," she says, "but it never gets too much for me. I'll tell you what I do. No matter how tired I get, smoking a Camel brings back my energy—puts new pep in me."

"Please add me to the athletes who get a 'lift' with a Camel"—Ray Ellinwood

"I NEVER fully realized how much 'Get a "lift" with a Camel' meant to me until I ran two record-breaking quarters in one afternoon," Ray continues. "Afterward a Camel helped me pull myself together. That night I ate heartily and digested my meal as well as ever." At right, Ray enjoys a Camel after a hearty meal.

In every line of endeavor—active, hard-working men and women light up Camels to renew their vim and energy—to add more enjoyment to meals.

STATE'S EXPERTS TESTIFY TODAY IN DENHARDT TRIAL

Defense Is Expected to Begin Case Wednesday.

New Castle, Ky., April 25.—[Special.]—The first of ten expert witnesses for the commonwealth is to take the stand tomorrow in the trial of Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, former lieutenant governor of Kentucky, for the murder last Nov. 6 of the attractive Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, 41 years old. A jury qualified to inflict the death penalty began hearing the case last Tuesday before Judge Charles C. Marshall of the Circuit court.

In Line of Previous Testimony.

The commonwealth is to present authorities on human blood, on finger prints, and on ballistics in its effort to prove that Gen. Denhardt fired the shot which killed Mrs. Taylor on a dark road near here.

The experts' testimony is expected to supplement the statement of Dr. H. B. Blaydes on the witness stand yesterday that the pistol which killed Mrs. Taylor was held at some distance from her body when it was fired. The defense contends that she shot herself. Dr. Blaydes, a physician of La Grange, helped perform the autopsy on the body six days after Mrs. Taylor was found slain.

Prosecution to Close Wednesday.

Commonwealth's Attorney H. B. Kinsolving expects to complete the presentation of his evidence on Wednesday. He said today that defense testimony probably would begin that afternoon and that the case would be given to the jury about Saturday afternoon.

GIRL, 11, TO TAKE STAND AGAINST MOTHER AT TRIAL

Mrs. Stella Maddox, 26 years old, will be confronted with testimony of her 11 year old daughter when she goes to trial today on a charge of murdering her husband, Daniel, a former pugilist who fought under the name of "Mickey Smith." The case is before Judge Peter M. Schwaba in the Criminal court.

The little girl, Dorothy, was reported to have testified before the grand jury that her mother had threatened Maddox. He had fallen in love with Miss Helen Stancel, 22 years old, 1659 West 21st street, according to Mrs. Maddox' testimony at the inquest.

Attorney George M. Crane said Mrs. Maddox' defense will be that her husband was shot accidentally when she tried to kill herself March 18 in their home at 1951 West 21st street.

Tavern Patron Exhibits Strength and Falls Dead

George Karkel, 40 years old, of no permanent address, was exhibiting his strength in a tavern at 16 North Des Plaines street early yesterday. He was holding a chair out at arm's length when he was seized with a heart attack, and he died before medical aid could reach him.

Thieves Steal Twelve of City's Sewer Covers

The theft of 12 sewer covers from Kolin and Kildare avenues between 46th and 47th streets was reported yesterday to Brighton Park police. Police said the thieves took the covers, which are valued by the city at $10 each, apparently to sell them for scrap iron.

SUED FOR $50,000

GRACE MOORE.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances Potter Hauser, Oklahoma City impresario, said today she had filed suit for $50,000 against Grace Moore, operatic and moving picture star, because of failure to appear here in a concert last month.

The suit was filed in Los Angeles and transferred to New York, it was stated.

Kurt Weinhold, representative of Columbia Concerts, Inc., said here Miss Moore had a priority contract with the Metropolitan Opera company "and it called her into New York to sing in 'La Boheme' just at the time she was to appear here. She had no choice."

FURCH TO SEEK NEW DELAY IN MURDER TRIAL

A new continuance will be sought in the trial of Dr. Frank J. Furch Jr. when he is arraigned today on a charge of murder in the Criminal court of Judge Rudolph Desort, it was indicated yesterday. Dr. Furch, a foot specialist, shot and killed his divorced second wife, Mrs. Norma Schmidt, 39 years old, in her apartment at 317 Belden avenue, Feb. 26 and then wounded himself. He is recovering in the county jail hospital. Attorney Harold Levy said that he will ask leave of court to withdraw as the defendant's counsel.

HIGHWAY POLICE RENEW DRIVE ON SLOWPOKE PERIL

Offenders Waved from Roads for Lectures.

BY HAL FOUST.

Cold drizzling showers reduced the volume of recreational motoring on Chicagoland highways yesterday, but it did not forestall Chief Walter Williams of the state police in his campaign to improve week-end trafic conditions in the metropolitan area.

For the day's lesson in Sunday driving, the chief turned to section 51 of the Illinois vehicle code. It reads:

"A—No person shall drive a motor vehicle at such a slow speed as to impede or block the normal and reasonable movement of trafic except when reduced speed is necessary for safe operation, or in compliance with the law.

"B—Police officers are hereby authorized to enforce this provision by directions to drivers, and in the event of apparent willful disobedience to this provision and refusal to comply with direction of an officer in accordance herewith, the continued slow operation by a driver shall be a misdemeanor."

West of Fox River.

Enforcing this provision of the code yesterday afternoon Patrolmen Paul Chase and William Gallagher toured two lane highways west of the Fox river, the winding and narrow slabs of Roosevelt road [U. S. 30], the Lake street highway [U. S. 20] and the west river road [Ill. 31]

On these pavements the police found the occasional slow driver delaying strings of automobiles trying to get somewhere. The curves and grades in the gentle hills limit visibility for passing.

Suggests Side Roads.

The police waved these slow pokes to the shoulder of the road and explained the nuisance and hazard of their conduct. Listen to Policeman Gallagher talk to Robert Westlund R. F. D. 2, Elgin, who was blocking eight automobiles by driving 25 miles an hour in the U. S. 20, west of Elgin.

"If you don't want to drive any faster than this," said the policeman "if you are just spending the afternoon in your car with no place to go. let me suggest that you take the side roads. It's dangerous for you to tarry on this main highway, where the public generally wants to travel at a livelier pace. If your rear vision mirror shows you that you are delaying a queue of automobiles, do something about it."

On previous Sundays the police have worked on the road hogs of the forty foot roads, the drivers who loiter in center lanes or ride aside a pavement marker to block two trafic lanes. Chief Williams said the police will continue this work through the spring and summer, arresting offenders if warnings prove of no avail.

PURISTS AND PROGRESS

By CALEB

THE small boy with large eyes who said he wanted six doughnuts or none—and then accepted two—was no purist in principle, but he may live to do good in the world.

Idealists are an asset to society, but if they insist on the impossible or nothing, their value dwindles. A sailor who, in examining a new boat, would say, "I will not carry the dead weight of that keel—cut it off," might in theory be improving the efficiency of his motive power—but a more practical sailor would keep the dead weight and carry sail to compensate for it.

The art of accepting compromises—so long as ultimate ethics and morals are not involved—is an art valuable to mankind. Most of our progress must be made through imperfect products and processes. The electric light is vastly inefficient in that it wastes much energy in heat. Automobiles are relatively inefficient in delivering power to automobile wheels. Motorists kill a human being about every seventeen minutes of the day and night somewhere in the United States. Crime costs the nation about thirteen billion dollars a year.

Yet for these reasons, we do not spurn the electric light, deprive ourselves of automobiles, or give our society up to crime.

The purist sits quiet, awaiting perfection. The practical person accepts the handicaps of imperfection but keeps moving forward.

In most of the things humans do there are heavy penalties to be carried along. We spread more sail and carry dead weight while we think through to better solutions.

A man in labor circles recently asked us why we didn't reduce hours to thirty a week in one fell swoop, when we cut them to forty—and why we did not do so-and-so, and so-and-so.

We do not believe our introduction of the forty-hour department store week in Chicago means the end in matters of shorter hours and better earnings for department store people. We have ambitions to bring about further benefits and privileges for our employes. But because we cannot leap at once to the theoretical ideal, we do not hang back from single steps toward ultimate objectives.

While purists and "whole-hoggers-or-none" dream, the doers take a step at a time despite handicaps, and build toward better days.

HAWAII 'ATTACK' ENDS; 8,000 GOBS GET SHORE LEAVE

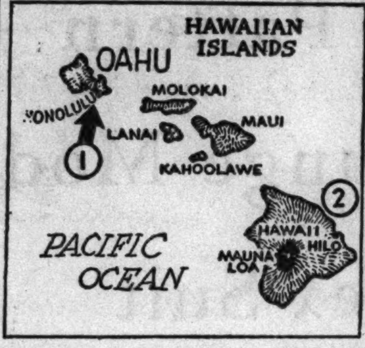
Defense Work of Planes Wins Praise.

HONOLULU, April 25.—(AP)—With an aerial advance, theoretical landing operations and long-range firing, the United States fleet ended today its "attack" on Oahu Island and more than 60 of its 111 ships berthed in Pearl Harbor.

Defending army forces broke camp after the three-hour engagement marking completion of the first phase of the current mid-Pacific war games.

The battleship Pennsylvania, flagship of the fleet, berthed at Lahaina Roads, off Maui Island.

Commenting on the maneuvers, Rear Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, ranking officer at Pearl Harbor, said defense forces "gave us a whale of a time."



Scene of first phase of fleet's maneuvers around the Hawaiian Islands which ended yesterday. Shown are (1) Oahu Island, where yesterday's battle was fought, and (2) the Island of Hawaii and the city of Hilo, "captured" Friday.

"We watched with admiration the work of their airplanes," he said.

The ships berthing in Pearl Harbor were mostly of the "train force," destroyers and cruisers. Approximately 8,000 men received shore leave.

The fleet contingent will put to sea again, probably April 30.

During the attack today, the fleet hammered at the defense of Oahu Island with a heavy "bombardment."

Army troops, giant naval flying patrol boats and submarines were defending Oahu. The big defensive sky cruisers picked up a part of the attacking fleet off the island.

From three points the fleet delivered the major blow, covered by a smoke screen.

'BIRD MAN' FROM MICHIGAN KILLED; PARACHUTES FAIL

VINCENNES, France, April 25.—(AP)—Clem Sohn, known as the American "Bird Man," was killed today when his parachute failed to open after he jumped from a plane at 6,000 feet before a crowd of 30,000 gathered for air races here.

He completed a series of evolutions in the sky with the aid of "batwings" strapped to his arms and legs. Then apparently he sought to pull the ripcords of his two parachutes, but they failed to open.

Sohn, who was 26 years old, resided in Lansing, Mich. He had been a feature attraction at numerous aviation carnivals and air races in the United States and foreign countries in the last two years. He perfected that "batwing" device which permitted him to simulate flight after jumping from an airplane. Often he glided for several miles at high speed before opening his parachutes.

WORRY IS DECLARED TO BE MAIN CAUSE OF FATIGUED PILOTS

Washington, D. C., April 25.—(AP)—A senate committee chairman urged today that the government scientifically determine whether "pilot fatigue" is responsible for airline disasters.

Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], chairman of the senate air safety committee, said the subject was "so pressing" that a $50,000 item had been written into the pending commerce department appropriation bill to provide for an investigation.

The committee recommended that a group of outstanding physicians be named to help in the research work.

Flight surgeons virtually are unanimous, committee members said, that "it is not work but worry over affairs not related to piloting nor to aeronautics that causes the drain on a pilot's human faculties, creating a menace to safety."

U. S. ARMY GETS A FOURTH 16 TON FLYING FORTRESS

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—A fourth army bomber of the YB-17 type, popularly known as a flying fortress, has been turned over to the army at Langley field. Three of this type of giant bombers are now at Langley field and another is at Wright field at Dayton, O. Nine more are being built by Boeing to be turned over to the army within the year. The aircraft company is also building the largest army bomber in the world for the army. The new plane, which shortly will undergo its test, is to be four tons larger than the 16 ton flying fortress.

Brush Made from Boar's Bristles Sells for $500

New York, April 26.—The world's most expensive hairbrush, made of the rare, strong, beautiful bristles plucked from the neck of Siberian wild boars of 12 years and older are bringing $500 today because of the soviet government's campaign to teach citizens of the Steppes to hunt the beasts for food. Agents here were quoting the brushes at $250 a year ago. But in the succeeding twelvemonth the firm was able to obtain only six ounces of the precious bristles, or enough for three brushes. Their addition has brought the inventory up to nine.

How to Get Your Books!

The first thing to do in order to receive your library is to fill in and mail the Reservation Form below.

You will be sent by return mail Privilege Vouchers entitling you to the complete library of twenty-four volumes. As soon as we receive your reservation the first two volumes will be printed and bound, to be ready for you, straight from the presses, two weeks from now.

When the first group of two volumes is placed in your hands, the second group is put to press, to be ready for delivery at the end of two more weeks—and so on until your twenty-four-volume library is complete.

You will find each day on Page 6 of The Daily TRIBUNE a numbered Mark Twain Certificate. Clip out and save these until you have 12 of them. Then bring in your 12 Certificates with appropriate Voucher and 67 cents for each complete group of two volumes. Not 67c for each volume but 67c for BOTH VOLUMES.

You can commence to collect the numbered Certificates at any time within the next few days, but the sooner you begin the more quickly will this incomparable library be in your home.

IMPORTANT!

In extending this great privilege to readers of The TRIBUNE, there are two difficulties, both of which make it necessary for you to act promptly if you want your volumes.

First, there is the difficulty of supplying a huge demand with the limited edition which the copyright owners have permitted to be published. No reservations can be accepted beyond the allotted figure!

Second, the cost of paper, printing and binding is rising every day. If you do not reserve your set immediately, we cannot guarantee to supply the volumes at the nominal cost mentioned above!

SUGAR BY THE POUND OR STEEL BY THE TON

FORD SELLS AS MUCH TRUCK AS YOU NEED

A sack of sugar, a ton of steel—would you use the same truck to haul both loads? There, in a nutshell, is the basis of the specialized transportation offered in the Ford V-8 Truck and Commercial Car line.

You should demand truck economy that comes with the right amount of power to do your individual job. Ford offers two V-8 engine sizes, optional axle ratios, three wheelbases, a wide variety of body types—to give you a unit that fits your business.

If your loads are heavy and schedules fast, you need the 85-hp. V-8, improved to give maximum economy for its power. For lighter loads, and for stop-and-go delivery, the new 60-hp. V-8 has all the power you need—with gas mileage so high that it cuts dollars off the cost sheet.

Call your Ford dealer today and set a date for an "on-the-job" test. It costs nothing—gives you the facts.

REBEL BOMBERS USED TO QUELL TROOPS' MUTINY

Planes Shower Bombs on Granada Suburbs.

VALENCIA, Spain, April 25.—(AP)—An uprising against rebel command in Granada province was reported in Spanish government circles today.

Reliable reports said a fleet of planes took off from Granada airport and bombed the city's suburbs. The use of airplanes was considered an indication of military insurrection, since armed forces at Granada were believed sufficient to cope with civil disturbances.

Government planes raided rebel held Malaga yesterday. Six persons were killed and more than 20 wounded. Three buildings were damaged.

The government freighter Cyclope arriving here reported a torpedo had been fired at her by a submarine. The freighter's captain said he believed the submarine was German.

[A Seville radio broadcast declared the rebel cruiser Canarias had forced the government battleship Jaime I. aground off southern Spain.]

Complain of Britain's Acts.

HENDAYE, France, April 25.—(AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel leader, today massed his northern armies, claiming victory over a wide front yesterday, for a fresh thrust he hoped would carry his banners into Bilbao, beleaguered Basque capital.

Franco, confident of victory over his Spanish foes, turned to shake a figurative fist at Great Britain. His Salamanca government announced it had sent a protest to the British ambassador to Spain, now in Hendaye, against the part British warships have played while British merchantmen have run the blockade of near starving Bilbao. The protest accused the British fleet of breaking the nonintervention agreement and international law.

Three More Run Blockade.

Two more British freighters—the Thurston with food and the Stesso with coal—reached Bilbao early today, and the Jenny, a 1,859 ton food ship reached Santander. The British Seven Seas Spray was first to run the Bilbao blockade early last week and three more vessels ran the Blockade Friday while the huge battle cruiser Hood and other British naval vessels stood by.

Salamanca charged the Hood and the destroyer Firedrake placed themselves between the freighters and the rebel cruiser Almirant Cervera in Spanish territorial waters, making it impossible for the cruiser to fire on the freighters without danger of hitting the British warships.

Rebel airplanes brought widespread destruction on Bilbao today. Bombs were dropped in two raids, one just before noon, the other just after, each lasting half an hour. The bombs fell over a wide area. In the second raid forty-seven planes were counted in the air, including twenty trimotored Junkers, two twin motored Heinkels, and twenty-five "chaser" planes.

Mass Around Durango.

The rebel forces massed around Durango, keypoint in the defenses of Bilbao, just sixteen miles away.

Other rebel forces were concentrating in the region of Oviedo, chief city of Asturias in the northwest, to hasten a cleanup of the entire coast.

The importance of the forthcoming operations in the north was stressed today in both rebel and government camps. Both admitted the fall of Bilbao would probably have a decisive effect on the tide of war. Gen. Franco then would be able to transfer tens of thousands of troops to the Madrid front, and the rebel navy would be released from its attempts to blockade Bilbao for action against government ports and shipping along the east coast.

Rebel army headquarters announced that one of the columns of Gen. Emilio Mola, commanding the drive on Bilbao, occupied Mount Saint Maria, commanding the whole valley in which Eibar lies and making the fall of that munitions manufacturing town—eighteen miles southeast of Bilbao—imminent.

Four Die in Madrid Shelling.

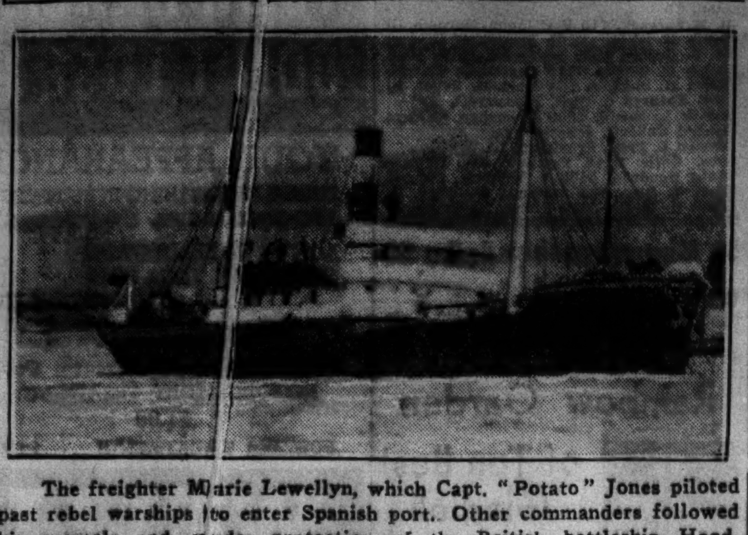
MADRID, April 25.—(AP)—Rebel gunners poured shells into the heart of Madrid again today, killing at least four persons and wounding twelve.

The firing, resumed after the battered capital had been given one day of respite from almost constant bombardment, came from the direction of Carabanchel on the southwestern edge of the city. Shells fell in Castellana boulevard, famous Sunday promenade of Madrilenos.

The government reported its drive on rebels in the Teruel sector some 150 miles east of the capital had carried to within two miles of the Teruel-Saragossa highway. Government possession of the highway would pinch off the salient Gen. Francisco Franco has driven in an effort to separate Valencia and Barcelona.

The Madrid city council, the new civilian authority installed yesterday to replace the military junta under Gen. José Miaja, opened a campaign to intensify cultivation in the capital area as a means of fighting Madrid's food shortage.

BREAKS SIEGE OF BILBAO



The freighter Marie Lewellyn, which Capt. "Potato" Jones piloted past rebel warships to enter Spanish port. Other commanders followed his example and, under protection of the British battleship Hood, delivered cargoes of foodstuffs to the beleaguered city.

CHILEAN OUSTED BY SPAIN BOARDS SHIP FOR FRANCE

VALENCIA, Spain, April 25.—(AP)—Chilean Ambassador Aurelio Nunez Morgado, declared persona non grata by the Spanish government, boarded the Argentine gunboat Tucuman tonight. The vessel was to leave for Marseilles, France, tomorrow.

Morgado was restrained Thursday from departing for Paris. The government charged he sought to take out securities and money in violation of the law. He denied the charges.

Diplomats before whom he laid his case sent a note of protest to the Valencia government.

TARGET MARKERS GO ON STRIKE AT GUARD RANGE; ALL ARE FIRED

Peekskill, N. Y., April 25.—[Special.]—A strike of seventy youthful target markers on the rifle and pistol range at Camp Smith, the New York National Guard encampment outside Peekskill, met with short shrift today from army officers. The markers, most of them from Peekskill and ranging in age from 16 to 18 years, pulled down the targets and marched out of the pits shortly before noon.

They served an ultimatum on Sergt. Richard Quhl, the range master, demanding a raise in their pay from $3 to $4 a day or no more target marking for the 700 National Guardsmen from the metropolitan area who were in camp for a Sunday of practice. Sergt. Quhl referred them to Maj. Gen. William H. Hay, U. S. A., retired, the camp superintendent, who not only refused the boys' demands but fired them forthwith and ordered them from the camp.

FALLS DEAD IN INN.

Henry Bobzien, 45 years old, who lived on a farm near Des Plaines, died suddenly of heart disease late Saturday in the Hapsburg inn on River road, just north of Des Plaines.

Playmates Kill Boy of 8; Didn't Like His Long Hair

LYONS, France, April 25.—(AP)—Paul Gignoux, 8 years old, was stoned to death by his playmates because they not like his long hair, police said today. Authorities rounded up fifteen small boys and girls, all under 10 years old, some under 6. They battered Paul's skull with rocks, police said. His mother had refused to cut his hair.

NAME WINNERS OF CROSSWORD PUZZLE CONTEST

Second List of $10,000 Victors Tomorrow.

The first list of winners in the $10,000 Franklin D. Roosevelt inaugural crossword puzzle contest offered by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE as a feature of the new presidential inaugural month—January — is announced today. A second list of winners will be published tomorrow.

The contest, presenting a series of forty-four crossword puzzles, began on Jan. 1 and ended on Feb. 20. Solutions were sent in by readers from coast to coast. Letters of not more than 100 words sent in with the solutions were judged in the scores.

The Big Prize Winner.

The big prize winner in the first list is Jennie E. Joos of 1625 Greenleaf avenue, Chicago. She gets $1,000, the first prize. Her crossword puzzle solutions were all correct, and her letter possessed the merit necessary to cinch first prize.

Second prize, $500, goes to Madge Polk Townsley, 410 North 6th street, Terre Haute, Ind. J. L. Steward, 412 Detroit street, Hammond, Ind., wins the third prize, $250.

Other winners are Jessie Watts, 857 Lawrence avenue, Chicago, and Mary Lois Coyle, 800 Monroe street, Gary, Ind., who receive $100 each, and Mrs. Ada C. Jones, 766 Oakwood avenue, Lake Forest, Ill.; George Amundsen, Route 2, Benton Harbor, Mich.; Nuldah Miller of Postville, Ia.; Mrs. Anna E. True, 2941 Washington boulevard, Indianapolis, Ind., and Frances S. Wallace, 7311 Quick avenue, River Forest, Ill., who get $50 each.

MANILA PREPARES TO GIVE M'NUTT BIG RECEPTION TODAY

MANILA, April 25.—(AP)—Manilans made ready today to give a rousing welcome to Paul V. McNutt, new United States high commissioner to the Philippines.

McNutt, former governor of Indiana, and his party of eighteen were due to arrive tomorrow on the Liner President Hoover.

Army authorities ordered out a squadron of fighting planes to salute McNutt before the liner reached quarantine. A welcoming committee headed by Acting commissioner J. Weldon Jones and George B. Vargas, secretary to President Manuel Quezon, arranged to board the liner in the bay and bring Mr. and Mrs. McNutt and their daughter ashore.

A GLORIOUS CALIFORNIA Vacation in 2 Weeks?

YES, AND BOULDER DAM, TOO

What a glorious vacation. You can visit romantic, 150-year-old Spanish missions—bathe in the blue Pacific—mingle with gay throngs in Hollywood—enjoy cosmopolitan San Francisco, where the miracle of modern engineering has produced the famous 8-mile double-decked Bay Bridge.

From snow-topped mountains to glistening seashore sands, every outdoor pastime is provided. And you can see mighty Boulder Dam en route—cruise on picturesque, fjord-like Lake Mead . . . all within the span of a two-weeks vacation.

What's more, the cost is decidedly reasonable. California hotel and resort rates are moderate and rail fares are very low. For example:

ONLY $57.35 is the round trip coach fare from Chicago, with six months return limit.

In Pullman-Tourist Sleeping cars the round trip fare from Chicago is $68.80 (berth extra) with 6 months return limit—in Standard Pullmans $86.00 (berth extra), return limit October 31. And you may return by way of the Pacific Northwest at no extra fare, if you wish.

FIRST SHOWING of the New INTERNATIONALS

International Harvester presents a great new line of trucks — a major news story for the transportation world — a personal news item for every user of trucks!

● Here is the first announcement of the new International Trucks in the gleaming metal dress and lines of today and tomorrow. Here are eye-values that tell their own story, ultramodern styling that will please every owner and driver, your customers and the general public. But eye-values are not the whole story by any means. Even more important, in these new trucks, are the new values underneath the surface.

Consistent International policy, adhered to through more than 30 years of ALL-TRUCK manufacture, is your guarantee that the entirely new beauty of exterior in these new International Trucks brings also advanced engineering throughout the entire mechanical product.

New standards of utility and performance are offered you in every model of this new line, in sizes ranging from the Half-Ton unit (shown above) up to powerful Six-Wheelers. The new International Trucks are at your service. Come in and see them at any of our showrooms. Or we'll be glad to send you catalog describing trucks that you need in your own hauling work.

The ALL-STEEL CAB — one of the many advanced features in the new International line. Illustration above shows the interior of the roomy, well-appointed de luxe cab. Driver comfort, clear vision, and safety are assured in every International model, Half-Ton up.

ENCOURAGEMENTS TO VIOLENCE.

A pitched battle has been fought at the gates of a canning factory in California. A similar battle took place in the chocolate factory at Hershey, Pa. Striking automobile workers in Michigan took possession of factories, refused to obey court orders commanding them to leave, and in some instances resisted law officers with force. Labor conflicts in Chicago have led to half a dozen bombings in the last few days. These are but a few among scores of similar evidences of a growing spirit of lawlessness in many parts of the United States.

Lawlessness itself is not unprecedented in this country. Neither is the use of violence in labor conflicts. What is new is the attitude of government in the face of these disturbances of the peace. It has always been the theory of government in this country that its primary purpose was to preserve the peace, to safeguard life and property. Sometimes in the past peace officers have been derelict in their duty. Sometimes they have been overpowered by the force of the mob and sometimes they have failed to foresee the danger and have been unprepared to meet it. But never before have the forces of government in so many parts of the country been found unwilling to maintain the law.

When the governor of Minnesota used the militia to protect rioters the incident was properly regarded as without precedent. Now the same thing has happened in many other places. At Flint the militia was used to protect the striking minority in possession of factories which the courts of the state had ordered the strikers to surrender.

The unwillingness of peace officers to fulfill the first obligation of their offices has led inevitably to counter attacks. Those who are the victims of lawlessness—the farmers who supplied milk to the Hershey factories for one example; the spinach raisers of California for another—have undertaken to do for themselves what the peace officers have neglected to do.

Lawlessness is infectious. Anarchy breeds anarchy. Violence encourages more violence. Labor leaders who have employed violent means of attaining their ends carry a heavy responsibility for the consequences. If their cause falls into disrepute the fault is theirs. When factions in the labor movement go a step further and bomb and kill to maintain their illegal status the leaders of the sitdown strikes cannot avoid their full share of the blame. They furnished the example which is now being imitated.

The public officials who cast aspersions on the courts and the constitution and stood by while the laws were openly violated may feign astonishment at the growth of violence, but no one will credit them with sincerity. They gave a clear demonstration that constituted authority will not do its duty. They promoted disorder and anarchy. They expected political profit from so doing. Their responsibility is too clear to require argument.

A MOTOR FERRY TO MICHIGAN.

While there is very substantial public interest in THE TRIBUNE'S platform plank, "A Motor Ferry to Michigan," there appears to exist a conviction that lake trafic has seen its best days. This seems a strange psychology in the face of the widely held theory that the cost of water transit is a mere fraction of railway or truck rates. Nevertheless, there is the disappearance of the Graham & Morton and Goodrich lines staring us in the face, to which has recently been added the discontinuance of Great Lakes Transit service. These are tangible facts and not theories.

The ready answer is that the automobile ferry is something entirely new in water transportation. The competition of the truck destroyed break bulk services, whereas the ferry contemplates transport of the truck and its load. There is no analogy between the two operations. The ferry furnishes a convenience to highway service because it can carry a truck at a lower cost than the vehicle can propel itself. Such water transit is unassailable because there is no cargo handling.

It is the expense of transfer that has destroyed lake carriage of packaged commodities—"breaking bulk," as the shipping men say. In a voyage from Buffalo to Chicago the cost of interchange from wharf to the hold of the vessel and out again is actually greater than the cost of transportation. Unlike the box car or semi-trailer, steamship operating expenses are virtually as high while standing at a dock as when it is moving. When in port its huge and expensive power plant is idle and its crew merely stands watch. One can only imagine the prohibitive freight rates that would accrue if it were impossible to detach the locomotive from its quota of box cars.

Automobile and truck transports lose little or no time in port. A Michigan ferry could carry 100 vehicles on each of two daily round trips. If an average charge of $10 a vehicle were made the receipts would be $4,000 a day, or four times the cost of operating the vessel. She could break even on a 25 per cent load. As to volume of trafic—there are 2,000 cars and trucks circling the lake every day, each of which would be a potential patron.

ENACT THE WARD-SCHNACKENBERG PAROLE BILLS.

Bills for much needed amendment of our parole administration drawn by an able citizens' committee headed by the president of the Crime commission, Mr. Loesch, are now in the final stages of consideration in the house, having passed the senate.

Sponsored by Senator Ward and Representative Schnackenberg, two of the ablest members of the assembly, they represent the experience and expert judgment which ought to govern legislation for the correction of our seriously defective parole system, and the suggestion in some quarters that they ought not to be enacted because of an alleged public clamor against parole has no relevance and should have no weight in the legislature or with the governor.

There has been and is a strong public feeling against the flagrant miscarriages of parole. In the face of such evils there will always be ill advised criticisms and proposals, but the measures in question are the well considered proposals of able men, students of crime conditions and of parole theory and practice worthy of all public confidence. If they are the product of public demand for reform, as they are, they represent intelligent action and will stand on their own merits if given fair consideration, as we are confident the house is ready to give them.

As their authors and proponents have publicly acknowledged, they are not panaceas. They do not cover the wide ground surveyed by the governor's commission whose report has just been filed. But they are not inconsistent with the findings of this report and there is no reason why their enactment should be postponed. On the contrary, there is substantial reason why they should be enacted, not only for their own merits but as an earnest that the legislature is ready and willing to deal promptly and practically with recognized weaknesses of parole law and administration. The report of the governor's commission should not be misused to postpone well advised corrections embodied in the Ward-Schnackenberg measures.

IN DEFENSE OF STATE SOVEREIGNTY.

With the recent action of Vermont there are now 26 states which have commissions on interstate coöperation actively participating in a council of state governments. Eight other states have pending in various stages bills to establish commissions on interstate coöperation, and among these states is Illinois.

We favor participation in this effort to make the states more active and more efficient in dealing with conditions they can meet through the exercise of their own powers. A large share of the responsibility for the growth of centralization lies upon the shoulders of the states. They have shirked their opportunities to correct conditions common to all or to many, and the demand for action has therefore naturally turned to Washington. Perhaps it is too late to check the expansion of the federal authority. We hope not, but mere abstract argument will accomplish little so long as the states fail to use their own sovereign powers to solve problems within their reach, and coöperation among them is undoubtedly essential to prompt and consistent action. The Council of State Governments should be made an effective agency for the invigoration of state sovereignty and a rallying ground for the defense of our dual form of government. The precipitate growth of centralization under the New Deal does not excuse a weak and shortsighted compliance, but should arouse a more determined effort to resist its excesses. But resistance should not be negative. It should present constructive alternatives through state initiative and coöperation covering the very large field which has been left uncultivated by state government.

We hope Illinois will take part, without further postponement, in the interstate council project. But more is needed than the mere establishment of an Illinois commission on coöperation. Such a commission should be stimulated by a press and public awake to the fundamental need for affirmative and practical alternatives to federal expansion.

Editorial of the Day

TWO "FORGOTTEN" MEN.

[Peoria Journal-Transcript.]

The two "forgotten" men who customarily are controling factors in all business enterprise are the investor and the consumer. Neither has been consulted about the rise in wages and prices. Yet neither is subject to government regulation. Both can be brought to the water; neither can be compelled to drink.

The Transportation Association of America announces in a recent brochure, "Labor's Silent Partner," that as the result of industry and thrift, there is now about $26,000 in capital at the disposal of each railroad employé. This quotient is obtained by dividing a total railroad investment of about 26 billion by the estimated number of employés in the railroad industry. There are nearly 2 million investors in railroad securities—925,000 bondholders and 875,000 stockholders.

The brochure further declares that approximately 14,500,000 savings bank depositors and 64 million life insurance policyholders are involved in the railroad problem. As of Dec. 31, 1936, ninety railroad companies, representing 71,124 miles of track, or 30 per cent of the railroad mileage of the country, were in receivership or trusteeship. Yet railroad labor is pressing for wage additions which would amount to $1,400,000,000 on the basis of 1930 conditions and a billion on the basis of 1936 conditions.

Building construction, especially in the large cities, is being retarded by high wage rates, high material costs and lack of credit. Building trades wages in the nation now stand at 87 per cent of the 1929 level.

In his recent warning against monetary inflation if public budgets are not brought into balance either by retrenchment or new taxes, or both, Chairman Eccles of the federal reserve board said the current of events was running strongly against farmers, those depending upon income from securities, and consumers generally.

There are pessimists and optimists in business and industry and statistics are subject to wide interpretations, but the circumstance that federal revenues are running 600 million dollars below January estimates indicates that maladjustments need correction.

The present administration drive on the federal judiciary in particular and all courts in general can scarcely fail to have a discouraging effect upon investors. Confiscation is in the air. Public expenditures are mounting, and although President Roosevelt is endeavoring to check them, organized politics is resisting both economy and new taxes. Corporations, at best, are mere clearing houses.

Two large and influential classes of the people may go on strike without notice and without sitting down—the investor who will not invest and the consumer who will not buy.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

SIR: Richard is a peculiar fellow. His first wife left him, but she did not tell him she was going to stay away. She left a note in a drawer with his socks and by the time he got down to the note she was gone for good. He didn't suffer much regret, for obviously they were better off apart, but the memory lingered on. . . . His second wife, knowing his feelings, thought to cure his dread of unexpected notes and, once, when she was going on a visit, she tucked little letters of affection into places she knew he would find. When she came back he asked her not to do it any more. . . . Always in the back of his mind there lurks a fear that some day he will find one from her saying she is never coming back—and he dreads it like insanity. Yet Hometown thinks he is stolid, unimaginative. Bildik.

THE DOG WATCHMAN assures us it was inevitable the comic opera possibilities of Chicago crime should be in the end recognized; and that it's nice to know Gilbert and Sullivan are looking into the current pineapplings.

"RULER of 270 Million Hindus Will Fly to Anoint British King," announced THE TRIBUNE. And straightway George Mac and H. F. L. leaped from their breakfast chairs crying, "What ho! A fly in the ointment."

KILDEERS OVER SPRING FIELDS.

They circle over me with nervous cries
And show resentment at my presence here;
I cannot stop my plow; the cirrused skies
Hold hint of rainy weather, and the clear
Sound of the train beyond that row of hills
Speaks of a thunder storm now on the way.
No, screaming birds, I know your stubborn wills,
But I must plow this field, so I will stay.

I know you do not trust me, and I know
You reared your young last year upon this knoll,
But if I have a crop, then I must sow.
It is not lack of pity, lack of soul,
That brings me here; I made a bed for seeds.
Forgive me, birds, but I have winter needs.

Jay G. Sigmund.

THE SCALPEL of keen wit provided by J. V. bared the fact that Dr. O. N. Edge is operating a hospital. One hopes that he won't become more nervous.

THE MILKMAN'S HOLLYHOCKS.

Sir: Read experience of Thomas K. Davey just in time to keep myself from disaster. My husband, having tried everything else to get himself out of his rut, brought home a copy of "How to Conquer Friends and Overwhelm People." Not wishing to have hubby my mental superior I snatched moments from household duties and spent all of yesterday improving my social (?) standing. The people quoted in the book have made wonderful business contacts and are friends of prominent people. Now where are those wizards of finance? How can I conquer and overwhelm them? When I decided to try the system out on the butcher (result expected, a cheery word or an extra chop) or the milkman (he might invite me to see his hollyhocks) I read today's Line. I have changed my mind. I might get the shot without the warning; so instead of starting Part III. today I am going to clean the pantry shelves. Annie B.

SIR: If Ancient from Iowa, the author of "Mauve Echo," will listen to a certain radio broadcast he will hear the old Ta Ra Boom-de-ay and some more echoes. . . . We are not Victorian, but we have Beatrice Harriden's "Ships That Pass In the Night," which is still a delightfully readable book with tender sentiment. It might even make a good movie if the right people could be found to play the characters. But look what they did to "The Garden of Allah!"

Not So Ancient from Chicago.

ECONOMICS IS A DARK SCIENCE.

When I was in Screwdopeia I found all that country's economists and statesmen in a dither over the high cost of killing men in war. They had it figured that it cost $25,000 to kill a Screwdopeian soldier on the battlefield and, as the average Screwdopeian was never worth more than 30 cents alive, this thing of paying twenty-five grand to have one killed was not only preposterous but a terrible threat to the very financial foundations of the nation. . . . It was necessary, said the Screwdopeians, to lower the killing cost to about two-bits per deadhead, which would leave a net profit or loss (where am I?) of a nickel. On this basis, they believe, war would become profitable and civilization would be saved. John McD.

TO THE LADIES!

In winter time the gals set forth
In hats of summer straw,
While men in flannel underwear
Attempt the pipes to thaw.

In summer to the lakeside cool
I watch them gayly go,
And on their hot, perspiring heads
Velvet or felt chapeau.

I dare not say these gals are "off"
Lest you dub me a lout;
But these things are too deep for me—
How do you dope it out?

Cora Wallace.

"DID YOU know that at every tick of your watch the butts of 275 cigarets are dropped into ash trays?" Having viewed that in a bus-propelled ad the busy housewife, Lass o' Laughter, is trying to figure out how many ash flicks per tick are tossed on the rugs near the ash trays.

PREVENT DIABETES.

IS diabetes on the increase? What is responsible for the failure of the pancreas to generate the required amount of insulin? These are vital questions which must be given serious consideration.

As most of us know, the pancreatic gland secretes a digestive fluid which is poured into the intestine. It produces also a hormone called insulin, which is absorbed by the blood and serves to regulate the use of sugar by the body. Deprived of this substance, diabetes manifests itself. In some persons the output of the gland is not quite sufficient for the perfect regulation of sugar metabolism. In such cases the disease is mild. As the deficiency increases however, so will the severity of the malady.

A generation ago this ailment was 21st among the causes of death. Today it has risen to tenth place. The prophecy is made freely that it is likely to forge ahead of tuberculosis as a national menace within the next decade.

There are, of course, several explanatory factors. Because artificial insulin is now available, diabetics live longer. The general public knows more about the affliction and frequently come to the physician on the appearance of the first symptoms, namely, great thirst and excessive urination.

But what many do not know is that a "sugar sickness" tendency may exist in some individuals who do not show the presence of glucose in the urine. These patients are carrying a large amount in the blood but are unaware of the fact. If this situation is permitted to continue it may burst forth as a complete failure of the pancreas.

These facts call attention to the desirability of not overloading the digestive tract with carbohydrates. If every one would use a balanced diet we could reduce the occurrence of this condition substantially. We would at least avoid placing too heavy a burden upon the hormone producing gland.

The discovery of insulin has been a great boon to those with the disease. It permits the patient to add to his blood the internal secretion which his own pancreas has failed to manufacture. The effect is the same, whether it comes from the gland of the patient or is introduced via a hypodermic needle.

Curiously enough, if insulin is taken into the digestive tract it is destroyed and becomes useless. To carry out its beneficent purpose it must be injected under the skin. What a change has been wrought by artificial insulin which, with a properly controled diet, will permit the victim to carry on in many instances for the normal span of life.

Another essential point should be stressed, namely, if the sugar in the blood rises above the normal level it means usually that the tissues are not receiving an adequate amount. In a sense, therefore, the diabetic is starving. This accounts for the rapid loss of weight and strength which many of these patients exhibit.

Recently a new compound called protamine insulinate has been prepared which is absorbed more slowly. Its effect is maintained, therefore, for a longer period of time. One who has trained himself in the use of insulin cannot use the new preparation in the same way. He must learn a new routine and follow closely the instructions of his physician, as he is dealing with a substance which behaves in quite a different manner.

One who has diabetes will probably always have it. While it cannot be cured the patient can—thanks to insulin—live with it, withstand it, and circumvent it. But it should be regarded as a preventable disease—one that no one need have if there is a proper dietary adjustment. This means that starchy foods may be used, but not to excess. If the weight increases abnormally, omitting sugar may hold the blood glucose in balance and save disaster to the all important cells of the pancreas.

KIDNEY TUBERCULOSIS.

C. B. writes: Is there any other noticeable symptom of tuberculosis of the kidney other than the occasional passage of blood? Does the patient necessarily suffer pain? I understand a steady fever is one of the warning symptoms. Should a person with this ailment drink plenty of fluids or is it more advisable to drink very little?

REPLY.

The symptoms of kidney tuberculosis are: Frequency and burning on urination, blood and pus in the urine. The disease is slow to manifest symptoms. In late stages fever and chills are sometimes present. The condition is frequently associated with tuberculosis in other parts of the body. Finding the tubercle bacillus in a catheter specimen of urine is proof positive.

As a rule, plenty of fluid is advised. If the disease is confined to one kidney it may be well to have it removed surgically. Follow the advice of the physician in charge.

DEPENDS ON INDIVIDUAL.

D. R. A. writes:

1. Can you say positively that a depilatory used to remove hair on the face will not cause a heavier, coarser growth?

2. What are the first symptoms of tuberculosis?

3. What could be the cause of a persistent dry cough in a girl whose lungs were examined and found to be all right?

REPLY.

1. Much depends upon the individual. If complete removal is desired, recourse to the electric needle is advised.

2. Undue fatigue, loss of weight and appetite, a cough that hangs on.

3. It may be due to chronic bronchitis, to early heart muscle weakness, or to a nervous habit.

FREQUENT COLDS.

M. P. writes: A claims that a child nearly 2 years old, who has never had a cold, is better off than the one who has frequent colds. B says the child should have colds in order to build resistance against them. This seems to me like an old country superstition.

REPLY.

A is right. Repeated colds lower resistance.

PROPER WEIGHTS.

Mrs. A. writes: My husband is 35 years old and is 5 feet 11 inches tall. I am 30, and 5 feet 4 inches. What should we weigh?

REPLY.

Husband's weight, 170 pounds; yours, 130. We have charts giving ideal weights for height and age for adults. Send a stamped addressed envelope.

20 Years Ago Today

APRIL 26, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The selective conscription plan of choosing an army, as outlined by the war department and approved by the President and members of the general staf, probably will pass the house, in the opinion of administration leaders. A poll of the house reported 237 members in favor of the draft, 113 opposed, and 80 noncommittal.

LONDON.—Henry Molyneux Paget Howard, nineteenth earl of Suffolk and Berkshire, has been killed in action. He was the husband of the former Miss Margaret Hyde [Daisy] Leiter, third daughter of the late Levi Z. and Mrs. Leiter of Chicago.

PARIS.—Dunkirk was bombarded by German destroyers. Coast batteries replied and British and French patrol ships engaged the enemy, who retreated in the direction of Ostend at great speed. An official announcement said: "One of our torpedo boats was sunk in the brief action. The enemy's losses are not known."

LONDON.—Two British destroyers on patrol duty in the English channel off Dover on April 20 fought a battle with a flotilla of six German destroyers which will live long in the history of naval engagements. The British ships rammed and sunk one of the German vessels and put the others to rout after a boarding encounter in which there was man to man fighting with gun and cutlass.

BERLIN.—In ferocity and magnitude the Champagne battle, now in progress, surpasses all previous engagements and campaigns of the great war. No conflict on so stupendous a scale ever has been known, in number of men involved or in quantity of armament and ammunition available. The Germans believe the Franco-British offensive will change from storming attacks into fruitless nibbling at the German lines.

LONDON.—The admiralty report showing a great increase in the sinkings of British ships during the last week, reaching a record for any similar period since unrestricted warfare began, is prominently displayed in morning papers, several of which comment gravely on the serious outlook. The Times complains much harm is being done by trying to minimize the facts.

PARIS.—A court martial has condemned to death as a spy Emilienne Rose Ducimitiere, a 19 year old girl. She was convicted of gathering military information at Geneva, Lyons, and Paris on behalf of a German by whom she had been employed as a servant.

CHICAGO.—Within six hours after THE TRIBUNE revealed manipulation of the nation's egg market, a federal investigation was in full swing. Within forty hours the market broke 4 cents and 70,000 cases in New York and 92,000 cases in Chicago had been sold at an average drop of 3 cents.

GARBAGE STORAGE.

Chicago, April 23.—[Friend of the People.]—I live next door to and just above a department store vegetable department who keep their garbage stored in the alley directly below our apartment. I have complained before to the management and they keep it clean during the week, but on Saturday night they throw it out in the barrels placed there and it isn't picked up until Monday morning. I have two small children that sleep in the room just above this place and the odor even in the winter is very bad. L. L.

Please be advised that an inspector was immediately assigned to make an investigation, with orders to abate the nuisance. A reinspection has since been made and the inspector's report indicates that the premises have been cleaned and the garbage removed. The manager of the department store has promised to lay a cement sidewalk over the parkway in question so that it may be kept clean. Should this party have further reason to complain, it is suggested that she advise this department at once.

THE QUALITY OF PUBLIC RELIEF.

Chicago, April 17.—In the account published in THE TRIBUNE of the eightieth anniversary of the United Charities the president of Yale university, who made the anniversary address, is reported to have spoken of "the by-product of the depression which brought government into relief," and President Angell warned against "the breakdown of neighborliness when government moves too far into the field of voluntary charity."

It seems important to point out that public responsibility for relief is one of the oldest governmental policies of this country and is not a by-product of any depression. The first legislature of the state of Illinois in 1819 passed the poor law which has continued in force ever since that time, with amendments to improve the adequacy of relief and the methods of administration. In an early decision of the Illinois Supreme court [Seagraves vs. Alton, 13 Illinois 366], the chief justice of the Supreme court of that day pointed out the responsibility of the city of Alton for the support of those unable to support themselves. The chief justice clearly said in this opinion of 1851 that the destitute were "not to be turned over to the uncertain charities of individuals," and that the principle of public responsibility was "of as much binding force as the obligation of a parent to support his child or a husband his wife."

Again, nearly half a century later, in another leading decision [Kankakee vs. McGrew, 178 Illinois 74], the Supreme court again handed down another opinion holding that public relief was an "imperative" public duty. The Supreme court dealt with the argument that the town was without funds, but said "if there be no funds for the purpose the overseer must of necessity have power to pledge the credit of the town in that behalf."

The theory that we had no public relief in the city of Chicago until the time of the depression is a complete fallacy. In the year 1928, for example, the relief expenditures of such public agencies as the Cook county bureau of public welfare for the family welfare service, aid to ex-service men, blind pensions, and the county expenditures on mothers' pensions, came to a total of more than $1,700,000. The relief expenditures of all the private charities in the city came to less than a million dollars. The relief expenditures of the United Charities that year were $259,146. Moreover, the United Charities did not have funds for adequate relief at that time and many of their families received supplementary "county supplies" through an agreement between the Cook county bureau and the Charities.

The United Charities is no longer a relief agency, but deals with problems of family adjustment and other social difficulties. The relief work of this great community must in future years be done by a proper public assistance department of the Cook county bureau of public welfare. It serves no good purpose to minimize the excellent work done by this organization. When President Angell talks about "officialdom and the ward politician not replacing neighborly folk," he is not talking about anything that has the smallest relation to the relief work of the Cook county bureau or its present substitute, the relief administration of the city of Chicago. The Cook county bureau of public welfare has always been on a civil service basis, with appointments from top to bottom on a merit basis. The Chicago relief administration has followed in the same excellent tradition, and Mayor Kelly and the city council have wisely continued the policy of keeping this great relief organization absolutely removed from political influence.

President Angell thinks that "we cannot for decades to come develop a civil service personnel that can handle the relief and welfare problem with anything like the intelligence and skill of the trained personnel of the voluntarily organized charities." As a matter of fact, in the city of Chicago, the workers in the United Charities and the Chicago relief administration are trained in the same schools, and there has been a substantial movement of personnel from one agency to another. Some of the workers in the Chicago relief administration have preferred to transfer when they had an opportunity to go to the United Charities, where there is a very much larger number of workers in proportion to the number of families given care. The so-called "case load" in the United Charities is something like 25 families per worker, whereas in the Chicago relief administration it is nearly 200 families per worker. More efficient service can obviously be given to the families who ask for help if there are nearly ten times as many workers available in proportion to the number of clients; but this has nothing to do with training or careful selection of personnel. The Chicago relief administration is full of former employés of the United Charities, and Mrs. Paige herself, the chief assistant of Mr. Leo Lyons in the family work, is a former district superintendent of that organization. On the other hand, the present superintendent and assistant superintendent of the United Charities were for many years in the public service.

Neighborliness, in the old village sense, has long since disappeared in metropolitan areas except as the poor assist each other; but there is the same spirit of understanding, kindness, sympathy, and eagerness to help on the part of the workers in the public relief agency in Chicago that is found in any of the private charities. No one of us wishes to minimize the importance of good private charities in general, and the work of the United Charities in particular. They are needed to supplement the large scale and basic relief work that is done by the public agencies. But depreciating in any way the important service given in the name of the taxpayers of Chicago, Cook county, and the state of Illinois, does not help the private charities. The Chicago relief administration has been absolutely out of politics, with a staf of workers who have given generously in overtime service and have carried an incredibly heavy burden during the numerous relief crises that the public agencies have faced. Many of us who are glad to pay tribute to the work of the United Charities do not want to make this the basis for questioning the excellence of the service maintained by the public agency and the importance of this service in the community.

ENVOY BULLITT 'KNIGHTED' BY WINE BIBBERS

'Sir William" Taps Cask in French Cellar.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DIJON, France, April 25.—In a cellar known as "Nuitton's place," dug into a clay hillside of the Burgundy countryside at the village of Nuits-St. Georges near here, William C. Bullitt, United States ambassador to France, last evening was knighted.

William C. Bullitt.

But he was not violating any American regulation against accepting titles, for the one he received was purely honorific and the company into whose bosom he was accepted calls itself "Knights of Wine Bibbing"—in French, Chevaliers de Tastevin.

Knows All the Answers.

Bullitt went smiling through the initiation ordeal, which consists of giving the proper answers to a series of questions put by the commander of the order in barbarous Latin-French of the sixteenth century. This language was chosen because it was used by Francois Rabelais, satirist and humorist whom winebibbers venerate as patron.

Bullitt, well coached, knew the answers, the purport of which is that the candidate rejects all morose, puritanical ideas and proclaims allegiance to the cause of good food and drink and plenty of both. Bullitt even added that he had special claims to membership by ancestry, since his family, which 300 years ago spelled its name in the French fashion, Boulet, came from the sunny, joyous province of Languedoc.

A Gargantuan Feast.

Then the insignia of the order was given Bullitt—a ribbon around the neck with a medal and membership certificate adorned with a cluster of grapes in gilt—and he performed the symbolic rite of tapping a huge cask of wine with a mallet, whereupon he was proclaimed a "knight." Charles Codman, Boston author and authority on French wines, was made a knight at the same time.

The whole company then settled down to the serious business of a gargantuan feast on masterpieces of Burgundian cooking, the recipes for which had been exhumed by the Tastevin order from cook books of Rabelais' time [1490-1553].

Special Wines Brought Out.

The feast was washed down with a succession of the greatest Burgundy wines, both white and red, including some special crus [native grown] which the knights—they are mostly winemakers and dealers of the region—reserve for themselves and never put on the market for profane palates.

Among the vintages were Montrachet and Meursault and an extremely rare white of Clos Vougeot, and among the reds were wines from Beaune, Nuits-St.-Georges, and Aloxe-Corton, leading up to a climax which was a magnificent 1919 Gervey-Chambertin.

GUNMAN, 14 YEARS OLD, THREATENS GIRL AND BATTLES POLICE

A girl's screams in Sheridan park, Polk and May streets, led to the arrest early today of a diminutive gunman—14 years old—who attempted to battle three policemen. He is Armando Fosco, 1130 Taylor street, a pupil at the Montefiore school for incorrigibles.

He and Daniel Dadamo, 15 years old, 1072 Taylor street, took two schoolgirls, one 15 years old, the other 16, into the park at midnight. The Fosco boy allegedly threatened one of them with a gun. She screamed, and a neighborhood resident who heard her called police.

Sergt. Harry Bingham and Policemen Anthony Trifone, Eugene Spain, and John Lamb of the Maxwell street station hurried to the park. Young Fosco fled straight into the arms of Bingham, Trifone, and Lamb, but drew a gun from his holster. The policemen, seeing he was a boy, overpowered him instead of shooting.

EVANSTON MAYOR PLANS MERGING OF CITY OFFICES

Henry D. Penfield, newly elected mayor of Evanston, will submit his slate of appointments for the various city offices at the council meeting tonight. It was reported yesterday that Mayor Penfield will merge several offices.

Chief William O. Freeman, who has headed the police department for the last ten years, will remain, it was reported. Other city appointees expected to remain are Health Commissioner Dr. John W. H. Pollard and Controler Lawrence K. Knapp.

Wesley W. Polk, head of the water department, is expected to be commissioner of public work. As such he would take over the duties of the water department, which is to be dissolved. S. J. Ingraham, newly elected city treasurer, is to take over the office of city collector. He was head of that office before his election. Edward M. Goodman will be retained as building commissioner.

City's New Fire Boat Is Put Into Service

Chicago's new fireboat, the Fred A. Busse, was placed in service yesterday at the Franklin street bridge. The boat, which arrived Saturday night from Bay City, Mich., where it was built, is the largest Diesel powered fireboat ever built. It can pump 10,000 gallons of water per minute and has a maximum speed of 15 miles per hour.

White Trims Smartest of Black Sheers

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Nothing can compare with the sleek snap of a black and white outfit. After viewing one grand collection of such spectacular black and white combines we stress three points.

First, the stunning sheer blacks, with mere outlines of spanking white, and the black and white embroidered sheers trimmed with white.

Second, the all black dresses with the trimmest of cool white bolero-ish jacket tops.

Third, the dramatic black with white dinner and dance dresses.

Every one will get into sheer black as soon as she dares. The first warm day will see dozens of unusual ensembles. From the current showing we nominate for fame and fashion service through a sultry summer season the marquisettes that are rows of stitching, the cable nets, worn over taffeta slips, the chiffons worn with white lace or black lace bolero, and the crisp organzas, made with brief sleeves, flared skirts, high clever necklines, and a narrow belt.

You'll like a stunning black marquisette trimmed with black taffeta, the taffeta cut in leaf design, and appliqued to the coat and facing the cuffs and the hem of the skirt. Black lace is used for the hem band and the top of a skin fitting dull crêpe slip. Over the slip is a transparent black fine chiffon in soft folds. Shirring accents the skirt at the hip and the bodice top at the shoulder lines.

See these fast moving black and white sheers designed for afternoon and cocktail service.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Because we love fine perfumes and cherish them as we would gilt edged securities or emeralds we are very much enamored of a new spill proof perfume flacon for the purse. It's a prize package for the woman who likes to carry a small bit of perfume about with her but who can't bear the anguish of losing so much as a drop of the precious stuff—as she surely will if her purse flacon is the usual faulty kind.

This perfume guardian, which some punster has named a "scentinel" is really a tightly stoppered glass vial encased in a metal sheath about the size of those gold watches our grandmothers used to wear. You yank off the metal top to get at the little bottle. It's a smart looking little thing and not too expensive. The gold plated edition is most reasonable.

If you want to be elegant you can choose yours in sterling silver and have it monogrammed. This last, by the way, would be a charming and unusual bridesmaid's gift—personal, chic, useful and not expensive enough to add too much to the bride's papa's burden.

You can fill this with the perfume that most delights your soul, of course, but it is the offering of an English woman who makes a divine gardenia fragrance—easily one of the best on the market. You can buy it filled with some of this or empty to fill as you choose.

The tight metal sheath cuts down marvelously on evaporation, that bane of all perfume lovers, and the tight stopper on the bottle prevents the expensive accident of spilling all over the place. You'll find these in two shops around town.

Adviser Gives Data on Figure Measurements

Here Are Proportions for You to Seek.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Herewith is a formula of proportionate measurements which have been worked out, after considerable study, by a student of the feminine figure.

You begin with the height of the figure in stocking feet. From the height determine what the bust measurements should be.

For 5 feet in height—30 inch bust measurement.

For 5 feet 1 inch—31 inch bust measurement.

For 5 feet 2 inches—32 inch bust measurement.

And so on. The bust measure exceeds 30 inches by the same number of inches that the height exceeds 5 feet.

Hips being the popular offenders against these proportionate measurements, I am going to outline a few exercises which will be found helpful. Here they are:

Lie flat on your back. Raise the right leg, cross it over the left and stretch it. Roll over on your hips and repeat with the left leg. Try to keep shoulders stationary. Do this ten times morning and night.

Support the body on hands and toes; rise up and down. It's not an easy exercise, so go carefully the first few times. Chop wood. Begin with hands high overhead, knees straight. Swing at the waist and down one side, then down the other side. Lie on the back with arms fully extended to the rear of the head. Rise to a sitting position smartly. Touch hands to toes, stretch the back and shoulders. Return to original position slowly.

Lie face downward, arms extended to the front. Raise and lower the right leg, extended, then the left. Alternate with extended legs.

Lie on your back, arms by your sides. Raise the right leg, extended, and lower slowly. Same with the left leg. Alternate the right and left leg. Raise both legs. Be sure to lower the legs slowly.

Jacoby Wins Bridge Title Second Time with New Partner

New York, April 25.—(AP)—Oswald Jacoby, leader of the Four Aces, today became the first defending champion to repeat in the United States Bridge association's national championships.

Playing with a new partner, Lester Bachner of New York, Jacoby defeated 28 entrants in the open pair championship. The two had a grand total of 450.5 points, and the final session's high of 236.

Their nearest rivals, the New York combination of M. D. Maier and Waldemar K. Von Zedtwitz, had a grand total of 426.

Third place went to Lillian A. Peck and Lewis A. Bernard, also of New York, with 416.9. Bernard is formerly of Cincinnati.

Last year Jacoby won the pair championship with David Burnstine, a member of the Four Aces, who are competing in the team of four final tomorrow against the Minnesota quartet of M. Schanfield, S. Sanders, Edward Burns, and Len Reiter.

At the end of the first half of the mixed team of four event this afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson and Mrs. Peck and Bernard were leading with 19 points.

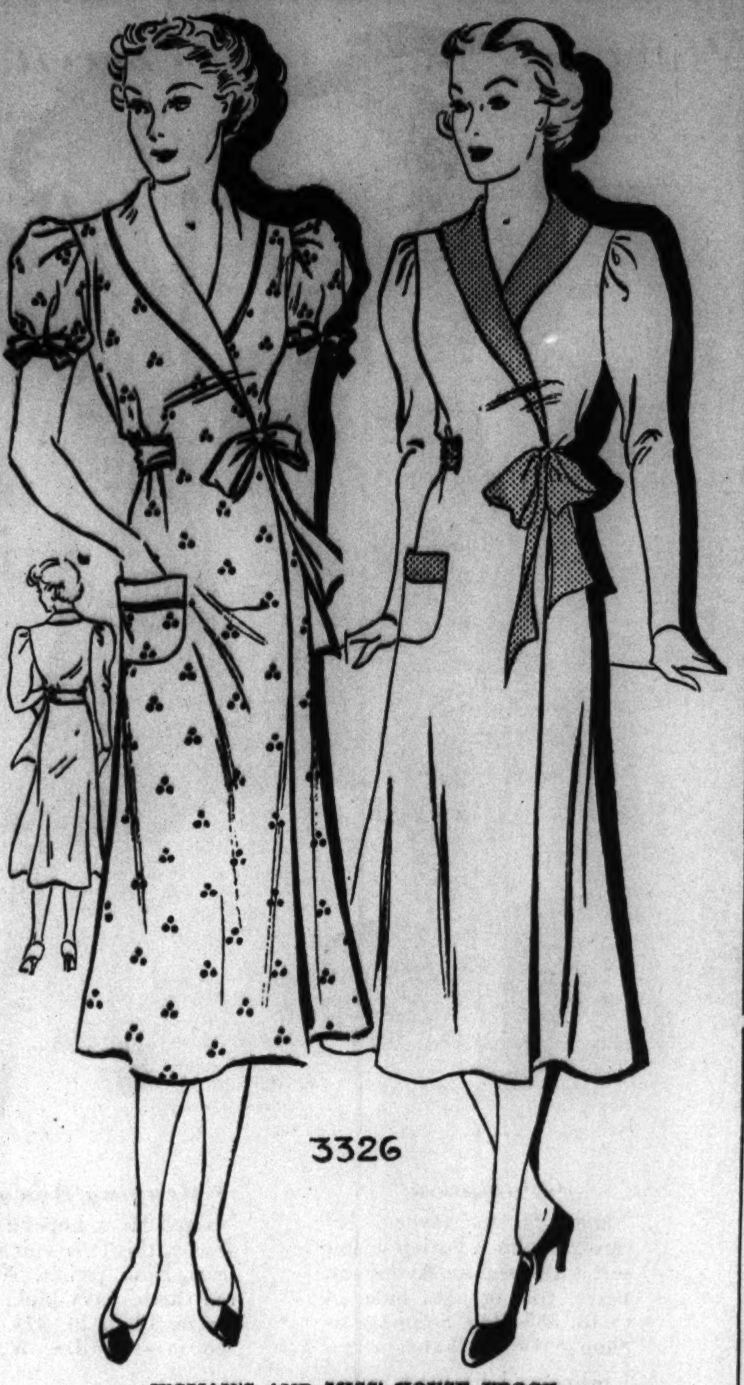
House Frock an Ideal Model



WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOUSE FROCK.

Comfort, figure flattery, practicality and chic all are incorporated in this simple yet delightfully feminine frock to be worn during the long hours around the house. This is the sort of garment which matrons and young brides will appreciate equally well, since the pattern is a versatile one, suiting itself to various types of tastes and silhouettes.

This model features a V neckline, which is exceedingly comfortable. It is embellished with an attractive surplice collar which extends to the waistline. The sleeves are puffed at the shoulders just like those of any street dress, and they may be either long or short. Since this pattern is a wrap-around model, the garment does not have to be slipped over the head, a feature in its favor, of course. The sash is drawn through a slashed opening at the right side of the waist, and ties in a generous bow at the left. A generous pocket does duty on the skirt.

The original of this model is created in washable cotton of a bright thistle shade with white dots. White waffle pique is used as contrast. This one-piece garment, which is so easy to make, may be fashioned of any of the innumerable and fascinating cottons one finds in the shops.

Style No. 3326 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material, with 1 yard of 39 inch contrasting and 10 yards of binding.

O, the inconsistency of the English language! A whip may be what the circus man cracks, what the naughty boy fears,, or something very delicious for dessert. It's the dessert whip that is most appealing right now—the uncooked, easily made, fluffy fruit or ginger whip. These recipes are easy to follow, and the results are O, so good!

Prune Whip.

[Serves Six.]

- ½ pound prunes, cooked and sieved
- ¼ cup orange juice
- ⅓ cup sugar
- 2 egg whites
- ½ cup cream, whipped

Add orange juice and sugar to the prune pulp. Whip egg whites and cream separately until stiff. Fold the prune pulp lightly but thoroughly into the egg whites and fold in the whipped cream lightly. Pile into tall serving glasses and serve alone or with custard or orange sauce. Apricots or other dried fruit may be served in the same way. Part lemon juice may be added with the orange juice as another variation. The whip will require a bit more sweetening if lemon juice is used.

Strawberry Whip.

[Serves Six.]

- 1 cup strawberries, chopped
- 7 tablespoons sugar
- 2 egg whites
- ½ cup whipping cream

Allow berries and sugar to stand together for a short time. Whip the egg whites until stiff, and fold the berries and sugar into them. Whip the cream and fold in last. Pile into dessert glasses and serve with a garnish of whole strawberries.

Ginger Whip.

[Serves Five.]

- 1 cup whipping cream
- 24 gingersnaps, crushed
- ¼ cup cream mints, crushed

Whip the cream until stiff and fold in the crushed gingersnaps and mints. Chill and serve in sherbet glasses.

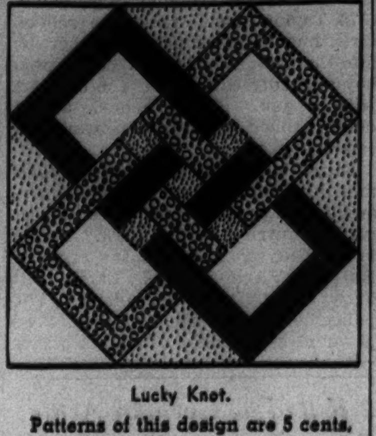
Marshmallow Fruit Whip.

[Serves Ten.]

- 3 cups cooked dried prunes
- 4 slices pineapple
- 1 cup prune and pineapple juice
- 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
- 18 marshmallows
- ½ pint whipping cream
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Pit the prunes and cut them in pieces. Cut pineapple in pieces. Soften gelatin in ¼ cup of the fruit juice and dissolve in the remaining fruit juice heated to the boiling point. Cut marshmallows into small pieces. Whip the cream. When the gelatin has cooled and partly set, combine all ingredients, blending thoroughly. Chill and serve in dessert glasses.

"Lucky Knot" Is a Lovely Quilt Gift to Friend



Lucky Knot.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Lucky Knot" is one of the old knot patterns which have held popularity for generations. This is a large block set together with printed and plain materials to bring out the knot effect in the pattern. An entire coverlet composed of "Lucky Knots" was supposed to be a good luck charm for the recipient if made and given by a close friend. It is not a difficult quilt to make, and it would be a charming gesture to present your closest friend with a coverlet done in this design.

Author Shown an Altruist by His Pen Marks

Writing of Lloyd Douglas Given Analysis.

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

Lloyd Douglas, author of "Magnificent Obsession," has a practical business-like form of altruism expressed in his book. His handwriting tells why.

Lloyd C Douglas

Although it is some time since I have read the book, I still remember that the underlying theme was a simple remedy for being happy. You just did things for others without letting them know the source.

The first thing that occurs to any one reading the book is that he really can't think of any one who needs help as much as those in the book. Mr. Douglas' handwriting reveals the type of y that means two apparently unrelated things, unselfishness and aggressiveness. He is not only willing to help others but he is willing to go and find others to help! That is the y you find in the word "Lloyd," in which the loop turns to the right rather than to the left as is customary.

I haven't the slightest doubt that Lloyd Douglas practices everything he preaches. In fact when I met him I had not read "Magnificent Obsession" nor heard about it, as it had just come out. When I told him that he was aggressively altruistic and would go out of his way to do things for others that he would not do for himself, the quizzical expression on his face puzzled me. Of course later I realized that he must have thought I had been reading his latest book.

Your Handwriting Analysed

Any Tribune reader can obtain a personal graphology chart showing his or her assets, handicaps, talents, and emotions by following these rules:

1. Send sample of handwriting to Muriel Stafford, Chicago Tribune, post-office box 1720.
2. Inclose 10 cents (carefully wrapped) for each sample of handwriting you wish analysed.
3. Inclose a self-addressed, STAMPED envelope, folded once.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

THE DOUBLE OF ONE NO TRUMP.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

A sharp distinction must be drawn between the take-out double of a suit and the take-out double of one no trump.

In the first place, most opening no trump bids are made with strong hands, increasing the likelihood that the doubler's partner will be weak and subject to a penalty double. In addition to this the doubler must face the probability that the no trump hand has strength in every suit, so that it is difficult to find a hand which is prepared for any response partner may make, and it is equally difficult to consider any possible escape suit "safe."

An additional consideration is that, while the take-out double of a suit bid discourages a penalty pass by partner, the double of one no trump welcomes a penalty pass if partner has the slightest excuse for making one.

TODAY'S HAND.

A player need not be even mildly expert to realize that a bid from one opponent or the other identifies him with high card strength. When both opponents have bid it requires a certain amount of thought to determine their respective high card holdings. Consider today's hand:

West, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

NORTH
♥ K Q J 3
♦ 8 6 5
♣ K 9

WEST
♠ K J 8 3 2
♥ 7 6
♦ Q 9 4
♣ A 8 2

EAST
♠ 7
♥ 8 2
♦ A K J 10 3 2
♣ Q 7 5 4

SOUTH
♠ A 10 6
♥ A 10 9 5 4
♦ 7
♣ J 10 6 3

Match point duplicate game. The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 diamond	1 heart
1 spade	3 hearts	Pass	4 hearts
Pass	Pass	Pass

Obviously North and South bid their hands to the limit, North's jump heart raise being particularly questionable.

West opened the queen of diamonds and, after viewing the dummy, promptly shifted to the deuce of clubs. Declarer, without more than a second's hesitation, put on dummy's king, which held the trick. Two rounds of trumps were drawn and there was no difficulty in holding the opponents to one club and one spade, in addition to the diamond already conceded.

The club guess had been the crux of the hand, but in sober truth it had been an easy guess. True, East had opened the bidding, but had taken no action whatsoever after that one bid. West had overcalled the heart with a spade, and from that fact, and the spades in sight, East must be very short of spades. Surely, with shortness in his partner's suit, the ace-king of diamonds [marked from the opening lead] and the club ace, East would have doubled the final four heart contract. That he had not done so was 98 per cent proof that he did not have the club ace.

It is unfortunate that players often go wrong on guesses that are just as easy as this one.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Dealer opened with a bid of three spades. Next hand, my partner, doubled. Third hand passed. Should I respond with hearts or let the three spade bid stand with the following: ♠ 8 6 ♥ Q J 8 7 5 ♦ A 3 ♣ 10 8 7 5.

Answer: Bid four hearts.

Tomorrow's Hand

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K 5 4 3 2
♥ Q 9 6 4
♦ K 5 3

WEST
♠ J 9 8
♥ 10
♦ 9 8 4 3
♣ Q 8 7 4 2

EAST
♠ Q 10 6
♥ 8 3
♦ J 10 7
♣ K 10 6 5 3

SOUTH
♠ A 7
♦ A Q 6
♣ J 9

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

JO-JOTTE POINTER.

When your opponent bids a suit at Jo-Jotte the bidding does not necessarily end there. You still may double [if you are sure of defeating the contract] or bid no trump. A suit bid may not be overcalled, you remember, with another suit, but only with no trump.

The no trump overcall is highly advantageous if you make your contract. Your opponent's jack and nine of trumps are reduced from their position as the highest cards in the deck to a status of almost complete worthlessness. The absence of a trump suit makes it easier for you to win tricks with your aces and tens. But you must have those aces and tens, because, if you are outscored, you will almost certainly lose a game, and your opponent might not have scored 80 points for game at his trump suit.

'Internes Can't Take Money' Is Well Told Tale

Cast, Photography, Dialog Will Delight.

"INTERNES CAN'T TAKE MONEY."
Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Alfred Santell.
From a story by Max Brand.
Presented at the Chicago theater.

THE CAST.

Janet Haley	Barbara Stanwyck
Jimmie Kildare	Joel McCrea
Hanlon	Lloyd Nolan
Innes	Stanley Ridges
Interne Jones	Gaylord Pendleton
Interne Weeks	Lee Bowman
Jeff	Irving Bacon
"Stooly" Martin	Barry Macollum
Dr. Fearson	Pierre Watkin

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Calling all internes! Calling all internes!

To announce that the picture at the Chicago is right down their alley.

True, their lives may never have been colored by any such melodrama as flings a florid hue over the career of young Dr. Kildare. But the work of most budding medics DOES often lead them into strange places, and cause them to rub up many varieties of people. And so they will probably find not too incredible what happens to Kildare through his chance meeting with a girl whose burned arm he treats in clinic.

She has a lovely smile, and she looks at the doc with long lashed, appealing brown eyes that, suddenly, glow in response to the interest he so patently shows that he feels for her. . . . And then—she faints! From malnutrition.

If Interne Kildare was intrigued before, what do you think he is then? Right!

Well—the lady proves to be the widow of a slain bank robber. And for two years she has been frantically and unsuccessfully searching to find her baby girl, wrested from her by her husband. . . .

Across from the hospital is a saloon where internes drop in to drink beer and racketeers rendezvous. Here Janet comes to seek information from one Innes, as to the whereabouts of her baby, and here Kildare saves the life of the boss of a deadly gang, winning that blackguard's undying gratitude and a regard which makes him assume the rôle of nursemaid to the young man who had refused to accept pay for the invaluable service rendered because of a hospital rule forbidding internes to accept money. The doc must do no wrong. [This point, I understand was more prominently stressed in the original story.]

You must see the picture for developments, which are exciting and interesting and expertly kneaded into a well rounded whole.

The cast was astutely chosen. Joel McCrea is perfect as the independent, fearless, humane hero. Barbara Stanwyck makes Janet an appealing heroine. She DOES cry so beautifully. Lloyd Nolan as the boss is characteristically cold. Stanley Ridges makes Innes a fearsome heel. Other denizens of the underworld are effectively portrayed; there's many an example of brilliant "bit" work and some touching orphan tots get right at your heart.

Staging, photography and dialog delight.

An interne with the price of a ticket should really take in this number. And the girl friend will like it too—always supposing there's the price of more than ONE ticket in the white jeans. [Which isn't likely.]

See you tomorrow.

THIS morning we give you, for your passing notice, the man who lives in a three story apartment building on Constance avenue who has conceived a kind of Rube Goldberg contraption to add to his cat's happiness and comfort. The cat—a common so-called alley variety—walks out of the dining room window on the second floor through a screen-enclosed wooden trough that spans the backyard to the screen-enclosed, catnip-planted garage roof. When he tires of this penthouse he travels down another runway into a fenced-in garden.

LETTER from a Chicago father [Clarence Banks] to an instructor at the Dixon school:

"Dear Miss Tormey:

"You undoubtedly are cognizant of the high mortality rate of septuagenarian grandparents at this time of the year. It seems strange that such demise annually occurs at the inception of the baseball season. I believe that in the felicitous days of one's adolescence it is unfortunate that such tragedy should always occur on a school day.

"With a sanguine expectation that you will not think it amiss for Charles to absent himself from school on Friday afternoon in order that he may attend the sad interment rites at Comiskey park, along with his father, I remain,

"Yours very truly,
"CLARENCE C. BANKS."

AS a group of Grinnell college alumni conversed in a New York City hotel elevator one of them asked, "Does Haile Selassie still call himself emperor?" A bright looking young man replied, "I believe so. I had a card from him the other day and he signed himself 'Haile Selassie, Emperor.'" The elevator man, who had one ear cocked for the conversation, gave the Grinnellians a quick and scornful look that said plainly, "What a lousy joke." He did not know, of course, that the young man was John Spenser, Grinnell graduate and one-time confidential adviser to Selassie.

IN the morning mail. "I never quite believed your story about the pickle girl, but the other afternoon while I was having tea in a loop tearoom I saw her myself. I sat through three orders of pickles which the waitress brought her heaped on some lettuce leaves. No telling how many she ate after I left. While watching her I thought of the following:

She sat in the tearoom with abstracted air,
Sallow her skin and lacklustre her hair;
She looked like a sad and small starving bird.
The waitress brought pickles—the order her third.

Arts Club Puts Professionals' Work on View

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

One of the most eagerly anticipated exhibits each spring is that of paintings and sculpture by professional members of the Arts club at the Arts club. The exhibition opened yesterday with a formal reception and today is open to the public. The exhibit will continue on view to May 15.

It is an unusually well informed and brilliant show. The paintings cover a wide range of territory, both in subject and in technique. The sculpture, as usual, is less in evidence, but the few pieces presented are each in turn admirable—from Sylvia Shaw Judson's boy, "Dreamer," to the weathervane of sea gulls, by Louise Van Hess Young.

There are several important portraits on the walls. Paul Trebilcock shows a stunning likeness of the late Col. T. A. Siqueland, done with the force, vigor, and brilliance of his work of some ten years ago. Col. Siqueland makes a fine figure of a man and wears the quizzical, friendly expression which those who knew him in life remember so well.

The portrait of Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, by Beatrice Violet Wenner, is dignified and handsome; that of Mrs. F. Alan Dawson, by Anna Lynch, is perfectly delightful, perhaps the most charming painting in the exhibit. "C. H.," by Elisabeth Telling, is an attractive head of a young boy. The challenging portrait of Col. Robert R. McCormick by Amy McCormick is very effective. Beatrice S. Levy has achieved a cheerful canvas with "Miss Essington" as model and Leonore S. Jerrems shows an adorable small girl, "Phœbe Ann Mason."

Ivan Le Lorraine Albright plays perilously near the border of sarcasm in "And God Created Man in His Own Image," for as one looks upon the muscular creature whom Mr. Albright has chosen to paint, one needs must mutter, "Poor God!" The quaintest composition in the show and one that is reminiscent of Jean Hugo and his exquisite miniature paintings is "Quartet," by Frances S. Badger. Frederic Clay Bartlett Jr. offers an interesting little snowscape, "Top of Whiteface" and, not to be beaten by his son, Mr. Bartlett Sr. gives us a stunning glimpse of a merry-go-round with turbulent horses chaffing at their wooden limitations, "Carrousel Death."

The lovely "Portrait of Miss Fredrica Pratt," by Cecil Clark Davis, must not be overlooked, even in an appreciative survey of "Roman Lamp," by Magda Heuermann; "The Garden of Santa Anita," by Charles P. Killgore; "Provincetown," by Pauline Palmer; "Flaming Eucalyptus," by Anna Lee Stacey; "Waldorf-Castoria," by Thomas Tallmadge; "Sea Island Beach," by Mary Tilt; "Things," by Alma Wells; "Still Life," by Katherine Wolcott; "Morning Walk," by Gerald Frank; "Flower Arrangement," by Nina Griffin, and "Monhegan, Maine," by Antimo Beneduce.

Celli's Ballet Wins the Day Without Music

Gives All-Italian Program in Orchestra Hall.

BY CECIL SMITH.

The mere absence of a musical accompaniment was not enough to discourage Vincenzo Celli and his ballet group from beginning their scheduled program—45 minutes late, to be sure—at Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon. When the missing pianist, a Californian unused to the vagaries of our local manner of handling the clock, finally appeared, half the program was over, and Mr. Celli had long since emphatically won the day.

Cheers of gratitude to Mr. Celli are in order, for his dancing and his choreography are both of the first water. With this former leading dancer of Milan's La Scala Opera house in our midst once again, the future of the ballet in Chicago is full of attractive prospects.

Mr. Celli chose to reintroduce himself to the city of his boyhood in an all-Italian program. This restriction upon the national origin of the various dances did not in the least produce a stereotype. From the spontaneous dash of the Rossini "Tarantelle," an item from his repertoire of the days of his association with Pavlowa, to the stylized pictures entitled "Italian Museum Pieces," Mr. Celli's own dancing utilized a wide range of masterly movement, rooted in the ballet tradition.

At the Goodman theater the able accompaniments of Jean Williams were effectively in evidence as Marian Van Tuyl and her group of four girls gave their first modern dance recital in the downtown area. Miss Van Tuyl already has many distinctive accomplishments to her credit on the University of Chicago campus. Moved to a professional environment, her dancing seemed neither academic nor amateur. In her understanding of the vocabulary of movement Miss Van Tuyl stands at the head of the list of modern dancers in Chicago. As yet her own dancing, while extremely good, does not quite possess the ultimate finish we may expect to see her achieve in the next few years. Her group compositions, on the other hand, are delightfully well rounded, though they sometimes tend toward too fragmentary themes of movement.

The San Carlo Opera company closed its 1936-'37 season with a performance of "Il Trovatore" at the Auditorium theater last night. Dreda Aves was the best actress and Bianca Saroya the best vocalist in a cast which also included three shouting men, Aroldo Lindi, Mostyn Thomas, and Harold Kravitt. Carlo Peroni conducted with great verve.

This satisfying operatic troupe has prospered as usual this last week and will return in the fall.

Joan Bendelle, a dramatic soprano in the making, sang ysterday in the Drake hotel ballroom. She is still a tyro in the mechanics of singing and needs several years more of well directed study. But the essential vocal material is there and it can give her a good future if she does not force herself into a professional career too soon.

Three Colored Choruses Give Joint Concert

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Olivet choir and the Federal and Laredef Glee clubs, resident Negro singing groups, joined forces yesterday for an afternoon concert at the Civic Opera house. W. E. Myricks and William Henry Smith divided the conductor's duties between them.

The program included Negro spirituals, standard European ecclesiastical music, excerpts from operas, and modern sacred and secular songs. A good size audience applauded vigorously and sought to make still longer a program of generous length.

There was much to praise in the emotionally potent tone qualities of good Negro voices, something to censure in the stiff, metronome-like tempo and lack of tonal variety that marred a performance of an excerpt from "The Messiah."

The Saint Louis A Cappella choir, William B. Heyne, director, yesterday made the Studebaker theater the third stop of a short spring tour. An unusually serious program which consisted almost entirely of sacred music revealed an ensemble capable of delicately beautiful effects and possessed of remarkable musicianship. In an extremely difficult number, the Saint Louis choir occasionally allows its efforts to surmount technical obstacles to engage its whole attention.

Emily Boettcher, young Evanston pianist who knows how to give a phrase ample definition and even emphasis without allowing her playing to become harsh, performed the solo part of the Leo Weiner Concertino yesterday afternoon. The occasion was the regular Sunday concert of the Illinois Symphony orchestra, Izler Solomon directing. The program was packed with first performances. Besides the Concertino, there were scheduled the Sibelius "Pohjola's Daughter" and Fuleihan's "Meditteranean" suite. None of these works has been heard previously in a public presentation here. The Rossetter G. Cole Symphonic Prelude appears twice in the Chicago Symphony orchestra's performance record.

The Chicago Lithuanian chorus "Pirmyn," an amateur, non-profit musical organization supported by the contributions of sponsors and the proceeds from public appearances, gave a creditable performance of Donizetti's "The Elixir of Love" at the Goodman theater last night. Adina and Nemorino were sung by Alice Salaveicik-Stephens and Victor Bender, respectively. Charles Stephens conducted.

Children's Aid Benefit

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. FRANK BERING.

Mrs. Frank Bering wears crisp white flowers on her tiny spring bonnet as she works on plans for the all day "Merry-Go-Round" benefit to be given by the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society at the Lake Shore Athletic club on April 30.

Mrs. Barrett Wendell Jr. is general chairman for the affair. Sports events will be a feature of the benefit, so men as well as women will find much to interest them at the party. Mrs. Potter Palmer III. is chairman of a group of young women who will sell cigarets. In the group will be Miss Camilla Alsop of Boston, Lee Higginson Wendell's fiancée, Miss Margaret Mitchell, Miss Ethel Johnston, Miss Margot Reid, Mrs. Theodore Tieken, Miss Sylvia Peter, Miss Ethel Husband, Miss Pauline Palmer, and Miss Annie May Henry.

Mrs. Wendell's daughter, Mrs. Horace H. Soule, has come from Boston to help her mother plan the benefit and for a visit.

The society will open its new clinic at 4753 Broadway at 10:30 o'clock this morning in observance of National Youth week.

Southern Women's Group to Hear N. Y. Leader Today

The Southern Woman's Educational alliance will sponsor a luncheon and lecture by Mrs. Henry Lane Schmelz of New York today at the Arts club. Mrs. Schmelz, who is vice president of the New York branch of the alliance, will speak on the educational and vocational work of the organization in Kentucky.

City's Jubilee Group to Give Art Exhibition

Opens Showing of French Paintings May 4.

BY JUDITH CASS.

SINCE Chicago, artistically speaking, is most famous perhaps for its rich collections of 19th century French paintings, many of them assembled by men who also have contributed much to Chicago's fame in other fields, an announcement Chicago's jubilee committee on art is making today will seem a fitting climax to the city's first 100 years of artistic progress.

An exhibition of French 19th century paintings that Dr. Robert B. Harshe, director of the Art institute, has called "the most important ever shown in a private gallery in this city" will be held at the Quest galleries on Tower court from May 4 to 15. Preceding the public showing a private preview and tea will take place the afternoon of May 3 from 3 until 6:30 o'clock.

Chicago's charter jubilee committee on art, headed by Chauncey McCormick, is sponsoring the exhibition as a feature of the city's centennial celebration. The show will be presented through the courtesy of Wildenstein & Co. of New York and the Quest art galleries, with Cezanne, Degas, Lautrec, Manet, Matisse, Picasso, Renoir, Seurat, and Van Gogh among the artists represented. Expenses are being taken care of by the committee and the galleries, so all proceeds will go to charity.

Harshe to Evaluate Exhibition on May 4.

What is certain to be an interesting evaluation of the collection will be given by Dr. Harshe at the Quest galleries at 4:45 o'clock on Tuesday, May 4. Daniel C. Rich, associate curator of painting and sculpture at the Art institute, also will speak at the galleries at a later date. The Art institute of course, is known the world over for its collections of paintings of this period, including those given by the late Martin A. Ryerson, the late Cyrus H. McCormick, the late Mrs. L. L. Coburn, and Frederic Clay Bartlett.

The jubilee committee, besides Mr. McCormick, includes Mr. and Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S.

THE TRAP

By Elizabeth Jordan

[Copyright: 1937: by Elizabeth Jordan]

INSTALMENT I.

IN A DOCTOR'S OFFICE.

Vance was beginning to feel at home in Doctor Cunningham's waiting room. He had been there half a dozen times. He knew the patterns of the rugs and the subjects of the pictures. He even knew the tables of contents in the stale magazines on the reading table. He had also established pleasant relations with Miss Rogers, the doctor's nurse, who presided at a flat top desk near the door leading to her employer's private office. Miss Rogers was young and small. She had a plain, likable little face and brilliantly intelligent blue eyes.

At first her manner to Vance had been almost as stiffly starched as her white linen uniform, but he had changed all that. He was a big, friendly young man, with a nice face and an ingratiating smile. She had become quite cordial, so cordial that now she was introducing him to another patient—a pretty girl who had just emerged from the inner office.

"Miss French lives in the same apartment hotel you do," Miss Rogers said brightly. "I noticed the coincidence when I looked over your cards."

Vance remembered Miss French. He had seen her several times in the elevator of the building, and once before in Cunningham's waiting room. She had very striking hair, copper red in tone, and the greenish gray eyes and clear complexion usually associated with such hair. She had an air of sophistication and assurance that was much older than her face. He decided that she was about 23. If she remembered him she did not show it as they acknowledged the introduction. He felt snubbed and disappointed.

"I'm sorry you have to wait longer, Mr. Vance," Miss Rogers said sincerely. "You're the last patient of the afternoon. I crowded you in when you telephoned this morning, because it was Doctor Cunningham's last day in the office. It has been a terrible day for us all. He's sailing for Europe at midnight, to be gone all summer. The house will be closed and Phillips, his valet, and I have had to put it in order this week, besides handling the rush of patients these final days."

"He's going very suddenly, isn't he?" Miss French asked. "I thought he'd be here till the first of June. I expected to drop in every week and have him tell me something new and interesting to take for my insomnia. But it's far too mild a case to interest him. Besides, he's only interested in hearts anyway. I was allowed to creep in because he knew my father. He hasn't really paid any attention to me."

Vance gave her a boyish grin.

"You don't look as if you had insomnia," he assured her. But she did—rather, now that he studied her more closely. She was too thin for her height and there was a strained expression in those gray-green eyes. He liked her voice, which was a nice contralto, and her manner, which was friendly and informal. It was great luck to meet her this way. Now when they met in the elevator of their home building——

Something blew past him. It was a middle aged temperamental man who while waiting for the doctor had spent most of his time feverishly looking at his watch. Now through with his consultation, he hurled himself toward the exit with breathless speed. The waiting room door slammed after him. The nurse shook her head, then changed the gesture into a nod to Vance.

"You may go in now," she told him.

Vance turned hopefully to his new acquaintance.

"My car's at the door. May I drive you home? I don't think I'll be in there more than a few minutes."

But he was. Miss French, deep in an animated discussion on insomnia with Lucy Rogers, had not counted the passing minutes. Miss Rogers, half her professional mind still centered on final services for a helpless and much spoiled bachelor employer, was not so unconscious of the march of time. Her face grew grave.

"Odd that the doctor is keeping Mr. Vance so long," she said.

As she spoke the door opened suddenly and the big young man swung through it. The nurse looked at him and spoke to him quietly.

"What's the matter?"

The question seemed to bring Vance back to knowledge of his surroundings. He drew a quick breath, shook his big shoulders, and smiled with stiff lips.

"Nothing," he said. To Miss French he now tossed a curt apology. "Sorry to have kept you waiting."

But he made no move toward her. He continued to stand still, looking around him with an expression of uncertainty. With the calm efficiency of one used to odd human manifestations Miss Rogers urged him into a chair and simultaneously opened a drawer of her desk. She took out a bottle and a glass, poured a little of the liquid from the bottle into the glass and offered it to him.

"Drink that," she ordered.

Vance drank the liquid. It did its benign work. He stood up, with another shake of his shoulders.

"That's better," he said. "Thanks a lot. Ready, Miss French?"

He had really remembered her at last. Alida French shook her head.

"I don't think you ought to go just yet," she suggested. "Shouldn't he rest longer, Miss Rogers?"

Miss Rogers nodded, watched Vance. Then she opened the door, apparently with an impulse to speak to the doctor. The inner office was empty. The physician had evidently retreated through a rear door into his study. Miss Rogers hesitated. Vance, master of himself again, read her dilemma.

"All right now," he assured her. He crossed the room, picked up the hat and gave Alida a dim imitation of a carefree smile. She wavered uncertainly.

"I'm afraid you oughtn't go out yet," she repeated.

"I need the air," he assured her. "Can you drive a car?"

"Yes."

"Good. So can I, though you may not think so after my little exhibition just now. However, we'll put you behind the wheel."

Vance held out his hand.

"Good-by, Miss Rogers. Thanks awfully. I hope you'll have a long vacation this summer."

"Too long," she smiled. "All summer. I'm going to find a lodge in some vast wilderness and dig myself in. I need a rest almost as much as Doctor Cunningham does."

She was walking with them through the hall to the front door of the house. There she checked Vance's reach for the door knob.

"Going to be home tonight?" she asked Alida French. "If you are I might drop in about 8. I'd like awfully to have your advice about where to go and what to do with all my leisure this summer."

"I'll be glad to see you," Alida said. Vance laughed shortly.

"You might let me into the conference. I'm under orders to rest this summer, too."

Miss French's charming face brightened.

"Then that's what upset you!" she said quickly. "All your plans to be changed at the last minute. Work under way dropped, and that sort of thing. No wonder you looked like a stunned gladiator."

"Did I? I must learn not to show my emotions so artlessly."

Side by side they walked down the steps of the brownstone house and out to the curb, where his roadster was waiting.

Alida took the wheel of the roadster.

"Nice little car," she remarked as she started it. Vance glanced at the face of his wrist watch. It was almost 6 o'clock.

"Look here," he said abruptly, "don't let's go home right away. Be an angel of mercy. Have dinner with me somewhere now that we're properly set. I feel as blue as the devil," he added somberly.

She was sympathetic.

"I know. It gives one a shock to have all one's plans changed without warning. I'll be glad to dine with you, if you really want me to."

William H. Schmalfields to Observe Golden Day

Bloomington, Ill., April 25.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. William H. Schmalfield of Bloomington will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Wednesday with an informal reception from 2 to 5 o'clock and from 7 to 9 at their home.

TRUTH TO TELL

INSTALMENT XXXVII.

WRONGS RIGHTED.

Jonathan, opening the door, found himself faced by an enemy in close formation.

"Well, Susan?" he said, in much his usual manner, but he was looking at his grandson, this other Sommerville who would never, he supposed, have anything but contempt for the name.

"This is my brother," said Sue, abrupt as he had always known her.

"How do you do," said Mr. Dubenny aloofly.

If they were absurd, the old man was not in the mood to notice; he was too bitter at the mischief which had been done, and at his own failure to see it long ago.

"You have been badly used, my boy," he said.

"Not in the least, thanks," declared Malcolm at once, "but I can't say as much for my sister."

"I was referring to your sister, among other things," returned his grandfather, with a faint smile. "Though you may find it difficult to believe it, I have never felt any doubt of your material welfare. I have even consoled myself with the reflection that your guardians were perhaps able to do more for you than I was in a position to do . . . having been led to believe that they had some grudge against my family and refused to give you up."

"They are not given to bearing grudges," declared Malcolm, stiffly.

"So I find. There have been many misconceptions due to causes which I cannot expect you to understand. However, I have talked to your uncle, and have his ready consent to the suggestion I wish to make to you," said his grandfather. "I am not a rich man. Like many other land holders I have had a hard struggle to keep the place that has been in my family—and yours—for two hundred years. I might still save it with your assistance, for you, if you care to make the experiment. . . . You know nothing of country life perhaps, and Susan will have been able to tell you little of credit to Crofter's End. . . . That shall be changed. I make that promise to both of you. . . . Will you try it for six months?"

"I'm sorry, sir," said Malcolm awkwardly. "It is very kind of you but my future is arranged. I am to enter my uncle's firm."

"You would not like time to consider the matter?"

"No, thank you."

The old man did not show his disappointment, which perhaps he had foreseen.

"Quite right. Pay what you owe," he said.

Sue looked from one to the other quickly, with at least a faint idea of how much this offer from her grandfather had entailed, with its promise to both of them; and in that moment she remembered Ella Winch, to whom at least he had been just. Her eyes were a little opened then.

"How can I pay?" she asked anxiously.

Perhaps he, too, saw her for the first time as he heard the question, for he said kindly:

"You have no debt, child. Stay with your brother for the present, as he desires it. That is arranged with your uncle, and the charge shall be mine. He will explain to you by and by."

"I can look after her," protested Malcolm.

"I can earn my living," said Sue.

"An obligation, having been undertaken, must be discharged. When you are independent you may relieve me of it, if you wish," said their grandfather with finality. "You will want your clothes sent on to you, Susan. Is there anything else?"

"No, thank you," said Susan faintly.

"Good!"

He had taken up his hat and stick and was looking round for his sister and Mrs. Lowell. The momentous interview was over.

Standing by the window presently they watched him drive away.

"He didn't even ask me to go back," exclaimed Sue solemnly.

"I should hope not indeed."

"Yes . . . decent of him all the same," said Sue.

Brewster, Thomas E. Donnelley, Mr. and Mrs. Max Epstein, Mr. and Mrs. Howell B. Erminger Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Glore, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed.

Also on the committee are Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Kelly, Col. and Mrs. Frank Knox, Albert D. Lasker, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Col. and Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Worcester.

Receiving at the preview and tea on May 3 will be Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick, Mrs. Charles Harrington Chadwick, Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson, Mrs. John Paul Welling, Mrs. John H. Winterbotham, and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf.

Lunt-Fontanne Tea to Be Orphans of Storm Benefit.

The tea that Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin [Irene Castle] will give for her old friends, Lynn Fontanne and Alfred Lunt, on May 7 will be a benefit for Mrs. McLaughlin's pet charity, Orphans of the Storm. The party will be given from 5 to 7 o'clock in the Mayfair room of the Blackstone and the admission or cover charge of $1 all will go to the shelter for animals in Deerfield.

The members of the Lunts' company in "Idiot's Delight" will be especial guests and several other stars of the stage will be present, too, to add their presence and talent to making the affair a success. Invitations will be sent out the middle of this week, but tickets will be on sale at the door the day of the party, so any one go just the same. Mrs. Mction can go just the same. Mrs. McLaughlin, who will be mistress of ceremonies, plans to make this the first of a series of such afternoon parties for the benefit of Orphans of the Storm.

Le Cercle Francais Names Fashion Models.

For the fashion parade that will be a feature of Le Cercle Francais' card party and tea tomorrow afternoon at the Drake Mrs. Daniel Taylor, the chairman, has enlisted Mrs. Gaylord Olmsted, Mrs. A. Phelps Dunham, Miss Virginia Winston, Mrs. Stephen Plummer, Mrs. Harris B. Burrows III., Mrs. Wilbur C. Smith, Mrs. Henry Cragg, Miss Pamela Fisher, Miss Barbara Ann Sargent, and Miss Eleanor Litsinger as models.

Robert Hall McCormick has provided the music that will accompany the models as they display the newest in spring fashions. Card playing will begin at 2 o'clock, with the fashion show and tea at 4 o'clock. This is the first venture of the sort on the part of Le Cercle.

The Lake Forest committee for Arden Shore camp will launch its annual drive for funds at a luncheon tomorrow at the camp. The boys who live at the Lake Bluff home will give a program for their visitors.

Mrs. James A. Cathcart, chairman of the Lake Forest committee, and Mrs. Thomas A. Connors, chairman of the drive, are giving the luncheon. Mrs. Donald P. Welles is treasurer, and Mrs. Proehl Jaklon is handling publicity.

Musicians Club of Women Gives Luncheon Today.

The Woman's Athletic club will be the scene today of the annual spring luncheon of the Musicians Club of Women. Hans Lange, Misch Mischakoff, Rosa Raisa, Izler Solomon, Else Brems, Rossetter G. Cole, and Mrs. Herman Kretschmer will be among the especial guests. Louise Hattstaedt Winter is president of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ennis [Bernice Brinkema] are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, their first child, Friday night at the Passavant hospital. The baby's paternal grandmother is Mrs. William S. Ennis.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clow Jr. and their daughters, Mrs. Lloyd A. Laflin and Miss Mary Melville Clow, are expected at home today after a sojourn of several months in Honolulu.

Miss Anita Blair, the Charles S. Deweys, the Charles H. Hamills, the Howard W. Fentons, the William E. Carneys, and the Frank G. Logans are among those who have taken tickets for the concert the Paulist choristers will give Wednesday night in Orchestra hall.

The Rev. and Mrs. Duncan Hodge Browne have cards out for a tea Wednesday at 4:30 o'clock at their home, 200 East Delaware place, for the committee and ushers for the fashion tea to be given Tuesday, May 4, by the social service committee of St. James' church, of which Dr. Browne is the rector. The tea and fashion show will be given at the Woman's Athletic club.

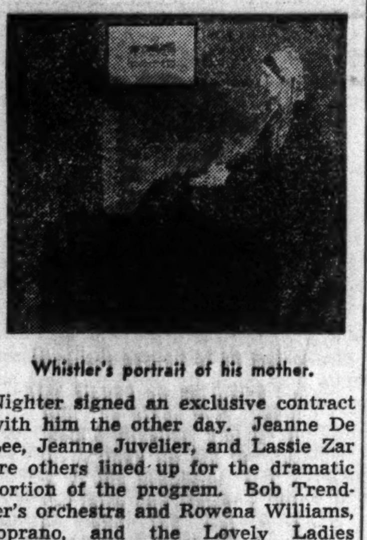
Seek a Mother Like Whistler's for Radio Event

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The sponsors of "Your Parlor Playhouse," which is to make its bow over W-G-N and the Mutual network, at 9:30 p. m. Sunday, May 9, is conducting a search for a double of Whistler's portrait of his mother. If your mother resembles Whistler's send along a picture to Dudley Crafts Watson or Walter Sherwood at the Art institute. The mother they choose will be invited to make a guest appearance on the opening program, which falls on Mother's day.

William Bouchey has been engaged for the male lead in this show. Les Tremayne had been scheduled originally but the sponsor of First Nighter signed an exclusive contract with him the other day. Jeanne De Lee, Jeanne Juvelier, and Lassie Zar are others lined up for the dramatic portion of the program. Bob Trendler's orchestra and Rowena Williams, soprano, and the Lovely Ladies quartet are to furnish the music.



Whistler's portrait of his mother.

Mabel Todd, formerly with Al Pearce and latterly with NBC's Jamboree here, phoned her husband, Morey Amsterdam, playing theaters hereabouts, the other day that she had signed a long term contract with Warner Brothers. Her first picture will be "Varsity Show" starring Dick Powell and in which she and Frank McHugh are to play the comedy leads. She is also to work later in "Brother Rat" and "Gold Diggers."

Jim and Marian Jordan [Fibber McGee and Molly] are to depart tomorrow morning for Hollywood and picture making. They'll give a sort of preview of their Hollywood plans on their broadcast at 8 tonight on WMAQ. Don Quinn and Tom Fizdale, also associated with the program, are flying west today.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Caron of 3500 Lake Shore drive celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Saturday night with a dinner party at home at which they announced the engagement of their daughter, Patricia, to Patrick F. Crowley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Crowley of 742 Junior terrace. Miss Caron attended the Convent of the Sacred Heart and was graduated from Trinity college in Washington, D. C. Mr. Crowley is a graduate of Notre Dame. The wedding will take place in the fall.

At a tea Saturday afternoon at their home Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Mulford of 835 Elmwood avenue, Wilmette, announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Charles Eugene Waldron Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Waldron of Kansas City, Mo. Miss Mulford is a graduate of Wellesley college, and her fiancé was educated at the University of Kansas and the University of Missouri. The wedding will take place in June.

Ann Harding Sends Child to Hollywood Under Guard

New York, April 25.—(AP)—Ann Harding, stage and screen star, arriving from England today, said her daughter Jane, 8 years old, is on her way to her Hollywood home, "thoroughly guarded." The child was the storm center of litigation last May when Harry Bannister, her father and Miss Harding's former husband, obtained a kidnaping warant in a futile attempt to prevent the actress from taking the child to England. The warant has been withdrawn. Werner Janssen, composer and husband of Miss Harding, said they would go to Hollywood tomorrow by train.

NOTE TO HUSBAND MAY BE CLEW TO BEAUTY'S SUICIDE

Police Decline to Reveal Contents of Missive.

Helen Kim.

New York, April 25.—[Special.]—A note to her husband left by Helen Kim, 25, beautiful actress, who killed herself yesterday as guests arrived at her home for a cocktail party announced as "the most unusual one ever held in New York," may reveal the motive for her act.

Contents of the note were withheld by authorities, although one official who read it declared it was "very personal." He did admit that it was "a suicide note," but that he did not attach any particular importance to it, although he said there were some things in it which must remain undisclosed.

"The note is strictly a private matter," he said. "If it is to be made public it will be released by the husband, not by the authorities."

Husband Leaves Home.

Twenty-four hours after his wife's body was found, Turkish born James Mont, 33, interior decorator, left the swanky Park avenue home in which they spent the twenty-eight days of their married life. He left no word as to his destination nor when he would return.

No explanation for the young bride's act was forthcoming from the dozens of recipients of the strange invitation whose arrival at her apartment led to the discovery of Miss Kim dead from stove gas.

Some Questions Unanswered.

Where had Miss Kim been since she appeared six years ago as the star of the communist propaganda play "Roar China"? Was there any connection between her death and that of a poet admirer who gulped a glass of poisoned gin and fell dead at her feet in her Los Angeles apartment a few years ago?

These questions remain unanswered as does the whereabouts of a former husband, Randolph J. Thomson, English playwright, her marriage with whom was annulled five minutes before she married Mont in Brooklyn March 28.

14 PLANES ADD 3,000 NAMES TO LEGION ROSTER

Bloomington, Ill., April 25.—[Special.]—Bearing 3,000 enrolment cards, fourteen planes, five from Chicago, landed at Bloomington airport today during the ninth annual aviation roundup of memberships in the Illinois department of the American Legion.

Rain and cold weather prevented sixteen other ships, scheduled to fly here to state headquarters here, from participating in the event.

3,000 Added to Rolls.

The addition of the 3,000 new enrolments increases the roster of the Illinois department to 72,000. Cards from posts which did not reach Bloomington today because of the bad flying conditions have been placed in the mail and will be reported tomorrow.

State Adjutant William C. Mundt of Bloomington said today that 3,000 more enlistments are expected by mail, raising the total for 1937 to 75,000 which compares favorably with the number reported a year ago at this time.

Largest Department in U. S.

The Illinois department closed its books in 1936 with a paid up membership of 80,000, the greatest enrolment in the nation.

Police Hunt North Side 'L' Newsdealer; Lost 16 Days

Police were searching yesterday for Vito De Leonardis, 44 years old, news dealer for 25 years at the Morse avenue station of the north side "L" lines, who has been missing since April 9. De Leonardis left his home at 6644 Newgard avenue to buy a package of cigarets and never returned. His relatives said he has been ill recently. De Leonardis has a wife, Teresa, and three children, Angelina, Martin, and Ruth.

DIES OF STEAM PIPE BURNS.

Thomas Miller, 37 years old, died in the Peoples hospital yesterday of burns incurred on April 21 when he fell against a hot steam pipe in his room in the Fairview hotel, 2124 South Michigan avenue.

FASHION REVIEW WILL BE HELD ON A STEAM TRAIN

Bathing suits and other vacation attire of 1937 and the 1890's will be worn by 35 models at 10 o'clock this morning in the State street council style show on the new "Super Chief" streamliner in the Dearborn street station annex at Polk and Dearborn streets. The $1,500,000 train will make its first official run May 3.

Travel wear, accessories, and luggage will also be modeled on the train. David Mayer Jr., president of the council, said he believed it was the first time that a group of stores comparable to those in the State street organization have sponsored a fashion review on a train.

The public is invited to attend the showing. The event is under the auspices of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

JUDGE PREDICTS VOTE QUIZ TO RUN FOR THREE YEARS

Kansas City, Mo., April 25.—(AP)—Prison bars will cast their shadowy threat over Kansas City's voting machinery for perhaps three years to come.

A gray haired federal jurist who last December directed an ever-widening investigation of election frauds here predicted today that grand juries may require that much more time to sift the mass of evidence still awaiting study.

Judge Albert L. Reeves dismissed one grand jury Saturday—the first called in the Nov. 3 election "purge." He has called another for May 4 and it will sit until next November.

"I would not be surprised to see the investigation continue as long as the three year statute of limitations permits," Judge Reeves said.

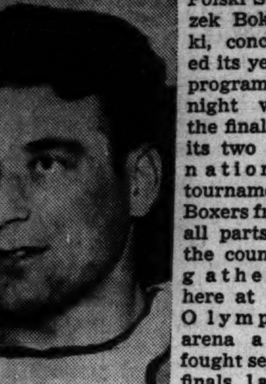
POLAND SENDS IMPROVED TEAM TO MILAN BOUTS

Expects to Qualify 2 for Chicago Trip.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Stanislaus Pilat.

POZNAN, Poland, April 25.—Poland's amateur boxing association, Polski Swiazek Bokserki, concluded its year's program tonight with the finals of its two day national tournament. Boxers from all parts of the country gathered here at the Olympia arena and fought semi-finals last night, with the losers meeting at noon today for third place. The champions were crowned tonight.

Several contestants who already had been chosen for the European tournament at Milan, from which will come the all-European team to compete in Chicago's International Golden Gloves show on May 28, did not participate tonight. Their entries for the European tournament had been accepted and officials did not wish to take the risk of having them injured in the national tournament. Competition for the remaining places was keen and the Olympia was packed to its 2,000 capacity for each session of the tournament.

However, I must say that Polish boxing is not altogether the equal of that in Germany and Ireland, but several contestants who fought tonight and at least two others named to go to Milan are the equals of any boxers in the world. It is not strange that a nation reborn less than a score of years ago, hemmed in between Russia and Germany, with concern for its national autonomy uppermost, and with no experience in boxing until recently, should not rank in the top flight in amateur boxing.

Superior to 1934 Champs.

But the boxers who were in action in this tournament are far superior to the team that made the trip to Chicago in 1934 for the fourth International Golden Gloves bouts. The veterans have improved greatly and the newcomers show diligent practice.

Even while Poland was submerged after the partitions of a century and a half ago by Russia, Austria, and Germany, its people cherished the Polish culture and language. Poland has given the world Chopin, Paderewski, Rodzinski, and Pilsudski. Poland gave America Kosciusko. There's no doubt that this fertile land of slow, winding rivers, now at springtime flood, of forests and mines and brown furrowed fields, will produce competitive athletics in time equal to that of nations with centuries of background in sports.

One reason for this statement is Franzieszek Szymura, a light heavyweight boxer. With four years of experience he has won 65 out of 80 bouts. His fight last night against Stanislaus Pietrzak of Lodz was the high point of the evening. Starting slowly and losing the first round on points, Szymura found his target in the second round and ended the affair with a knockout in the third round. Syzmura can hit sharply with his right hand; he does not push or merely defend himself, as is the first instinct of many amateurs.

Pilat Is Back.

Szymura is a certain competitor at Milan, according to Coach Felix Stamm of Warsaw, the trainer who accompanied the Polish team to Chicago in 1934. Stamm also is enthusiastic over the chances of Henry Chmielewski, a middleweight of Lodz, who was prevented from fighting in the national tournament by an injury to his hand. Chmielewski whipped Jimmy Clark of New York in the Olympics. He has had 143 fights and has lost only nine. Twenty-three years of age, he is a dark haired, quiet fellow. He watched tonight's bouts from the ringside beside his coach.

Chicago's old friends, Janisalaus

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.
[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE success or failure of the White Sox as an American league pennant contender will depend largely on the showing of Pitcher John Whitehead. . . . He has the speed and curves to win 20 games. . . . If he reaches that figure the Sox will be up in the race. . . . If he fails the club likely will finish in the second division. . . . Whitehead is now 20 pounds overweight. . . . If he ever decides to play ball he will establish himself as one of the best pitchers in the game. . . . Incidentally, such a decision would relieve Jimmy Dykes' nervous indigestion no end. . . . Riley Smith, quarter back on last year's All-Star eleven who played with the Boston Redskins after the All-Stars were disbanded, has given up professional football. . . . "It's too tough a way to make a living," he explained. . . . Eight of the 14 Italians playing major league baseball come from the San Francisco bay region. . . . Goldie Smith, who scouts hocky talent for the Detroit Red Wings, is postmaster at Melville, Sask. . . .

Petey Sarron.

Riley Smith.

The smallest salary roll of any major league club is $150,000. . . . Steve Basil, American league umpire, and Petey Sarron, featherweight boxing champion, are cousins, but Basil never has seen Sarron fight. . . . The night Petey defeated Freddie Miller for the championship in a Washington ring Basil was in a Washington theater. . . . Three of the last four world record holders in the pole vault are pupils of Dean Cromwell at Southern California. . . . They are Lee Barnes, Bill Graber and Bill Sefton, whose best height is 14 feet 7⅝ inches. . . . George Varoff of the University of Oregon is the fourth. . . . Harry Hughes, Colorado State's football coach for the last twenty-seven years, has the longest record of continuous service at one school of any gridiron leader in the land. . . . Bob Zuppke has put in twenty-four at Illinois, Ott Romney nineteen at Utah, Bill Alexander eighteen at Georgia Tech, and Slip Madigan sixteen at St. Mary's. . . .

* * *

With the exception of managers, Al Schacht, barnstorming comedian, probably will be the second highest paid man in baseball this season. . . . Northwestern, which meets Iowa State's eleven next fall for the first time since 1895, is responsible in part for the nickname "Cyclones," which the school's teams now bear. . . . In that game Iowa State's attack was so dynamic that a Chicago newspaper referred to it as a cyclone. . . . The reference ultimately grew into a nickname. . . . Gene McGrath, former three sport man at St. Viator college, will umpire in the Northern league this year. . . . Mrs. Lou Gehrig attends ball games on an average of ten times a season. . . . Walter Johnson saw only three games last year. . . . Jim Londos suggests rounds for wrestling. . . . Park District Co-operates Again in Tribune Golf School

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The fifth annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE, which will open on Tuesday evening, May 4, last year reached its highest enrollment, more than 34,000 men, women, and children, due to the coöperation of the Chicago park district. Once more the commissioners of the park districts have approved the use of four of their courses for the 1937 classes. This action insures continued success for the largest system of group instruction in the fundamentals of the game ever conducted.

When the school was founded in 1933, it relied for classrooms upon a number of outlying courses, all members of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association. Because of the fact that many potential pupils were unable to reach these, the enrollment of the school was not as large as it might have been. Last year, THE TRIBUNE suggested the use of the easily accessible park district courses, and the commissioners promptly agreed.

Board Grants Permission.

Last Thursday, the park board met and formally granted permission to make the park courses the stage for the 1937 school. Headed by President Robert J. Dunham, with George T. Donoghue as general superintendent, the commission includes Harry Joseph, Philip S. Graver, James C. Petrillo, and Stephen I. Witmanski.

The four park courses on which the fifth school will be held are Jackson, Diversey, Columbus, and Marquette. These will constitute the scene of all classes this year, when the school will be confined to the park courses alone.

The first lesson will be held on all four courses previously mentioned. They are open to every man, woman, and child interested in golf, whether they are green novices, or whether they have played before. All classes will begin promptly at 6 p. m. From that hour until about 6:30 p. m., a demonstration will be given by star members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association. The professional in charge then will begin the lesson proper, which will last no more than one hour.

When Lessons Will Be Held.

The first lesson will be held on Tuesday night, May 4; the second on Thursday night, May 6; the third on Tuesday night, May 11, and the fourth on Thursday night, May 13.

During the final lesson on May 13, the pros in charge, assisted by their colleagues, will name the ablest pupil among the men, women, boys, and girls at each course. These sixteen, with another sixteen adjudged next best, then will meet on Sunday, May 16, at a course to be chosen later. The brightest student in each class then will be given a bag and set of clubs by THE TRIBUNE. In addition to this prize foursome, winners of second and third places also will be awarded suitable prizes.

I Wish to Enroll in the

DIZZY DEAN FANS 10 CUBS, SCORES SECOND SHUTOUT

Chicagoans Get Only 5 Hits; Make 5 Errors.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 15.—Dizzy Dean today pitched his second shutout in two National League starts as he and the Cards breezed to a 4 to 0 victory over the Cubs. Since Diz's first shutout was a 10 inning affair, the big and noisy right hander now has gone 19 innings without letting an opponent get to home plate. Dean struck out 10 in accomplishing his wicked purpose today.

The Cubs seemed terrified when they observed that Diz was possessed of all his artistry. They committed five errors, to match the number of hits they made, and there were two other instances in which errors could have been chalked up.

Herman Makes 3 Hits.

Of the five hits made by the Cubs, three were accomplished by Bill Herman. Phil Cavarretta got to third base in the first inning on an error and Collins' single, after two were out. O'Dea doubled to start the second and stayed there. No one else got as far as second base and Herman, with his three hits, and Hack, the recipient of the only walk, got to first.

Only one of the Cards' four runs off Bill Lee was earned. But the Cards made eleven hits, including two doubles which produced the one earned run. This was enough to win, of course.

Three Cub double plays, two of them with the bases full to retire the side, kept the thumping from being much more decisive numerically.

Chances, But No Progress.

A circus catch by Medwick robbed Galan of a double or better at the start of the game. Herman then lined to Mize, but Cavarretta was safe on Stu Martin's fumble and went to third on Collins' single to right. Demaree popped to Pepper Martin. With two out in the Card half of the first Bordagaray singled to center, stole second, and went on to third when O'Dea threw into center field. Then Medwick fouled to O'Dea.

O'Dea opened the second with a line drive off the right field screen, but Hack popped to Bordagaray. Jurges was called out on strikes and Lee whiffed.

Error Causes Trouble.

A startling error by Herman resulted in a run for the Cards in the fourth inning. It might have been much worse. Medwick opened with a single to center, but Mize popped to Hack. Pepper Martin rolled a cinch double play ball at Herman, who let it go though his heels, Medwick reaching third and Pepper Martin second. Durocher was given

Hank Greenberg, Detroit first baseman, strikes out in the second inning of yesterday's game with the White Sox at Comiskey park, as Vernon Kennedy shows plenty of stuff. Hank fanned three times during the afternoon. The White Sox closed the series with Detroit with an 11 to 7 victory.

AsksCredit for Hole-in-One, Even If He Did Shoot Twice

Palestine, Tex., April 25.—(AP)—Van A. Hamilton, newspaper publisher, sliced his tee shot on a 175 yard hole at the Meadowbrook Country club out of bounds. The next shot rolled into the cup. He contends he's entitled to a hole in one—even if he did take a deuce.

Bob Feller's Arm O.K.; Will Pitch in Turn

Cleveland, O., April 25.—(AP)—Bob Feller's pitching arm was "all right" today, Manager Steve O'Neill of the Cleveland Indians said.

The million dollar arm—object of tender ministrations from trainers and physicians after the 18 year old strikeout artist disclosed to O'Neill he had pulled a muscle—will not delay Feller's return to the game, O'Neill said.

"He'll be ready to take his regular turn," the Indians' pilot predicted.

Fans 11 Browns.

Feller retired from yesterday's game after fanning 11 Browns in six innings for an average inning record almost equal to his pace last year when he set a new league strikeout record of 17 against the Philadelphia Athletics.

Away to a bad first inning in which he allowed two hits and walked four men to give St. Louis the four runs by which it won, 4 to 3, Feller did not tell O'Neill until the end of the sixth that he had hurt his arm in throwing a curve to Bill Knickerbocker, leadoff man in the first.

He's Sure Himself.

Although his control improved as he went along, the kink in his right arm still troubled him in the sixth, he told O'Neill. Feller himself said today: "I'll be back on the job in a few days."

Interviewed on a radio hour by Huster Hoefer, 12 year old editor of a Sheboygan, Wis., periodical, Feller declined to guess how many games he would win, but advised his young interrogator he'd let him know in October.

MACK THINKS HIS ATHLETICS MIGHT GO SOME PLACE

Washington, D. C., April 25.—(AP)—Connie Mack, the granddaddy of all baseball managers, would have to think back many years to recall an opening baseball week that brought him the fun of the last few days.

His patch work creation—the bunch of youngsters, some experienced cast-offs with lots of ginger—has hustled its way up front in the American league. The Athletics, with three victories in four starts, were in first place tonight.

And it's all Connie can do to keep from laughing at the experts who selected Philadelphia to finish last.

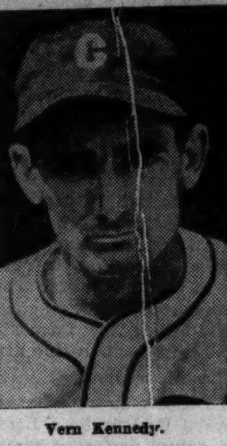
Connie, as straight and stately as a tall pine for all his 74 years, is a builder. Many times he started from scratch and built championship teams. He has a hunch he's on his way again.

"We may surprise every one," he said today.

CHICAGO BATS SEND AUKER TO COVER IN SECOND

Kennedy Master for Eight Innings.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.



Vern Kennedy.

The White Sox yesterday discovered how to convert Detroit's so-called Tigers into lazy house cats. The solution was Vernon Kennedy's right arm and a series of healthy base hits carrying Chicago labels. Under the pressure of this combination the Tigers curled up in the chilly, moist atmosphere and permitted Jim Dykes' battlers to parade to an 11 to 7 victory before 8,000 hardy cash customers.

The Sox did their base hit shopping early and spent the remainder of the afternoon in comfort, except for the weather. They clipped Elden Auker for four runs in the first inning and registered another pair in the second. This demonstration convinced the underarm expert he was in bad company, so he turned the job over to Lynwood [Schoolboy] Rowe. The gaunt Schoolboy, making his maiden effort of the season, was handled similarly, five runs scoring before use of a pinch hitter gave him an opportunity to sneak out of the party at the end of the seventh.

Tigers Score Four in Ninth.

Kennedy accomplished his task with consummate ease, despite the total of Tiger tallies. Four of these went across in the ninth, by which time all danger had been eliminated. Prior to the ninth he had a six hit venture in prospect. During these eight innings he fairly blinded the enemy with a baffling strikeout ball. There were nine Tiger demises because of this, the elongated Hank Greenberg being a victim three times and Gerald Walker and Rowe twice apiece.

For heavy work in the early innings Zeke Bonura was the most active of Dykes' workmen. Zeke helped in the four run first inning with a single. He singled again in the second. He singled the third time in the fourth when Rowe encountered the first of a series of jolts. Four other fellows, one of them Larry Rosenthal, who had been buried under a protracted slump, contributed two hits apiece. But for distance Louis Berger, the ex-Indian, set the pace. He uncorked a homer for the last of the five runs off Rowe.

Quite a Start!

The four run attack to which Auker was subjected in the first inning got under way after Radcliff had popped to Rogell. Rosenthal walked and Dixie Walker banged a single through second, Rosenthal going to third. Bonura slashed a single past Rogell and Rosenthal scored. Appling lined a single over Greenberg's head, Dixie Walker scoring and Bonura galloping to third. Appling stole second. Then Hayes ripped off a double to left to send Bonura and Appling across the plate. The next two players popped out.

Kennedy fanned Greenberg to start the second, making the fourth Tiger to drop in a row. A little disturbance arose immediately, one run scoring. Jerry Walker singled to center

WAR ADMIRAL IS NEW THREAT IN DERBY PICTURE

Easy Chesapeake Victory Brings Backers.

BY FRENCH LANE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., April 25.—Most of the speculators who are doing serious scouting in their efforts to ferret out the winner of the 63d Kentucky Derby to be run a week from next Saturday gathered at this spa over the week-end.

Col. E. R. Bradley.

They evidently took time out for a day and came over here, not far from the Derby scene, to think the situation over. They talked big money and had much to say about odds, but during the excitement not many wagers were made.

War Admiral a Threat.

The situation revealed, however, that at last a serious threat to Pompoon's right to parade to the post as the betting choice of the Derby day crowd has developed in the Glen Riddle farm's fleet colt War Admiral. His easy victory in the Chesapeake stakes on Saturday caused all of this speculation.

In fact, Pompoon and War Admiral were equal first choices in the various sets of odds that were being studied today. Each was held at 4 to 1 with the Milky Way farm stable's Reaping Reward next in line at 6 to 1.

Brooklyn Is Fourth Choice.

Despite the feeble showing Col. Edward R. Bradley's Brooklyn made in a rainy day race run at Keeneland last Wednesday, he was the fourth choice at 8 to 1. At 10 to 1 was Greentree stable's Chicolorado. With odds of 20 to 1 prevailing against them were Galsun, Cloidion, Dellor, Billionaire, Military, No Sir, and Sceneshifter.

The two colts that have brought about more arguments than any others in the prospective derby are Col. Bradley's Brooklyn and Warren Wright's Galsun.

A week ago these were the two most highly regarded derby colts in Kentucky. Both failed in a rather feeble fashion during the week at the Keeneland track in Lexington.

Galsun Gets Test Thursday.

Some excuses were offered for their sad showing and they soon may prove to be legitimate excuses. Galsun is slated for another test at Keeneland tomorrow and both are to go to the post in the Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland on next Thursday afternoon.

The operator of one of the big future books mingled in the crowd today. He was in a happy frame of mind and why not? Hadn't the suckers bet on many of the derby candidates he already has scratched off his list as starters?

"Among their souvenirs," he said, will be the tickets held on the following horses:

Albubble, Betty's Buddy, Come to Taw, Danarco, Dawn Play, Dead Calm, Dr. Heiman, Eli Yale, Fore, Forty Winks, Gloom Buster, Half Time, Heuvelton, and Ald. John Coughlin's once highly fancied High Lark.

And Here Are More Scratches.

But don't get out of breath yet. Others on his scratched list are Ivory Tip, Jaw Breaker, John Francis, Josh, Kermay, Knight's Plume, Lake View, LeKnight, Lucky Pledge, Mae Cloud, Miss Europe, Morristown, Murph, My Tommie, Nad, Nemont, Night Bud, No Dice, Old Nassau, Pang, Papenie, Paris Prince, Petrose, Prince Arthur, Ptolemy, Privileged, Quincy, Rex Flag, Riparian, Robber Baron, Scintillator, Stormy Ocean, Tattered, The Runner, Toncon, Traulove, Up and Doing, Valted, Victorian Star, and Virginia.

"It was indeed nice of the folks who bet on those horses in the Derby to come around and toss their money over the transom into my room," remarked the future book operator jubilantly.

Still there's some thirty left in the Derby field, the most likely being Bernard F., Billionaire, Black Look, Brooklyn, Chicolorado, Clodion, Court Scandal, Gold Flag, Dellor, Fencing, Galsun, Maedic, Gerald, Case Ace, Heelfly, Merrymaker, Military, No Sir, Pompoon, Reaping Reward, Sceneshifter, War Admiral, White Tie, My Grandson, and Main Man.

A Chinese puzzle complex continues to hover over the race, as you can see.

Melrose Park Pair Totals 1224 in A.B.C.

New York, April 25.—[Special.]—Scoring games of 400, 415, 409, Nick Degrazia and Vic Schultz of Melrose Park, Ill., totaled 1,224 in the doubles division of the American Bowling Congress today, the highest of the day.

Degrazia bowled a 662 series on games of 210, 227, 225, while his partner rolled an even hundred pins less on counts of 190, 188, 184.

Charley Fischer, also of Melrose Park, was best among the Chicagoland bowlers in the singles class, totaling 643 on games of 175, 226, 242.

Bevo Place, Rockford, Ill., topped the twenty-eight teams on tonight's card, scoring 2,959, highest total in five days and the best count ever registered by a Rockford entry in national competition. Chicago scores:

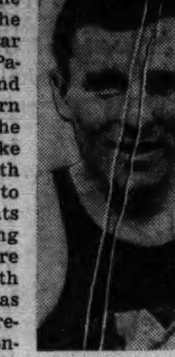
PENN HOLDS 8-7 ADVANTAGE OVER MARKS AT DRAKE

But Both Take Back Seat to Kansas, Texas.

New York, April 25.—(AP)—When runners from Indiana university and North Texas Teachers college dominate the Penn relays, the east's four star track show; Pacific coast and southwestern aces lead in the midwest's Drake relays, and both meets have to take back seats when the leading performances are compared with those at the Texas and Kansas relays, the only conclusion is that there's no one section that leads in college track.



Sam Francis.

Led by Don Lash, Indiana took nearly everything in sight at Pennsylvania's Franklin field Friday and Saturday, just as they had done at the Kansas relays two weeks before. The Texas Teachers did the rest, smashing two meet records only to lose one for illegally passing the baton, and winning a third title.

By the time the south had been cut in for a couple of titles the only things left for the east were a few field events and three relay crowns.

Midwest in Same Fix.

At Des Moines the midwest found itself much in the same fix, what with Washington State making a show of the best corn belt runners in the mile relay, Rice copping two titles, and Mack Robinson of Pasadena Junior college taking the broad jump with the season's best performance, 25 feet 5½ inches.

Sam Francis, southpaw weight tosser from Nebraska who has a perfect record of winning both the shot put and discus throw in the Texas, Kansas and Drake meets, saved the day to some extent for the Des Moines carnival. As a result a recapitulation of the 16 events on the programs for both meets shows Penn ahead in eight and Drake in seven, with the honors even in the other.

Texas Is Leader.

Counting in the two earlier meets and giving a half to each for equal performances, the count for 15 events they had in common is Texas, 4½; Drake, 4; Kansas, 3½, and Penn, 3.

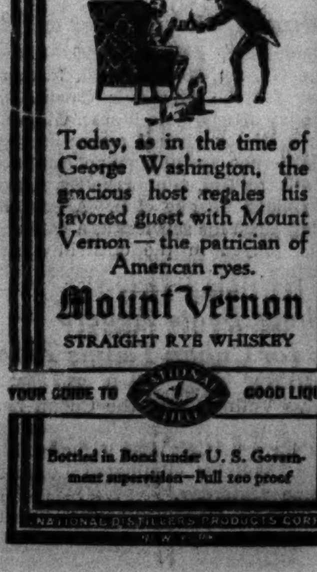
FILE BRADDOCK'S BRIEF IN GARDEN SUIT WEDNESDAY

James J. Braddock's attorneys will file an answer Wednesday in Madison Square Garden's legal suit being heard in the federal court of Judge Guy L. Fake at Newark, N. J., asking the champion to show cause why he shouldn't box Max Schmeling before going through with a title contest with Joe Louis here in June. The Garden is seeking an injunction to stop Braddock from fighting Louis.

Joe Gould, manager of the titleholder, interrupted a conference relative to a camp site at Grand Beach, Mich., to make the announcement at the Morrison hotel yesterday.

After the fiery little pilot obtains a training base for Braddock he will return to Newark in time to be present at Wednesday's court session. It is his opinion that a decision will be rendered by Friday.

Gould intends to visit the Golfmore hotel at Grand Beach this morning and if the site and terms are satisfactory the offer will be accepted.



Today, as in the time of George Washington, the gracious host regales his favored guest with Mount Vernon—the patrician of American ryes.

Chicago Stars Win, 7-3; Take Cermak Cup

BY OFFSIDE.

An All-Star team representing the Chicago league defeated a similar lineup of International league players, 7 to 3, yesterday at Sparta stadium to win the Cermak Memorial trophy.

Chicago, after being held scoreless for the first twenty minutes of the opening half, went into the lead on Wolf's goal midway through the period. Before the intermission Chicago added three more goals—one by Tomecek, another by Wolf, and one by Fraser—to establish a 4 to 0 lead at the half.

Vlcek scored early in the second period to run the Chicago lead to 5 to 0, but International then came back to score its three goals. Asbil counted on a solo, added another goal a short time later, and was brought down by Henney to be awarded a penalty shot which Preiss converted into a goal with a neat effort which beat Griffith.

Wright and Vlcek then scored for Chicago to run its total to 7 to 3 and put the game safely away. Lineups:

CHICAGO [7].		INTERNATIONAL [3].
Griffith	G.	Riebe
Henney	R.B.	Schaaf
Poscipal	L.B.	Kuchl
Szucs	R.H.	Calander
Nudera	C.H.	Preiss
Mrnka	L.H.	Jansen
Fraser	O.R.	Mattson
Tomecek	I.R.	Jorden
Keberle	C.	Kutsch
Vlcek	I.L.	Absil
Wolf	O.L.	Hallquist

Substitutions: Chicago—Wright, Padalik. International—Goller. Goals—Vlcek [2], Wolf [2], Fraser, Wright, Tomecek, Absil [2], Preiss [penalty].

In a preliminary game the Chicago and International Reserves battled to a 4 to 4 tie. The Internationals finished the first half leading, 2 to 1, on goals by O'Boyle and Eid, as compared with the one scored by Chicago's Hampson, and stretched the advantage to 4 to 1 in the second period as Ohrenberger and Skara drove into the net. The Chicagos then came through with a thrilling finish to tie the score, Riley, Walker, and Vraya scoring.

The Magyar Juniors defeated the Viking Juniors, 3 to 2.

Kelley Sends 14 Horses to Aurora Meet

Fourteen thoroughbreds owned and trained by Paul Kelley of Aurora will arrive at the Aurora race track today from San Francisco, increasing to record proportions the number of horses quartered at the Fox Valley plant for the opening of racing in Illinois on Saturday.

Racing Secretary Dick Leigh announced yesterday that nine horses from the Oddesa Farm stable of Detroit also would arrive today. It will be the first time that the Oddesa stable has sent such a large delegation to a Chicago track. Its outstanding performers included in the shipment are Oddesa Doc, Oddesa Lady, and Odessa Maid. Eddie J., another Oddesa star, may be nominated for the Inaugural handicap, entries for which close Thursday night. A field of fifteen is expected to compete for the $1,500 purse.

Representatives of the Butsey Hernandez, C. E. Davison, Jack Carter, J. R. Gregory, and N. W. Burkhardt stables are en route to Aurora from Arlington Downs in Texas, Leigh has been informed.

Eleanor Jarrett Swim Troupe to Show in Stadium

Eleanor Holm Jarrett and a cast of 30 swimmers and divers will appear at the Chicago Stadium for four nights beginning Thursday, May 6.

This show, "Water Follies of 1937," now on a national tour, will be led by Mrs. Jarrett, former Olympic back stroke champion and world's record holder.

Others in the cast are Dorothy Poynton Hill and Marshall Wayne, Olympic diving champions; Corky Gilissen, one of America's best divers; Al Phillips, British diving champion; Sam and Helen Howard, a specialty diving pair from Miami; Leonard Spence, Olympic games breast stroke star from Bermuda, and Art Highland, former Big Ten and national intercollegiate sprint champion from Northwestern.

One of the features of the show is the water ballet, group numbers of formation swimming under colored lights by a dozen girls.

The tank, which cost $10,000, is 70 feet by 25 feet, with a depth of 6 feet. It holds 80,000 gallons of water. Two baggage cars are needed to haul the tank from city to city.

Sportsmen Ask Nonpolitical Conservation

BY BOB BECKER.

Sportsmen in Illinois who have been watching the battle at Springfield involving legislative measures to establish a practical conservation department in the state have had so much smoke thrown in their eyes that many may be wondering what all the shooting is about.

Among other things that have confused sportsmen is the fact that the present conservation department and the association conservation groups in the state are not traveling along hand in hand like pals to secure a commission form of department that is free from politics.

Thousands of Illinois sportsmen, members of women's clubs, conservationists, and civic leaders who are banded together in the associated conservation organizations of the state have condemned many features of the bills introduced by the department of conservation and are resolved to sponsor their own bill providing for the creation of a commission to administer the Illinois department of conservation.

Want Commission Form.

In explaining this decision and at the same time making public the position of the associated conservation groups in the state Lester A. Colby said:

"We have had two meetings of representatives from throughout the state since the legislative program of the department of conservation has been made public. While our groups want to coöperate with the present department they feel that they cannot lend their support to its legislative program as long as it opposes the creation of a commission such as guides the conservation interests in thirty-five other states.

"Our groups further feel that they must oppose an increase in the hunting and fishing license fees until such time as the state program warants such an increase. Without reflecting on the present administration of the conservation department we feel that getting Illinois on a par with other states in conservation work can be accomplished only by taking the department out of politics."

Fees Increase Attacked.

Sportsmen throughout the state are not being fooled by this tactful language nicely condemning the bill that has been introduced, judging by reports reaching us. The rank and file of sportsmen want a commission form of conservation department and apparently are not going to be tricked into accepting anything else but that type of administration. Legislators have been hearing many complaints against the department's bill including those attacking the increase in license fees. One of the most emphatic objections to the bill came from thousands of hunting dog owners who pointed out the obvious injustice of the proposed regulations governing the training of hunting dogs.

Midwest League Officials to Draw Schedule Tonight

Officials and managers of 60 clubs in the Midwest Baseball league will meet tonight at league headquarters, 169 North Franklin street, to arrange the opening schedule for next Sunday and admit new teams. The league, which will start its 24th season, will operate with possibly 100 squads in classes A and B.

No Foul Rule Is Sought for Marek Fight

A clear interpretation of rules which will govern the state heavyweight title bout between Champion Max Marek and Harry Thomas will be sought by representatives of the rival heavyweight fighters at the Illinois athletic commission this afternoon.

The champion and Thomas, formerly of Eagle Bend, Minn., meet for ten rounds at the Coliseum Wednesday.

Nate Lewis, who is directing Thomas, and Pat Kenneally, head of the Catholic Youth organization, under whose auspices Marek is boxing, will appear before Chairman Joe Triner of the commission with a request that the boxers be given more leeway in this fight—that certain rules which have governed other matches be waived on this occasion.

Seek No Foul Rule.

One of the acts which the managers are in favor of putting into effect for this match is the no foul rule, an amendment which the chairman advocates adopting, but has not yet been put to a vote.

It is also requested that power to stop the bout for any reason, such as cut eyes, be taken from the referee and the commission physician and the corner men be empowered to be sole judges as to whether their protégé can continue without undue injury.

Referees and judges eligible to officiate also will be discussed.

Reserves Appointive Right.

The board reserves the right to appoint all officials, but it will not appoint a judge or referee if just reason is advanced by managers of contestants.

Art Greer, Chicago colored lightweight, has been named to meet Andy Scrivani, 1936 American Olympic Golden Gloves champion, in a four round supporting contest. Other engagements:

Bernie Bowman vs. Max Zona [6], heavyweights.
George Dixon, II. vs. Jack Otey [6], lightweights.
Carl Vinciquerra vs. Jack Fargo [4], heavyweights.
Alex Kettles vs. Ralph Davis [4], heavyweights.

WEBERS' 3,118 TOTAL HIGH IN CLASSIC LEAGUE

The Charles H. Weber team's 3,118 series was high last night in the Classic league at the West End Recreation. Their 1,064 in the second game topped the games, and Jules Sowa's 661 was high for the individuals. The Webers won all three games from the Winkler Motor Service.

The Baby Ruth Candies defeated the league leading Prager Beers twice. The Monarch Beers won two games from the Kraft O-ke Dokes and the champion Pabst Blue Ribbons swept their series with the Oak Leaf Motors. Scores:

C. D. G. A. CADDY CHAIRMEN WILL MEET TONIGHT

The annual dinner and meeting of caddy chairmen and caddy masters of the Chicago District Golf association will be held in the Red room of the La Salle hotel this evening. An attendance of 100 is expected. The Caddy Masters' club will hold a preliminary meeting at Chicago District Golf association headquarters at 5 p. m.

REDS TO ATTEND LODGE.

Phil Weintraub will head a delegation of Cincinnati Reds baseball players to the meeting of the Chicago Lawndale B'nai B'rith lodge tonight at the Crawford hall, 4003 Roosevelt road. Weintraub, a Chicagoan, is a member of the Lawndale lodge.

DAY TO BATTLE BAXTER TONIGHT IN TEN ROUNDS

Davey Opens Campaign for Title at Marigold.

Davey Day, who stands along with Tony Canzoneri, Pedro Montanez and Jimmy Garrison in the top bracket group of lightweight contenders in this country, will open his 1937 title campaign tonight in a ten round bout with Charlie Baxter at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

Davey Day.

Day has given the impression that he is well nigh unbeatable mostly because of his home town winning streak. In 40 Chicago appearances the west side slat won 36, of which eight were knockout triumphs. He fought two draws and lost the other two. Added to this is the dazzling exhibition he put up in a ten round nontitle battle with Champion Lou Ambers at the New York Hippodrome Feb. 10. It is Davey's only previous start this year.

Chicago Debut for Baxter.

Baxter, who knocked out Wesley Martin and Lou Jallos, and lost to Jimmy Vaughn in three fights since the first of the year, will be making his debut here. The invader is rated high in his native Pittsburgh, and his adopted Columbus, O.

Ray Baker, Grand Forks, N. D., 137 pound fighter, and Harry Booker of the south side will meet in a return contest at five rounds in the semi-final. Booker held Ray to a draw in an earlier meeting to break the Fargo boxer's chain of seven victories.

Fadner Meets Gowatch.

In one of the other encounters Bobby Fadner of the University of Wisconsin is paired with Henry Gowatch, Detroit junior lightweight. Both are appearing in Chicago for the first time.

Two bouts will head Promoter Joe Coffey's wrestling show tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Bert Rubi is paired with Charley [Gorilla] Grubmyer, and Rudy Kay opposes Jack Conley. Each match is set for one fall with a 60 minute time limit. Supplementary bouts at 30 minutes involve Ken Fenlon and Otto Schnabel, Jerry Meeker and Jack [Bad Boy] Brown, and Denny Lentz and Heinie Olson.

Buck O'Neil, California light heavyweight wrestler, and Denny Lentz have been matched to meet in a featured struggle at Rainbo Fronton Wednesday. Nango Singh will face a suitable foe. . . . John Gordon, Kansas City, Mo., sectional Golden Gloves middleweight monarch, will make his professional debut tonight in his home town in a six round fight against Elmer Carson of Pittsburg, Kas. Pat Kissinger boxes Bus Breese, Manhattan Kas., junior welterweight, in the ten round main event.

BEES TURN BACK GIANTS FOR FIRST LEAGUE VICTORY

Win, 3 to 1, to End 38 Scoreless Innings.

New York, April 25.—(AP)—With the help of Elbie Fletcher's two run double with two out in the ninth, the Boston Bees whipped the Giants, 3 to 1, today to win their first game of the season and end their string of 38 consecutive scoreless innings.

Fletcher's two bagger, which fell just out of Mel Ott's reach and followed Gene Moore's single, a Giant error and a walk to Al Lopez, ruined an otherwise fine pitching performance by Rookie Clift Melton, Giant importation from the International league.

Melton fanned 13 Boston batters for the best strikeout record of the new season, but just failed to keep up his airtight pitching through the ninth.

Dick Bartell (No. 2), Giants' shortstop, slides safely into second base as Shortstop Warstler (on ground) and Second Baseman Cuccinello kick around Lon Chiozza's grounder.

DODGERS RALLY TO WIN IN 11TH.

Philadelphia, April 25.—(AP)—Brooklyn defeated the Phillies today, 10 to 6, in 11 innings to win the three game series, two victories to one. Buddy Hassett's home run on the first ball pitched by Syl Johnson gave the Dodgers enough runs to win, but before the inning was over they pounded Walters for three more.

Manager Grimes of Brooklyn was banished in the sixth by Umpire Parker for disputing a decision.

Lee Will Hurl For Sox Against Indians Today

The White Sox departed last night for Cleveland where they'll open today in a three game series with the Indians. To make the latter comfortable Jim Dykes, the Sox boss, will pitch Thornton [Lefty] Lee who was one of the Indians until last winter's deal by which Jack Salveson went to Washington, Earl Whitehill to Cleveland, and Lee to Chicago.

The Indians' pitching for today probably will be turned into the care of Mel Harder, the curve ball expert who hopes to come back after being a flop in 1936.

Babe Herman, who roamed around the National league until released to the Tigers last week, made his American league debut as a pinch hitter yesterday. He batted for Rowe in the eighth and hit a good looking liner, but Larry Rosenthal flagged it.

Sox Score Early to Beat Tigers, 11 to 7

and Goslin flied to the Chicago Walker. York thumped a triple to the center field wall and G. Walker counted. Rogell drew a pass which was more intentional than otherwise. The idea worked to perfection when Auker let a third strike zip past.

The Sox also started their second inning activity after the first man, Kennedy, had been retired. Radcliff singled to center and went to second on a wild pitch. Rosenthal's fly to short right dropped for a double, but Radcliff progressed only as far as third. Dixie Walker sent his namesake Gerald to the score board for a long fly, Radcliff scoring and Rosenthal taking third. Bonura's second hit was a single to center, Rosenthal going home. The inning ended with Appling fouling to York. It also was the end of Auker.

Gets Into Jam in Fourth.

Kennedy's lack of control got him into a real jam in the fourth, but he was able to limit the damage to one run. Goslin opened with a single and a pass to York and Rogell loaded the bases with none out. Rowe fanned and White flied to Dixie Walker, Goslin scoring. A pass to Cochrane reloaded the bases but the tension was relieved when Gehringer's long fly settled into Radcliff's hands.

Infield taps erased Radcliff and Rosenthal in the fourth before the Sox framed up the little affair which cost Rowe two runs. Dixie Walker drew free passage. Bonura immediately proved his old claim that Rowe is his cousin. He slapped the Schoolboy for a single to left. Appling hit safely to right and Jerry Walker was so long in taking care of the business at hand that the drive went for a triple, Dixie Walker and Bonura scoring. Hayes bounced to York for the third out.

The Tiger half of the fifth was featured by strikeouts for Greenberg and G. Walker and the home portion was marked by two more runs off the Schoolboy, making the score 10 to 2.

Hank Rolls Into Double Play.

Although he had the assistance of a double play, Kennedy couldn't keep the Tigers from nicking the plate once in the seventh. Gehringer walked and Greenberg put an end to his successive strikeouts by rolling into a double play. Berger knocked down a line single by G. Walker but made a wild toss to first, the runner taking second. Goslin walked and York singled, G. Walker scoring. In the home half Berger atoned for his error by crashing the ball into the left field pavilion with the bases empty.

Kennedy's troubles in the ninth started with Greenberg's single after Gehringer had fouled out. G. Walker also singled to score Greenberg, who had taken second on a wild pitch. A pass to Goslin and scratch hit by York filled the bases. Kennedy cut loose another wild pitch, G. Walker scoring. Rogell fouled out and Fox, batting for McLaughlin, singled to center scoring the last two runs. White popped to Hayes for the final out.

In the Wake of the News

SPORTS CHATTER.

ONE frequently hears complaint from academic sources of high salaries paid football coaches. Some professors, not all by any means, resent greater payments to men directing physical activities than to men directing mental activities.

Of course, there are "football colleges" where rate of compensation for a successful coach does seem out of proportion to other emoluments. On the whole, salaries are not too high considering experience required and "mortalities."

The Western conference, or Big Ten, is supposed to be conservative. Yet in the last fifteen years there have been thirty-three head coaches and twenty-seven different athletic directors. That is an annual turnover rate of 20.2 per cent for coaches and 18 per cent for directors. And in those figures were included such fixtures as Bob Zuppke, George Huff, L. W. St. John, Z. G. Clevenger, Fielding Yost, and A. A. Stagg.

Perhaps professors, with their stability of tenure, are not so bad off after all.

Louisville hotels assert they are being asked for Kentucky Derby reservations for the big race of May 8 as never before. In part, this is because hostelries already are full of guests who have lived there since the flood, some of whom must leave to make room for the higher prices of the Derby period.

French Lane and The Wake made reservations last fall. Already we have confirmed them three times. Now comes a letter asking exact date and hour of arrival to avoid later confusion. About the only thing the letter didn't ask was name of the winner.

Care of India's Aged.

Visiting a village or mission school near Bombay, our study group was told that the Indian government gave each of these old people a steer to ride and 1½ annas for upkeep. It takes 16 annas to make a rupee, worth 38 cents in U. S. money. One person in the party, listening none too well, remarked: "What, a banana and a half a day?"

NAME WINDY CITY TEAMS.

The Windy City Softball league this week will pick the eight teams to comprise its roster.

J. Dean Fans 10 Cubs; Cards Triumph, 4-0

an intentional pass, filling the bases. Ogrodowski singled to center, scoring Medwick. Diz Dean hit into a double play, Jurges to Herman to Collins. Herman's throw was very bad, but Collins got it with a great stretch and catch.

Galan Shows Off.

The Cards went out in order in the fifth, the third out being accomplished by Galan's nice running catch of Bordagaray's drive to left center.

Medwick opened the home sixth with a double to the left field corner and Mize walked. O'Dea, apparently trying to make amends for his earlier poor throwing, tried to trap Mize off first. He threw to right field, Medwick scoring and Mize going to second. Pepper Martin then doubled to center, scoring Mize. Durocher sacrificed and was safe at first when Lee fumbled. Ogrodowski grounded to Lee, but when he started to throw he slipped and fell. The effort was scored a single and the bases were full. Dean was out on an infield fly. Moore hit into a double play, Jurges to Herman to Collins.

In the seventh Hack and Jurges flied out and Lee fanned for the third time. Collins drew the fifth Cub error when he dropped S. Martin's foul. Then Martin beat out a bunt to Herman, moved up on Bordagaray's sacrifice, and went to third on Medwick's fly to Cavarretta. Mize singled to right, scoring S. Martin. J. Martin singled to center, Mize stopping at second. Durocher popped to Collins.

Cubs Come Home to Face Reds and Derringer Today

St. Louis, Mo., April 25.—[Special.]—The Cubs will open a three game series against the Cincinnati Reds at Wrigley field tomorrow afternoon. Larry French, shut out, 5 to 0, in the season opener with the Pirates, will pitch, opposing Paul Derringer.

The Reds, who have been building themselves up as rough boys, even to the extent of paraphrasing the Card's nickname by calling themselves the "Rough House Gang," haven't won a game so far this season.

Newell Kimball, right handed pitcher who was announced as being en route to Chicago from Los Angeles via air ten days ago, then announced staying with the Angels, now is to join the Cubs Wednesday, according to the latest thought in the matter.

Manager Charley Grimm protested violently in the first inning today that Diz was using an illegal delivery, not pausing in his delivery with a runner on base. Umpire Magerkurth shooed Grimm away, but later went out and warned Dean.

The thermometer at game time registered 50 degrees, something the lads doubtless will recall when they come here for their third trip the last of June.

Poland Sends Strong Team to Milan Meet

Sipinski, lightweight, and Stanislaus Pilat, heavyweight, who were members of the 1934 Polish team, fought in the tournament. Sipinski, who lives in Poznan, is 24 years old, and has fought 167 bouts, losing 30. Pilat is a better fighter than he was when he appeared in Chicago, but he is strictly a right hand puncher. He is 27 years old and has been fighting for six years. He is a native of Nowy Targ, in a mountain district.

The veteran, Walter Majchryszki, who at 28 has been fighting for thirteen years, received a big ovation after his victory over Anthony Wosiek, middleweight, in the semifinals. Majchryszki was not named to go to Milan because of his age, but he is an extremely clever boxer.

It was necessary for Poland to make its entries in the Milan tournament before deciding its national championships, but the majority of the squad competed in the Olympic games last year and have proved their worth. Lodz, Warsaw, Poznan, and Lublin are among the cities represented on the team.

Stamm believes one and possibly two of the Polish boys will win European titles and make the trip to Chicago. The team leaves Poznan next Thursday in order to arrive in Milan in time to become acclimated before the opening of the tournament on May 5.

HEAR MORDECAI BROWN

NEW GUEST STAR OF Kellogg's Parade OF THE Immortals

TODAY Mordecai Brown will be at the microphone in Wrigley Field. You'll hear his comments on the Cubs-Reds game while John Harrington gives you the play-by-play description!

"Three-fingered" Brown! A name to take you back to the days of the Baseball Immortals. The great Cub pitcher who fought a score of stirring mound duels with the mighty Matty! Stalwart team-mate of Evers and Tinker and Chance!

For the next three weeks he will be Kellogg's guest star on the "Parade of the Immortals"—greatest baseball feature ever put on the air.

Joe E. Brown led off the Parade at the beginning of the season. Now it's Mordecai Brown. And after him come such outstanding baseball figures as Walter Johnson, Tris Speaker, Lew Fonseca, Joe Tinker and Johnny Evers!

Tune in Station WJJD every day at 2:55 P. M. It's 1130 kilocycles on your dial. Hear John Harrington's vivid descriptions of all Cubs and White Sox home games. Enjoy the thrill of listening to the famous stars who share the broadcast with him!

JAPANESE DEIFY 1,148 WHO DIED ON BATTLEFIELD

Honor Soldiers Killed by Manchukuan Bandits.

TOKIO, April 25.—(AP)—To Japan's national pantheon, which orthodox religious books say includes "eighty myriads of gods," 1,148 new deities were added in solemn ceremonies today. They were soldiers of the empire who have died during the last year fighting Chinese bandits in Japan's protectorate of Manchukuo.

The ceremonies, which in form and meaning have no occidental counterparts, were held in the famous Yasukuni shrine, on top of Kudan hill in the heart of the capital, where Japan worships all her warriors who have died in action against a foreign foe.

130,967 Warriors Deified.

Those deified in the eyes of their compatriots today brought the total so worshipped to 130,967, including soldiers and sailors who fell in the war against China in 1894, the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-'05, the Tsingtao campaign of 1914, and several lesser expeditions on the Asiatic continent.

The rites were carried out in darkness, and against the stark black background of the shrine the white robed Shinto priests made striking, ghostlike figures.

Ceremonies Last Two Hours.

The ceremonies lasted more than two hours. First the chief priest of the shrine invited the spirits of the departed to enter the sanctuary. Rites were held to felicitate the new deities on their elevation.

In solemn procession, with a military band playing a funeral anthem, a small portable shrine or ark, conceived to contain spirits of the new deities, was carried through the courtyard to the main temple. All lanterns and other lights were extinguished during its passage. When the ark was placed in its proper niche the shrine lights again were lit and offerings of fruit, vegetables, and wine were placed before the spirits.

REV. GEO. KIEFFER DIES IN PULPIT AT SILVER SERVICE

New York, April 25.—(AP)—The Rev. George L. Kieffer, statistician and librarian of the National Lutheran council, collapsed and died today as he was addressing the silver anniversary service of the Ladies' Aid society at Christ Lutheran church, Rosedale, N. Y.

Dr. Kieffer, pastor at the church from 1914 to 1926, had just begun his sermon when he collapsed. Dr. Robert Kroehler of Rosedale, who was called to the church, attributed the death to heart failure.

Dr. Kieffer was considered the leading religious statistician of the country. He was ordained in 1911.

DR. C. C. BERRY, 55 YEARS IN CHICAGO, DIES AT AGE OF 83

Dr. Charles Curtis Berry, a Chicago physician for fifty-five years, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George M. Hough, 946 East 48th street, with whom he lived. He was 83 years old.

Dr. Berry was born in Clyde, O., and was graduated from Jefferson Medical college in Philadelphia in 1879. From 1879 to 1881 he was in the United States Marine hospital service in Philadelphia and Portland, Me. Coming to Chicago in 1881, he settled on the south side and was active in Kenwood civic affairs. Surviving him, besides Mrs. Hough, is another daughter, Mrs. James G. Shaw, 6826 Crandon avenue.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at Upper Sandusky, O. Burial will be there in the family lot.

J. R. Von Kesler, 63, Food Products Broker, Is Dead

J. R. Von Kesler, 63 years old, president of the food products brokerage bearing his name at 110 North Franklin street, died of a heart attack yesterday in his home at 131 Kedzie street, Evanston. He had been ill for several months, according to his widow, Mrs. Florence Von Kesler. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Body of Levi Reed Patten Sent to Pana for Burial

The body of Levi Reed Patten, who died at the age of 83 at the home of his son, Levi Patten, 3745 Lake Park avenue, was sent yesterday to Pana, Ill., for burial. Mr. Patten, a native of Ogle county, farmed near Pana for fifty years. He moved to Chicago with his son after the death of his wife last November.

IOWAN JAILED WHEN HE REFUSES STATE'S SYPHILIS TREATMENT

Davenport, Ia., April 25.—[Special.]—Kenneth James, 27 years old, of Davenport, is being held in the Scott county jail and faces prosecution for failure to submit to free medical treatment for a venereal disease.

James, authorities said, is infected with syphilis and about a month ago reported at a free clinic for treatment. He was told to return regularly but failed to comply with the order. Police also notified him to continue with the treatments.

When notified by the health authorities that he must return to the clinic, James, police say, asserted no one could require him to submit to treatment. However, he reckoned without provisions of the Iowa law which fixes a penalty in the form of a $500 fine, a term of six months in jail, or both, for any person who consults a physician for treatment of a venereal disease and then fails to report within ten days.

Samuel Wenig, 44, Owner of Public Garages, Dies

Samuel Wenig, 44 years old, 6967 Sheridan road, owner of several public garages in Chicago, died in the Montrose hospital yesterday after an illness of four days. Mr. Wenig was born in Austria and came to Chicago as a boy. He was active in civic and charitable work. His widow, Susan, and two children survive. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m., today in the chapel at 3021 Lawrence avenue. Burial will be in Jewish Waldheim cemetery.

MIDGET QUEENIE DIES, EIGHT DAYS AFTER BROTHER

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 25.—(AP)—Eliza Nestel, 80 years old, a midget known as Queenie to hundreds of audiences which she entertained for many years, died at her home here today, just eight days after the death of her brother, Charles Nestel, also a famed midget.

Last Monday, Queenie, blind and deaf, was led to her brother's casket. She returned to bed and gradually grew weaker.

She was born in Fort Wayne of normal sized parents and with her brother, known as Commodore Foote, she toured under the direction of P. T. Barnum. The Nestels gave several command performances before Queen Victoria of England.

Paul Hajdich, Former City Interpreter, Dies at 76

Paul Hajdich, 76 years old, a former interpreter for the city, died in his home at 4705 Waveland avenue yesterday. Illness forced his retirement six years ago. He is survived by his widow, Julia, and six sons and three daughters. One of the sons is Anthony Hajdich, former wrestler, and a referee under the Illinois athletic commission.

INQUEST TODAY INTO DEATH OF MINNIE M'CARTHY

An inquest will be held today to determine whether the death yesterday of Miss Minnie McCarthy, 64 years old, was due to natural causes or injuries incurred in a motor accident. Miss McCarthy was riding in the automobile of Ald. James J. McDermott [14th] on April 15 when the car collided with that of Louis Helmken, 34, of 1553 West 94th street, at 71st and Morgan streets. Miss McCarthy was an aunt of Mrs. McDermott and lived with the McDermotts at 5423 South Racine avenue. Miss McCarthy complained only of a shoulder injury, and was taken to Holy Cross hospital. She was discharged Friday, apparently well. Ald. McDermott insisted last night her death was due to a heart attack.

Colin Chase, Film Actor in Character Roles, Dies

Los Angeles, Cal., April 25.—[Special.]—Colin C. Gollings, 51, character actor in films, died here today at a hospital. Paralysis was given as the cause of death. He was known on the screen as Colin Chase and had appeared in "The Iron Horse," "The Ten Commandments," "King of Kings," "The Air Legion," "Lone Star Ranger," "The Cyclone Ranger," and "The Vanishing Riders."

UNITED LIGHT, POWER PROFIT BEST SINCE 1931

Pennsylvania March Income Soars.

Consolidated net income of the United Light and Power company, Chicago, and subsidiaries in 1936 was the largest since 1931, according to the annual report issued last night by Charles S. McCain, president. The Pennsylvania railroad, among other companies giving earnings results yesterday, reported a sharp increase in March net operating income.

For the first time since 1932 United Light earned full dividend requirements of $6 a share on its cumulative preferred stock. The consolidated net income of $4,508,262 was equal to 26 cents a share on the combined A and B common stocks after providing for dividend requirements on the preferred. This compared with $2,411,652, or $4.02 a share on the preferred, for 1935. In 1931 the company and subsidiaries earned $7,819,382, or $1.21 a share on the common.

The company provides gas and electricity in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Operating Revenues Gain.

Gross operating revenues of operating subsidiaries amounted to $85,022,438, largest since 1930 and 9 per cent above the $78,012,455 for 1935. McCain pointed out that subsidiary company construction in 1936 involved an expenditure of $11,060,032, and said that the authorized construction budget for 1937, including that of the American Light and Traction group, is approximately $18,300,000.

The Pennsylvania railroad March net operating income, before fixed charges and other income, was $6,847,453 compared with $3,750,493 in the same month a year ago. For the first three months net operating income was $16,602,390 against $13,719,190 for the first quarter of 1936.

The United Biscuit Company of America reported net profit of $254,148 for the March quarter, equal to 50 cents on the common shares. This compared with 60 cents earned on the common in the first quarter of 1936.

Spiegel, Inc., Profit Rises.

Net profit of Spiegel, Inc., for the first quarter was $545,583, equal to 36 cents a share. In the first quarter of 1936, before the stock of the mail order company was split up, net profit was $449,934.

Net operating income of the Chicago Great Western railroad in March was $152,736 compared with $90,876 in March, 1936. For the first three months of this year net operating income was $72,598 compared with a deficit of $315,581 in the corresponding 1936 period.

The Sunray Oil corporation reported a first quarter profit of $274,846, equal to 12¾ cents a share, compared with $136,749, equal to 7 cents a share, in the like period of 1936.

Glenn Martin Report.

First quarter draft of the Glenn L. Martin company, aircraft makers, was $339,469, equal to 40 cents a share on the common stock. Comparable figures for the similar period in 1936 were not available because of a change in capitalization.

The Wolverine Tube company, makers of seamless brass, aluminum and copper tubing, reported for the first quarter net profit, before undistributed profits surtax, of $195,249, equal, after preferred dividends, to 48 cents a share on the common stock. In the like period of 1936 net totaled $102,251, or 24 cents a share.

The annual report of the Wabash railway for 1936, issued yesterday by Receivers Norman B. Pitcairn and Frank C. Nicodemus Jr., showed no change in income account or balance sheet from preliminary figures. Net loss amounted to $1,280,782, against a loss of $2,268,468 in 1935. Current assets as of Dec. 31, 1936, were $12,324,648, against $9,172,614 a year earlier, and current liabilities totaled $21,985,915, against $17,771,289.

Farmers Get Most Credit in March Since January, 1936

Washington, D. C., April 25.—(AP)—The Farm Credit administration said today it had extended more credit to farmers and farmer coöperatives last month than at any time since January 1, 1936.

U. S. Expected Again to Sell Grain Abroad

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The direct export shipment from Chicago last week of 40,000 bushels of wheat illustrated better than statistics can do the fundamental change that has occurred in the world wheat market. The United States is again an exporter of wheat. Last week's shipment was not significant in point of quantity but it promises to be the first of a fairly heavy export movement this season from the United States.

The foreign markets, loss of which was blamed for America's agricultural woes a few years ago, are again available. The extent to which the United States will be able to exploit her opportunity will depend on this year's crop. At present the outlook for the winter wheat crop is favorable, although it is expected the surplus will be limited.

U. S. Situation Reversed.

Six years ago America's position with respect to the export market was the reverse of what it is today. Government support of wheat prices had stimulated production out of all reasonable bounds and a surplus was built up that was a staggering load even for the government to carry.

Eventually the government's price pegging was abandoned but it has taken several years, including a series of crop failures, to put the country back on a basis that makes it possible to sell wheat in the world market. When the United States had its big surplus the rest of the world, generally speaking, was also well supplied with grain.

Other exporting countries monopolized the market because they could easily undersell the artificially high prices that had been created for American wheat through the efforts of the federal administration to aid the farmer.

U. S. May Resume Exports.

America has had no wheat to sell during the bull market of the last year. Now, with a fair crop in prospect and with the rest of the world wanting it, America is in a position to resume its export role.

Stocks of wheat on hand, excluding the new crop, are expected by midyear to show a reduction of about 50 million bushels below last year. Part of this year's crop will be needed to replenish the normal reserve supply. After that it appears there will be a moderate export surplus, which world conditions make certain will find a ready market abroad.

These forecasts are made on the basis of the winter crop outlook. The spring wheat crop still has a full season in which to encounter the usual perils of the growing period before the harvest may even be approximated.

Douglas Aircraft Expects to Boost Pay Roll to 10,000

Santa Monica, Cal., April 25.—(AP)—New orders will make it necessary for the Douglas Aircraft corporation to increase the number of its employés from the present 6,700 to 10,000 by next Jan. 1, Donald Douglas, president, announced today. He said orders now booked total $30,000,000.

Porter Fox, president of the bond house which bore his name, and William W. Sears yesterday announced the formation of the Security Management corporation. The new firm will begin operations on May 1 in the Field building.

MIDWEST FIRMS TO SPEND VAST SUM ON PLANTS

Total Third Larger Than Year Ago.

More than 320 million dollars will be spent this year by 219 midwestern concerns for improvements and additions to building and equipment, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago said yesterday in its monthly review of business conditions in the seventh federal reserve district.

The figure represents a sharp increase over the bank's estimate a month ago, which placed the total at 240 millions by 163 concerns. The total is one-third larger than that spent by the same concerns last year.

Approximately 108¾ millions will be expended for machinery and other equipment to expand plant capacity. New buildings will absorb 21 millions, repairs and replacements to present buildings will require 31 millions, and 107¾ millions will go for repair and replacements to present machinery.

Plan to Expand Plants.

Of the remaining 51¾ millions, approximately 29 millions have been allocated for plant expansion, with no segregation between building and equipment, and 18 millions for equipment, with no segregation between additions and repair.

The largest sum will be expended by the utility industry, which estimates its total at $104,069,000. Railroads will spend $92,218,000; auto accessories, motor vehicles and aviation, $27,981,000; iron, steel, foundries, stoves, and furnaces, $27,670,000; foods, beverages, and confections, $21,889,000; machinery, tools, and electrical equipment, $17,928,000; miscellaneous manufacturing, $15,910,000; paper, containers, and printing, $9,698,000; other, $3,131,000; total all groups, $320,494,000.

Manufacturing More Active.

The bank said that an accelerated rate of activity was apparent during March in manufacturing industries of the district, which includes most of Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin. Although the increases were seasonal, volume was substantially ahead of the same month last year and first quarter output was well ahead of the corresponding 1936 quarter, the review added. Food industries increased their output, while wholesale and retail merchandising of commodities improved more than is usual over February.

Although still affected by strikes, automobile production in March rose sharply. Operations in the iron and steel industry continued at a high rate, building construction improved and employment and pay rolls showed further gains.

U. S. INDUSTRY GAINS.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—(AP)—The federal reserve board reported today industry continued its upward pace during March, with pay rolls stepping ahead of employment in recovery gains. Between mid-February and mid-March, the board said, factory pay rolls rolled up a 5.4 per cent advance to 101.2 per cent of the 1923-'25 average. Factory employment climbed 2 per cent to 101.

Prices moved swiftly higher in March, the report continued, but swung downward during the first half of this month. An increase in industrial production last month pushed the 1923-'25 index 2 per cent over February to 118, the board explaining:

Discussing bank credit, the board said member bank excess reserves increased from $1,270,000,000 on March 24 to $1,590,000,000 on April 21, due chiefly to disbursements by the treasury and purchases of government obligations by the federal reserve system. On May 1 the reserve board will effect a 16⅔ per cent hike in deposit reserve requirements, tying up about $700,000,000 of the present excess reserves.

Charles R. Gay to Address Manufacturer Cost Group

Charles R. Gay, president of the New York Stock exchange, will speak at the annual dinner of the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs association tomorrow, April 27, at the Palmer house, the association announced yesterday. He will discuss the present business situation and outlook.

RUSSIA REPORTS 2ND FIVE YEAR PLAN FULFILLED

MOSCOW, April 25.—(AP)—The Russian government announced tonight the fulfilment of requirements of the second five year plan by industry as a whole and by railway transportation. Industry fulfilled the requirements nine months ahead of schedule. Railway transportation was one year ahead.

The announcement said industry produced its required 86,400,000,000 rubles' worth of goods by April 1, while the railways exceeded its goal of 300,000,000,000 ton-kilometers on Jan. 1.

[Industry's production, at the official Russian rate of 5.06 rubles to the dollar, was equivalent to $17,000,000,000.]

No further details were given. There was no explanation how industry fulfilled its schedule ahead of time when the press daily carries long articles stating many branches are lagging. The coal and a number of other basic industries have been pointed out as being behind. The lag has been blamed on alleged wreckers. The third five year plan is to be launched Jan. 1, 1938.

CHICAGO RETAIL BUSINESS GAINS OVER YEAR AGO

Chicago retail business last week was running approximately 20 per cent ahead of the corresponding period last year and wholesale turnover is from 10 to 15 per cent better, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday.

In other fields, except real estate, Chicago is ahead of last year. While there have been marked rises in rents and quoted prices of improved and vacant property, actual sales of real estate are fewer than in 1936.

Fashion Show to Be Held in New Super Chief Today

The Santa Fe railroad's new streamlined train, the Super Chief, will be the scene of a fashion show at 10 o'clock this morning in which leading State street stores will participate. The train, which is built of stainless steel, will shortly replace the present Super Chief on a 39 hour 45 minute schedule between Chicago and Los Angeles. Its interior is richly colored and is decorated with Indian designs native to the country through which it will pass, making it one of the most beautiful trains in the world.

Everyday Economics

In response to requests from readers for simple explanations of financial terms and brief analyses of factors affecting business and finance, The Tribune presents "Everyday Economics." Letters addressed to "Editor, Everyday Economics," telling him what you would like to see discussed here will be welcomed.

Factoring.

Factoring is a kind of banking, but few persons have ever seen a factor because he is a very special kind of banker. He does not cash checks nor does he accept deposits. The factor's job is to help the merchant who believes he can get more business by selling on credit than by demanding cash.

Take the case of a shoe manufacturer who makes shoes and sells them to retail stores. Most shoe manufacturers do not make the retailers pay immediately. The retailer is allowed from 10 to 60 days or longer. This means that the manufacturer has money tied up in the shoes he has sent to his customers. He can get his money out of the shoes immediately only by borrowing and giving as security the paper representing sales already made on credit. Such loans are made by factors.

The factor practically goes into business with the shoe manufacturer. He has the privilege of rejecting in advance those credit risks that he considers poor, but after the sale is made the factor takes all the chances. If the customer does not pay, it is the factor's hard luck.

The factoring company gets its operating funds partly from banks and partly from the sale of its own securities.

Tomorrow: Hothouse lambs.

Markets on Daylight Saving Time Today

Daylight saving time will be adopted today by most commodity and security markets, banks, business establishments, and industrial concerns. The New York and Chicago Stock and Curb exchanges will open at 9 a. m., central daylight time, and will close at 2 p. m., central daylight time. The official closing time of the Chicago live stock market will be advanced from 2 p. m., central standard time, to 2 p. m., central daylight time. The Chicago Board of Trade will open at 9:30 a. m., daylight time, and close at 1:15 p. m., daylight time.

MANUFACTURERS' PAY ROLL TOTAL NOW 11 MILLION

New York, April 25.—(AP)—With approximately 11,000,000 persons on the pay rolls, employment in the manufacturing industries as of April 1 had reached 1929 levels, the National Association of Manufacturers reported today.

The estimate, the report stated, was based upon the most recent figures available on the employment situation. Roughly, 3,310,000 workers have obtained jobs since 1933, it was revealed. Of these about 2,190,000, or 66 per cent, were accounted for by the durable goods industries and the remainder in other manufacturing enterprises.

"The manufacturing industries," the report set forth, "have been and are swiftly reëmploying the idle. With the strides that have been made and the indication for the future, if coöperation can be supplanted for industrial strife, it is only folly to speak of America with a permanent unemployment problem of huge proportions."

Advocating a census of unemployed the report points out present estimates of the total out of work range between 3,000,000 and above 10,000,000.

Rail Passenger Workers Hold Sales Clinic Tonight

More than 1,000 passenger department employés of railroads having offices in Chicago will attend a dinner and sales clinic tonight at the Knickerbocker hotel. E. J. Gallagher, vice president of the Wayne Pump company, will offer suggestions for improved sales effort by railroad workers having contact with the public. The meeting was called by Hugh W. Siddall, chairman of the Western Passenger association, and Clarence A. Fox, president of the Central Passenger association.

Asks Merging Housing Units for Economy

Washington, D. C., April 25.—Senator Harry F. Byrd, conservative Democrat of Virginia, tonight announced he would introduce a bill in the senate during the week proposing consolidation of the Home Owners' Loan corporation and the Federal Housing administration as a step in government economy.

Senator Byrd.

Senator Byrd is chairman of the senate committee on government reorganization. In this capacity he is an ardent champion of governemntal retrenchment and is opposed to President Roosevelt's reorganization plan on the ground that it does not contemplate saving tax money.

Through consolidation of the HOLC and FHA the administration would save more than 24 million dollars a year, he said. He insisted that such a consolidation can be effected without impairment of the units.

Urges Real Economy.

"The return of the discussion of economy in government in Washington recently has been encouraging," the senator said. "But we must bear in mind that we cannot economize and continue to write unnecessary checks — checks for overlapping agencies, duplicated functions, and unnecessary personnel and administrative overhead.

"On the basis of the first set of recommendations made to the original senate reorganization committee, I propose this week to introduce legislation consolidating the Home Owners' Loan corporation, now in the process of long time liquidation, and the Federal Housing administration. Working separately, these two agencies last year employed approximately 20,000 persons and their operating expenses were nearly $47,000,000. Their functions are similar now, and the similarity is growing with the age of the FHA.

Experts Urge Consolidation.

"Experts advise me they could be consolidated, without impairing the functions of either, at an annual saving of approximately $24,500,000. There is no reason why taxpayers should not be given the benefit of this saving and the increased efficiency that would result."

There are twenty or more other agencies which, established and publicly justified as emergency establishments, can be consolidated, merged, or liquidated just as profitably, Senator Byrd declared. If the appropriate committee will allow this bill to come to the floor for full and open discussion by senators, he predicted, other bills of this nature, providing for substantial savings, are sure to follow.

STEEL OUTPUT AT 91½ PCT. FOR ANOTHER WEEK

Price Announcement Causes Stability.

Steel ingot production last week remained at 91½ per cent of capacity for the fourth consecutive week, the magazine Steel reported yesterday. Slight increases in operations at some centers were offset by a loss of five points in the rate at Detroit.

Announcement of continuation of present prices on most finished steel products through the third quarter by leading companies has done much to stabilize the industry, Steel said. Pressure for early delivery has eased and the incentive to speculative buying has been reduced. New orders in many lines are lower than present deliveries and backlogs have been gradually reduced.

Second quarter prices have been confirmed for the third quarter on plates, shapes, bars, wire, cold-finished and semi-finished, and on home grades of strip and sheets. Prices on tubular goods have not yet been announced.

Pig iron prices are likely to be advanced, due to increased costs of labor and coke. Increasing demand for pig iron, both domestic and for export, has resulted in the blowing in of more furnaces. The Republic Steel corporation has begun operations at two stacks during the last week and will soon have a stack at Riddlesburg, Pa., in operation. Inquiries are pending in the Pittsburgh district for at least 60,000 tons of pig iron for export.

Scrap prices continued to decline last week, resulting in a reduction of 58 cents to $20.42 a ton in Steel's composite scrap price.

Ingot production rates advanced 3 points at Cleveland to 79.5 per cent, 3 points at Buffalo to 93 per cent, 3 points in New England to 100 per cent and half a point in Chicago to 84.5 per cent of capacity. Detroit lost 5 points to 95 per cent.

OFFERINGS LAST WEEK HEAVIEST IN LONG PERIOD

Securities Well Received in View of Market.

New York, April 25.—(AP)—The attention of investment circles shifted from listed bonds to the new money market last week as the first substantial amount of new offerings in weeks was brought out.

Argentina, with $35,000,000 of 4s and the triborough authority with a $25,000,000 issue, ran one-two in point of size, while all issues reaching market in the period totaled $123,000,000. This was far ahead both of the preceding week and the corresponding period of 1936.

In view of the generally unsettled state of the bond market the various flotations were comparatively well received, dealers and traders indicated. Nevertheless, the Argentine offering was said to have been in much better demand in Europe than in New York. The others moved out to ultimate investors fairly well, with most of Wall street agreeing the Triborough bonds attracted exceptional demand under prevailing conditions.

Confusion Still Exists.

The story of bond trading for the week left much to be desired by investors, traders, and dealers, and failed to straighten out the circle of confusion sentiment has followed in recent weeks. Monday and Tuesday carried on the preceding period's creeping recovery with operators for the advance apparently gaining considerable encouragement from President Roosevelt's Tuesday budget message.

Such sentiment underwent an overnight change, however, and Wednesday ushered in a broad decline which gripped the market through Friday. Neither the early forward movement nor the subsequent reaction was able to stir up much activity and volume for the week went to a relatively low level.

Trends Are Mixed.

Trends were mixed, although the most active obligations declined on the period. These included railroads and industrial loans in the domestic corporate list and United States government liens. The latter were dealt setbacks ranging to a point or so as New York and out of town banks held aloof.

Some observers said government securities would likely hold the sidelines until about May 1, by which time member banks must true their reserves with the new requirement levels.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Monday, April 26, 1937.

Certain-teed Products.

Investors' Guide: Please send me information you have available on common stock of Certain-teed Products and advise if this is a good investment.—M. W. C.

Answer: The most important lines manufactured by Certain-teed Products corporation are asphalt roofings and shingles. It also turns out asphalt felts, building and insulating papers, newsprint paper, gypsum plaster, plaster boards and blocks, and fiber wall board. The company reëntered the floor covering business in 1935.

As a consequence of stagnation in the building industry the company has been in the black in only one year since 1927.

With promising signs of recovery in the building industry lending encouragement to hopes that operations could be restored to a profitable basis, the company wiped its depression slate clean with a recapitalization late in 1936.

Holders of the 63,004 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock, with arrears of $52.50 a share on July 1, 1936, were offered their choice of [1] 1.7 shares of new 6 per cent preferred or [2] 1 share of new preferred and 5 shares ot common stock for each old preferred share. The 382,300 shares of common stock were changed to $1 par value to eliminate the balance sheet deficit.

Resulting capitalization was 70,301 shares of 6 per cent preferred and 611,500 shares of common stock on Dec. 31, 1936. The 2,275 old preferred shares then still outstanding were called April 10, 1937. Working control of the company now is held by Phoenix Securities corporation, which had acquired half of the old preferred shares and exercised the second of the exchange options noted above. Sweeping changes have been made in management and in the directorate.

Net income of $7,000 was reported in the first three months of 1937, compared with a loss of $277,000 in the corresponding 1936 period. It was the first time since 1928 that a quarter profit had been shown. This was made possible partly by favorable weather conditions which permitted building to go almost undisturbed. Sales of $4,069,000 were 12 per cent larger than in the 1936 first quarter.

The company also forecast better second quarter earnings than a year ago, and said plans are under way to improve production and distribution methods to gain full benefits from any improvement in the building industry.

Certain-teed reported a loss of $571,000 in 1936, compared with net income of $260,000 or $4.13 per preferred share in 1935. Losses amounted to $852,000 in 1934, $1,072,000 in 1933, $1,600,000 in 1932, $732,000 in 1931, $2,468,000 in 1930, and $1,284,000 in 1929.

Current assets were $5,354,000 and current liabilities were $1,222,000 on Dec. 31, 1936. Funded debt was $9,529,000. Capital surplus was $2,362,000 and profit and loss deficit was $537,000.

Dividends now are being paid regularly on the new preferred. Nothing has been paid on the common since 1928. The common is a speculation. The preferred should be considered somewhat speculative at present. The same is true of the bonds.

ATLAS HEARING TO BE STARTED BY SEC SHORTLY

Washington, D. C., April 25.—(AP)—Securities and Exchange commission officials said today that they are entering the final phase of an investigation into investment trusts and probably will end it "in the summer." The general investigation, ordered by congress, is designed to determine the need of regulatory legislation for investment trusts.

Officials said the $100,000,000 Atlas corporation was the major investment trust on which hearings were still to be held. Before studying the Atlas corporation, the commission officials said, they will conclude hearings into the operations of a number of smaller trusts absorbed by Atlas. Among them, officials said, were Goldman Sacks Trading corporation, Ungerleider Financial corporation, and Chatham and Phoenix Allied corporation.

NERVES IN WALL STREET ON EDGE; SHARES DECLINE

Stock Traders Unable to Shake Off Jitters.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 25. — Perplexity over the monetary situation, the gold price, labor matters, and other important questions, mostly of a political nature, combine to keep Wall street nerves on edge and the share market in the nervous unsettled condition in which it has been laboring for the last six weeks or more.

Average prices on the big board receded nearly six points in the last three trading sessions, winding up the period within two points of the year's low and some eleven points below the year's peak registered during the second week of March. The Saturday closing figure on fifty representative issues used in compiling THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S "average" table is still about 20 points above its low of 1936, however, and nearly 53 above that of 1935.

Utilities Reach New Low.

With the exception of the rails, all major groups lost substantial ground on the week. The utilities as a division bumped a new low, as did numerous individual issues scattered throughout the list. Selling was especially pronounced on Thursday and Friday and was weighty enough to drive prices down considerably more than a point on the average in yesterday's short session.

While developments at Washington and in leading European capitals are admittedly calculated to keep speculative sentiment in a more or less confused condition, many observers find themselves unable to account satisfactorily for the continued market decline in view of the evidence of uninterrupted business recovery.

Earnings Exceed Hopes.

That corporation earnings of the first quarter exceeded popular expectations is admitted by all. That there is every indication that the showing will be about as good in the second quarter is conceded by most on the strength of current estimates and predictions. One widely quoted compilation showed a gain of 55.9 per cent on an average of 151 company reports for the last three months over the corresponding period of last year. Profits of industrial companies figuring in the compilation rose 66.7 per cent on the year.

Steel production continues high. Weekly carloadings figures are running 17 per cent ahead of those of last year. Activity in the textile industry continues at a high mark. The government's employment figures looked better, reflecting an addition of some 300,000 persons to the pay rolls within the last month.

FINDS UNITED STATES LEADING WORLD IN USE OF TELEPHONES

The United States led the world in the number of telephones per 100 of population as of Jan. 1, 1936, according to a bulletin issued last night by the American Telephone and Telegraph company. Washington, D. C., led all cities in the world with 36.71 telephones per 100 people, compared with an average of 13.69 per 100 persons for the country as a whole.

The national average compared with the world average of 1.63 telephones per 100. Canada was next to the United States in standing with 10.99 telephones per 100 of population. Next in order were Denmark, New Zealand, Switzerland, Australia, Norway, and Great Britain. Russia was twenty-sixth in a list of 27 leading nations, having 0.49 telephone per 100 people.

San Francisco was next to Washington among the leading cities of the world with 35.55 telephones per 100; Stockholm was next at 33.28; Denver next at 29.80. Chicago was ninth among world cities at 24.92 telephones per 100 of population. New York was fifteenth at 20.95 telephones per 100. London was twenty-first at 13.80 per 100 population.

TRADE CHAMBER TO OPEN ANNUAL MEETING TODAY

Washington, D. C., April 25.—(AP)—Validation of the Wagner act and President Roosevelt's reëlection prompted discussion tonight among delegates to the annual United States Chamber of Commerce meeting about greater coöperation between industry and government. Some said they felt "milestones" have been created which removed doubt as to the permanency of administration policies and they suggested that the chamber "might well face the situation frankly."

Although the agenda for the meeting, which begins tomorrow, called for discussions ranging from employer-worker relationships to world trade, chamber officials said the organization's attitude toward the administration policies probably would not be indicated until Thursday when it chooses a successor to President Harper Sibley.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Fields Are Opened

April 25, 1937.

EXPERIMENTAL fields at the Wheaton farm were opened Friday. The little army of men with hoes paraded over the graveled paths in field A, where the season's crop projects will be started first. After a season of lumbering, chopping wood, digging ditches to lay tile, setting out trees, and other winter and early spring chores the workers welcomed a chance to again start scratching around in the plots.

The experimental plots have become the meeting grounds of farm visitors who come each year, many of them early in the season, to discuss crops, new and old. They like to check up on the effect winter weather has had on the crops that are left out in the fields throughout the winter.

Few Casualties in Hops.

When the gates at the plots were opened Friday workers began raking off the old vegetation that had been left on over winter and scratching around in the soil to see if the crops, some of them strangers in this section, had survived northern Illinois' open winter. Optimistic notations were marked down in their books.

Hops, grown for exhibition purposes, pulled through the winter again with few casualties. In fact, none of the crowns that survived the drouth last summer appear to have been harmed. New sprouts are coming up so thick that most of the crowns will be divided and used to filling in the vacant spots.

Lespedeza Coming Up.

A Sericea lespedeza strain that has interested many farmers in this region, has survived its second winter in the plots. The roots still are alive and are expected to send up green shoots within a short time. This is the upright lespedeza classed as a perennial. Despite the drouth the plants produced a small crop of seed last year. Some were saved; a few fell to the ground and are now coming up, showing their first pairs of leaves.

Clover Shows Up Well.

The other two lespedezas, Harbin and Korean, are annuals. When the old plants were raked off Friday the surface was found covered with a mass of tiny green plants that have sprung up from seeds that fell on the ground last fall. Although a fair crop of seeds was harvested, there were plenty left to produce a thick stand. The first pairs of leaves developed last week.

The three new clovers in field A are showing up in fine shape. Practically all of the plants that lived through the extreme dry weather last summer survived the winter in open plots where there was no protection except a light mulch of dead clover plants.

Of these three clovers the English wild white clover is now making the best showing, according to observations made Friday by the workers. They put Dutch white clover next, and Ladino clover in third place.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY REQUEST FOR BIDS.

Pursuant to regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Illinois Central Railroad Company hereby requests bids for the purchase of $7,050,000, principal amount, of its Equipment Trust Certificates, to be dated March 1, 1937, plus accrued dividends from said date to date of delivery thereof, to bear dividends of 3% per annum, the said dividends to be payable semi-annually on the 1st day of March and September in each year, and the principal to mature in thirty equal semi-annual installments beginning on the 1st day of September, 1937. The Equipment Trust Certificates will be issued under an equipment trust based upon the Philadelphia plan, to be known as Illinois Central Equipment Trust, Series R, and will be issued by The Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities, as Trustee, under a proposed Equipment Trust Agreement and Lease to be dated as of March 1, 1937. The payment of such certificates and the dividend warrants attached thereto will be unconditionally guaranteed by Illinois Central Railroad Company, such guaranty to be binding on its successors and assigns.

The Equipment to be covered by said Equipment Trust Agreement and Lease will cost at least $9,410,487 and will include the following: 1,000 50-ton steel hopper cars, 1,000 40-ton 40' 6" steel box cars, wood lined throughout, 200 40-ton 50' 6" steel box cars, wood lined throughout, except ceiling, to be equipped with auto truck loading devices, 600 40-ton 50' 6" steel box cars, wood lined throughout, 300 40-ton steel refrigerator cars, fully insulated, wood lined throughout, 20 40-ton 50' steel passenger train box cars, wood lined throughout, all of which will be standard gauge equipment.

Each bid must state the name and address of the bidder, and, if the bidder be a corporation, the names and addresses of the officers, directors and general manager thereof, and of the purchasing and selling officer or agent in this transaction, and, if the bidder is a firm, partnership or association, the bid must state the names and addresses of each member thereof and of the manager, purchasing or selling officer or agent in this transaction. Each bid must be enclosed in a plain envelope, securely sealed, bearing no indication of the name of the bidder or the amount of the bid, and shall be marked, "Bid under proposed contract No. R" and shall be addressed to R. E. Connolly, Treasurer of the Railroad Company, at Room No. 1207, 26 Liberty Street, New York City. Bids must be received by the undersigned Company at its said office before noon [Eastern Standard Time] on the 28th day of April, 1937. Bids will be opened immediately after 12 o'clock noon [Eastern Standard Time], on the 28th day of April, 1937, by R. E. Connolly, Treasurer, or C. E. Kuck, Assistant Secretary, designated for that purpose. Notice of acceptance of the successful bid will be mailed to the successful bidder not later than 12 o'clock noon [Eastern Standard Time] on the 30th day of April, 1937. A copy of the proposed Equipment Trust Lease and Agreement, the proposed contract No. R, balance sheet of the Company as of December 31, 1936, and income accounts of the Company for the five year period ending December 31, 1936 are on file and will be kept open for full examination, free of charge, by any person desiring to examine same with a view to bidding, at the principal office of the Railroad Company, Room 400, 135 East 11th Place, Chicago, Illinois, and at the office of the Railroad Company, Room 1207, 26 Liberty Street, New York City.

Bids for only a part of the certificates to be issued under the plan will not be accepted. The Railroad Company reserves the right to reject any and all bids. A certified check payable to Illinois Central Railroad Company in New York funds for 2% of the principal amount of the Equipment Trust Certificates bid for must be furnished with each bid. Such checks will be returned to the bidders, except the check of the successful bidder, which will be applied on the purchase of the certificates. The successful bidder will be required within ten day after receipt of notice of the acceptance of his or its bid to enter into and execute the proposed purchase contract No. R.

The issue and sale of said certificates and the acceptance of any bid are conditioned on the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Dated April 14, 1937.
ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY,
By R. E. CONNOLLY, Treasurer.

The facts about Real Estate

Watching real estate trends in Tribune want ads can help you judge value. Today, as for more than twenty years, the Tribune prints more real estate want advertising than any other Chicago newspaper. And in the first three months of 1937, the Tribune printed 61% more real estate want advertising than in the same period of last year.

For Beauty Culture
SEE MOLER'S.
Why try to learn in a school where the schooling differs but slightly from the old Apprentice plan? Don't do it! Moler College has been the leader with original methods since 1893. . . . The Moler Manual has been the Standard Text Book for years! . . . Dr. Karr's Personality Course leads the way to Outstanding Success!
And now the Moler Magna-scope—latest Moler origination—takes the guesswork out of Facial and Scalp Treatments. Big paying feature in the shop. Easy to learn. Offered in our Regular course. Day or evenings. Easy payments. Call or write.

HOW YOU CAN BORROW.

1. If you can make monthly payments you can qualify for a loan.
2. Loans made on Furniture, Autos, or Plain Note.
3. No inquiries made of employer or friends.

HOW YOU CAN REPAY.

1. Small monthly payments. Example: $15 first month increasing each month to $10.30 last month, repays a $200 loan in 20 months, including charges.
2. Monthly rate is 2% on the balance above $100, 3% on $100 or less. This is substantially less than the lawful maximum on loans over $100.

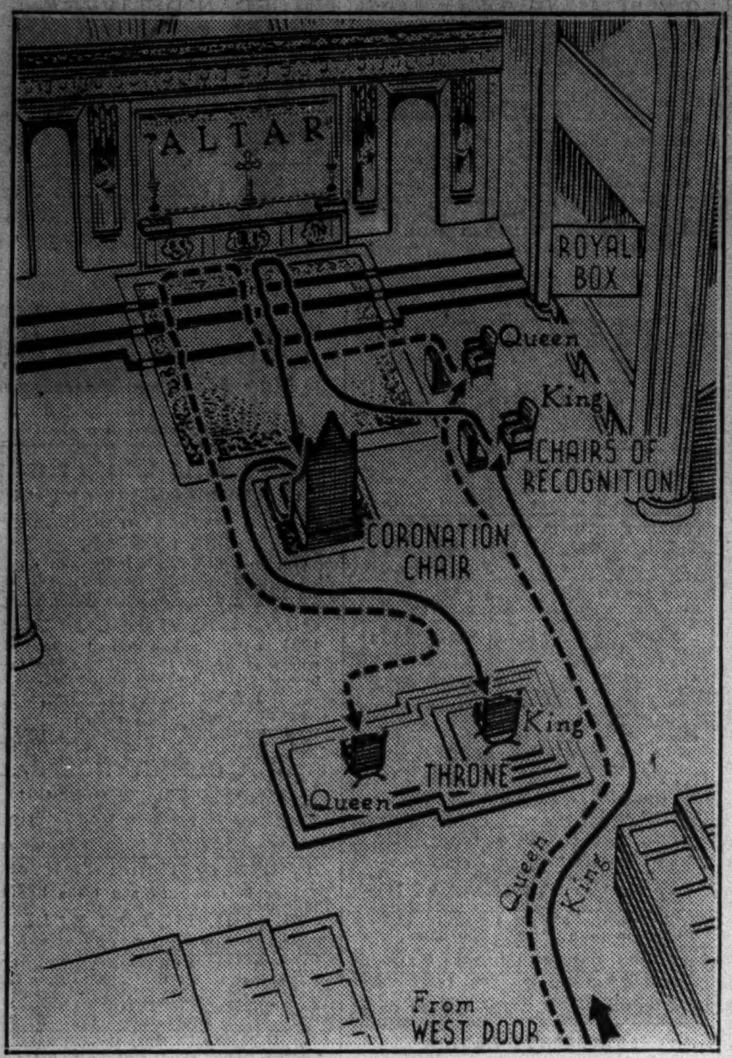
100,000 Line London Streets for Coronation Rehersal—Campaign Against Roadhogs in Week-End Trafic



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

PROCEDURE FOR THE CORONATION—Diagram shows how England's king and queen will go through ceremonies on May 12 in Westminster abbey. The archbishop of Canterbury will proclaim the king at chair of recognition. The king will go to altar to take oath and be anointed, then to coronation chair where he will receive St. Edward's crown. Bearing scepter, the king then will proceed to throne on dais to receive homage of peers. The queen then will go to altar to be anointed and crowned. From the altar she will go to make obeisance to king and then sit beside him, ending the formal ceremony of the coronation.
